Also:

WHEREAS, The Congress of Mothers and Parent-Teachers' Associations are organized for the purpose of promoting the welfare of the child in the home, the church and the school, and are vitally interested in a State welfare bureau which will administer to and enhance the lives of our children, that they may be a credit to the nation; and

WHEREAS, The California Legislature has before it for consideration Assembly Bill No. 114, we feel it timely to give expression to the results of our endeavor and thought, that our legislators may know the feeling of their constituency; now, therefore, we the First District California Congress of Mothers, representing a membership of thirteen thousand voters, do this twentieth day of February, 1919, in executive session:

Resolved, That Assembly Bill No. 114 is neither clear nor definite in its intent; gives no assurance as to its educational propaganda or extent of service; places the executive power in the hands of the State Board of Health, which may at its discretion exercise a mandatory power distasteful to the individual where the community welfare is not imperiled; designates that the director shall be a licensed physician practicing in the State of California, making impossible the employment of a director from another state, no matter how well qualified, and places the entire program in the hands of one school of medicine; whereas our National Bureau, of which we are justly proud, is directed by a social worker interested in every phase of child culture. Moreover, the appropriation provided for is not sufficient to create a bureau of so great an import to every community in the State; therefore, be it

Resolved, That we oppose the passage of Assembly Bill No. 114, and so notify our legislators.

By Senator Rominger:

We, the undersigned residents and practicing physicians of Long Beach, California, do hereby request and petition you to vote against and use your influence to defeat the following bills now before the Senate and Assembly of California, viz: Assembly Bill No. 196 by Baker, 321 by Morrison, 402 by Miller, 659 by Gray, and 844, 932, and 933 by Merriam, for the following reasons:

Medical practice laws are and should be designed primarily for the protection of the public health. A reasonably high standard of requirements for all practitioners in the State is desirable and should be maintained, directed to the above end, as a safeguard against the ignorant and otherwise incompetent practitioner.

Assembly Bills Nos. 844, 932 and 933 are cleverly drawn and definitely designed, and if enacted would materially lower the standard of requirements, and would render void or inoperative many good features of our present law. We believe the present law offers to any man or woman of good repute and educational qualifications admission. We believe the public wants no other kind for their physician.

The present medical law admits to practice all sects and schools of practice, requiring only that they are reputable and reasonably well qualified by education to intelligently diagnose and treat the sick by their chosen methods or system of practice.

The standard requirements for chiropractors is already very low in California. They take cases of almost every kind and class for diagnosis and treatment, hence should be well qualified before admitted to practice.

Assembly Bills Nos. 321, 384 and 496 are designed to repeal reasonable safeguards, lower standards of requirements, render more complex and less efficient the system of State control of such practitioners, to the great detriment of the sick and the public at large, with no compensations to the public or to the well-qualified chiropractor seeking admission or now licentiates in the State.

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR.

The following message from the Governor was taken up and read:

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, STATE OF CALIFORNIA.

To the Senate and Assembly of the State of California.

I have the honor to transmit herewith the report presented by the Committee on Efficiency and Economy appointed by me on November 25, 1918, to make a study of our governmental affairs with a view of effecting economy and efficiency.

It is needless to express my thorough appreciation of the spirit of service in which the members entered upon the work of the committee, and the earnest desire evidenced in their report to devise a plan of government better than that which now exists. The membership of the committee have given generously of their talents and unstintingly of their time. Personally, and in the name of the State, I thank them.

In the letter of appointment addressed to every member of the committee I referred to the desirability of formulating a definite plan for improving the administration of the State's affairs, and for introducing such economies as might be possible without prejudice to the public welfare or impairment of present efficiency. Attention was called to the need of ascertaining just where overlapping existed, if at all, and the possible saving to be effected by its elimination. It was emphasized, of course, that such saving must be made without interfering in any degree with the service of those great commissions erected within our State during the last decade, and which have meant so much to the health, the safety, and the general well-being of our people.

The report is a very valuable public document and deserving of the most careful thought. It is significant, however, that it is devoid of criticism so far as extravagance, inefficiency or overlapping are concerned. Indeed, generous tribute is paid by the committee to the honesty, zeal and public spirit with which the commissions and other departmental agencies are operating. This report will be of great value in the assurance it must give to our people of the fidelity to trust of our public servants.

The committee has apparently felt constrained to propose a new plan which is a substantial departure from those methods and agencies now existing and well known to the people of the State. A somewhat radical change is purposed in our methods of administration when it is proposed to substitute in place of most of the existing commissions a system of departments and bureaus, with directors, chiefs of divisions and minor heads, all holding office directly or indirectly at the pleasure of the Governor.

To change the laws of California to provide for a complete reorganization of the structure of the State government, is a task so huge that there is little hope that it can be accomplished in the remaining days of this session of the Legislature. Indeed, the work is so important, and the results which may follow such changes are so vast, that the members of the Legislature and the people of the State should have ample time for careful consideration and study. So far as the people have given this subject thought, I am convinced that they are not interested so much in the structure of government as they are in an immediate reduction of the cost of government while maintaining the same high standards of efficiency. The plan of government is important mainly as it reflects itself in economy and in efficiency.

The first thing to be noted in the report is the annual amount the committee believes it is possible to save. This amount is $275,000 a year, and consists of two classes of savings. One class, consisting of $175,000, I am informed through a member of the committee, may be saved from two sources—first, by a system of cash discounts on purchases, and second, by taking the transportation of the insane from the sheriffs of the counties and placing the matter in the hands of trained attendants from the hospitals.

It occurs to me that these two items of savings, while excellent in themselves, have no essential part in a particular plan of governmental reconstruction, since both, if feasible, can be done equally well under our present plan of government.

The cash discount system, which the committee estimates will save $150,000 a year, can be put into operation by making our purchases out of a revolving fund, if it is found that sufficient checks and audits can be had under such plan adequately to safeguard the public moneys. A bill covering this matter will be presented to you for your consideration.

If the foregoing two items of saving can be successfully accomplished, the committee's estimate will leave but $100,000 a year as a saving that might be effected by a complete reorganization of our present governmental agencies.

I am firmly of the opinion that the Legislature at this session should go as far as possible in the enactment of measures tending towards consolidation of certain commissions, where it is certain that such consolidation will not result in lessened efficiency and will with equal certainty result in a lessening of cost. To this end there will be submitted several bills, all drafted with a design to bring about economy, and it is my earnest hope that you will give these measures your approval. Among them will be bills for eliminating some attorneyships now carried by various boards and commissions, and providing for consolidating such work in the office of the Attorney General. Bills for consolidating certain commissions will also be prepared.

One of the criticisms directed against the suggested reorganization of the administrative structure of government into a number of departments, all under the control of appointees to hold office at the pleasure of the Governor, is that such arrangement would place tremendous power in the hands of the Chief Executive. While it may be wise to centralize power if at the same time responsibility is also centralized, yet the question is of such serious concern that it seems ill-advised to act precipitately. As Chief Executive I am unwilling to advocate greater power for the Governor without more extended study, and without opportunity for the people to give some clearer expression of their views than can be had in the time intervening between this and the close of the session.

I shall insist upon the strictest economy in the administration of the State's affairs, but I would not lessen the efficiency of our public service, nor the amount of humane and upbuilding work that is being done.

There is an element in our body politic that persistently aims at a retrenchment calculated to impair and destroy agencies of government that protect the people from the forces of special privilege. Allow me to repeat what I have frequently publicly declared, that I will not approve and will resolutely oppose any backward step in the government of our State. Wherever it may be permitted to reduce expense without impairment or crippling of the necessary agencies of government, it is my desire to lend every aid and exert my authority to the utmost.

I shall urge very strongly a continuance of the inquiry so well begun by this committee. I feel that we have taken an important step forward, and that a definite plan of reorganization acceptable to the people either has now been suggested by the Committee on Economy and Efficiency, or that such a plan will be evolved from their earnest and praiseworthy labors. Such a labor, which in other states has consumed years, can not be concluded before the probable time for adjournment of the present Legislature. But the fruits of such labor will be of distinct advantage to the next Legislature and also to the Constitutional Convention which it is proposed to call.

Respectfully submitted,

WM. D. STEPHENS, Governor.

STATE CAPITOL, SACRAMENTO, March 12, 1919.

The Honorable WILLIAM D. STEPHENS,
Governor of the State of California.

DEAR SIR: The committee appointed by you on November 25, 1918, to survey the activities of the state government and report to you upon the practicability of introducing economies in the administration of the state's affairs without prejudice to the public welfare and without impairing present efficiency, has completed its labors and, as its chairman, I have the honor to transmit to you herewith a report on the subjects mentioned in your letter.

The recommendations submitted embody fundamental principles of governmental management which, when put into force, we believe, will not only make for immediate improvement in the administration of the state's affairs, but will be the foundation upon which any future expansion of the state's activities may rest.

The time limitation placed upon the work of the committee, in order that its report might be in your hands in time for presentation by you to the legislature, has not permitted the making of recommendations for changes other than those which can be put into effect immediately by legislative enactment. It is at once apparent, therefore, that the committee has not exhausted the subjects covered by your letter, and that it would have been impossible to exhaust them in the time at our disposal. Nevertheless if the recommendations contained in the report are carried out the proposed readjustments will, in our opinion, greatly increase the efficiency of the state government, and this at a cost of approximately $550,000 less per biennial period.

In carrying on the work of the committee the members served without compensation, and paid their own traveling and other expenses incurred in the holding of meetings and hearings.

Yours very respectfully,

ALBERT E. BOYNTON,
Chairman.

THE AUTHORITY FOR AND SCOPE OF INQUIRY.

The committee has made its studies and prepared its report in accordance with the plan and suggestions outlined in your letter of November 25, 1918, to each member as follows:

“DEAR SIR:

“With a view to formulating a definite plan for improving the administration of the State's affairs, and for introducing such economies as are possible without prejudice to the public welfare or without impairment of present efficiency, I am appointing a committee to make a thorough survey of the activities of our State government.

“During the past few years California's government has been practically reconstructed. We have experienced a development along social, humanitarian and industrial lines which for so short a period surpasses the history of like achievement in any other state. But exactly the same results follow in governmental development as follow expansion in private business, and, as in private business, after growth and development, we now must remove all extraneous expense and practice the strictest economy in carrying on the state's activities. If there be debris and structural staging, necessary to the work of building but unnecessary and expensive to proper maintenance, such nonessentials must be removed.

“Necessarily in grappling with the big, industrial economic and social problems, governmental activities have grown up more or less independent of each other, with inevitable overlapping. What we want to know is the extent of this overlapping, and the possible saving to the people in cost of government without injury to the public service.

“With this idea in mind I am asking the committee to make a study of the problem and to report to the Governor upon the following points:

- 1—The statutes under which each department, bureau or commission is organized,
- 2—The powers, duties and internal organizations, as provided by law, and in fact exercised,
- 3—To what extent powers and duties overlap and duplicate,
- 4—Analysis and comparison of appropriations and expenditures,
- 5—Recommendations.

“The committee will include:

A. E. Boynton, Chairman, San Francisco,
Herbert W. Clark, Berkeley,
Frank P. Flint, Los Angeles,
Dr. John R. Haynes, Los Angeles,
Percy V. Long, San Francisco,

Lee A. Phillips, Los Angeles,
U. S. Webb, San Francisco,
John S. Chambers, Sacramento,
Marshall DeMotte, Sacramento,
Clyde L. Seavey, Sacramento,
Edward A. Dickson, Los Angeles.

"I wrote you a few days ago concerning membership on the above committee. I desire to express at this time my appreciation of your willingness and consent to serve on this committee. There is much for it to do and I am sure what you do in connection with it will be of great service to the State.

"Yours very truly,
(Signed) WILLIAM D. STEPHENS,
Governor."

A communication was sent to every state department, board and commission requesting that the committee be furnished with the following information:

1. What are your powers, duties and internal organization as provided by law, and in fact exercised?
2. To what extent do the powers and duties of your department overlap and duplicate those of another?
3. What changes, if any, do you believe could be made in your department in order that the work might be carried on most effectively and in the most efficient and economical manner?
4. What other suggestions have you in mind, relating either to your own department or to the state's business as a whole, that will make for a more efficient administration of the affairs of the state?

The various agencies of the State answered in great detail. After the receipt by the committee of the replies the subcommittees with associate members held hearings in Sacramento, San Francisco and Los Angeles, to which were invited the representatives of the various boards, commissions and departments, together with those citizens who had expressed interest in the subjects under discussion, and the general public. At the hearings the fullest and freest opportunity was given for the expression of ideas and views, to which full consideration was given later by the committee.

CALIFORNIA'S GOVERNMENTAL ADVANCEMENT.

After a comprehensive survey of the present agencies of the State government the committee finds that they are rendering to the people of the State loyal and effective service. These various agencies have been created in response to a public demand and the Legislature of the State has responded to that demand, and, in the main, has exercised sound and careful judgment. Too much praise can not be given to the Legislatures of California which have convened since 1910, for their patriotic and constructive achievements. Under the leadership of governors with social vision and determination, the wishes of the people have been crystallized into legislation which has resulted in removing social unrest and in strengthening faith in popular government. The committee believes that the accomplishments since 1910 should inspire the people of the State with a feeling of pride for what has been done by the various State agencies. Not only has California been a leader in humanitarian legislation, but it is among the most advanced states in methods of financial control and business management.

Obviously many of the policies, and the agencies from time to time created to carry them into effect, were experimental in their nature and it was to be expected that the integration of those agencies and their proper functioning, one with another, could not be worked out carefully in advance. Duplication and overlapping were inevitable. It should be noted, however, that no one appeared at any of the committee's hearings to challenge either their policies that have been adopted or the integrity of those charged with carrying them into effect. The aim of the committee's recommendations is to make more efficient, effective and economical the agencies of administration in operation, without lessening the services they are rendering to the people of this State.

INVESTIGATIONS IN OTHER STATES FOR THE PURPOSE OF IMPROVING THE ADMINISTRATION OF GOVERNMENTAL AFFAIRS.

The first effort in recent years to appraise the organization and functions of state government was made in Wisconsin in 1911. Fifteen states have now made studies as follows:

Investigations Made by:

1911	Wisconsin	State Board of Public Affairs.
1912	New Jersey	Economy and Efficiency Commission.
	Massachusetts	Commission on Efficiency and Economy.
1913	New York	Committee of Inquiry.
	Iowa	Joint Committee on Retrenchment and Reform.
	Illinois	Efficiency and Economy Committee.
	Pennsylvania	Efficiency and Economy Commission.
	Minnesota	Economy and Efficiency Commission.
1915	Connecticut	Committee to Investigate the Advisability of Consolidating Certain State Boards and Commissions and to Investigate the Public Health Laws.
	Alabama	Legislative Investigating Committee.
	Colorado	Survey Committee on State Affairs.
	Kansas	Economy and Efficiency Committee.
1916	Virginia	Commission on Efficiency and Economy.
1917	Oregon	A Legislative Committee was appointed in 1915 to prepare bills for Abolition and Consolidation of State Boards. No report made.
	West Virginia	Efficiency Commission.

In addition, legislative committees in Arkansas, Ohio, South Dakota and Tennessee have investigated the subject of state financial administration.

The state of Massachusetts has just passed a constitutional amendment limiting the number of administrative departments to twenty.

THE PROBLEM OF REORGANIZATION.

The present investigation has been directed primarily to the group of administrative agencies for which the Governor is theoretically responsible. This group comprises one hundred departments, boards and commissions and includes all except the following elective officers:

1. Lieutenant Governor,
2. Secretary of State,
3. State Controller,
4. State Treasurer,
5. Attorney General,
6. Surveyor General,
7. Superintendent of Public Instruction,
8. Board of Equalization (four elective members).

It is found that many of these perform functions closely allied and that there are, in many instances, duplication and overlapping of effort. There are many groups whose work is similar but independent in operation, which, if coordinated and centralized under one executive head would make for more efficient and economical management. For example, in carrying on the agricultural activities of the State there are nine departments which act separately but whose functions are allied and, which, for more effective work, should be coordinated. California can not have a consistent agricultural policy until this is accomplished. In those activities which have to do with public works we find parallel engineering organizations carrying on work which could better be done under central control. The eight normal schools of the State are conducted under eight local boards, allowing widely divergent policies where there should be one uniform State policy. The same is true of the State hospitals and the correctional institutions. A local board lacks the vision of the needs of the State as a whole and pays in costly experiment for the lack of wider experience. The co-ordination of agencies with allied functions in comprehensive departments will do away with overlapping of duties and duplication of effort, and will lessen the number of units to be supervised, thereby making review more adequate and supervision more real. There are no factors which are greater causes of inefficiency than decentralized control and inadequate supervision and review.

The centering of larger responsibilities in departmental executives should be accompanied by the creation of a Governor's cabinet, composed of those executives. Such a cabinet should assist the Governor in administering the affairs of the State and in formulating State policies. The direct effect of a cabinet so organized would be closer co-operation between departments, increased efficiency in administration and better service to the public.

The important features of the recommended plan of reorganization are the establishment of certain principles which are essential to efficient governmental management. These are:

- (1) Centralization of responsibility.
- (2) Co-operation of the larger organization units.
- (3) Co-ordination of agencies which perform similar or allied functions.

These principles have been carried into the proposed plan by:

- (1) The creation of a Governor's cabinet, composed of departmental executives appointed by him.
- (2) Insuring co-operation of various departments by bringing their administrative officers together in an executive council.
- (3) Placing in departments, under one executive head, those agencies which perform similar or allied functions.

The departmental units created are sufficiently comprehensive to include such agencies as may from time to time be established.

Because of the great diversity in the nature of the state's activities the committee has found it impracticable to correlate all of them into larger administrative units. For this reason the following departments have been left to function independently, as at present:

(1) The group of state agencies which deals with professional standards:

- Board of Accountancy.
- Board of Architecture.
- Board of Medical Examiners.
- Board of Dental Examiners.
- Board of Optometry.
- Board of Embalmers.
- Board of Pharmacy.
- Board of Examiners in Veterinary Medicine.

In the opinion of the committee it is seriously questionable whether or not increased efficiency in the functioning of these various boards or reduced expense in their operation would be accomplished by consolidating all of them in a single department. Moreover, the item of expense to the State is of minor importance for the reason that all of them are supported by fees collected from the professions regulated.

(2) The group having to do with the regulation of financial institutions:

- The Banking Department.
- Bureau of Building and Loan Supervision.
- State Insurance Department.

The evidence gathered and the experience of other states have convinced the committee that the consolidation of any one of these three with either of the others, or the inclusion of one or all in any other departmental group is impractical. It may be noted in this connection that these three departments are supported by fees collected from the institutions under their supervision.

(3) Certain arms of governmental activity, while vested with power by the state legislature have to do primarily and almost solely with problems of a local nature practically independent of the state government proper. Among these are:

1. Sixth District Agricultural Association.
2. State Reclamation Board.
3. The Irrigation Board.
4. State Board of Harbor Commissioners, (S. F.)
5. Harbor Commissioners for the Port of San Diego.
6. Harbor Commissioners for the Port of San Jose.
7. Harbor Commissioners for the Port of Eureka.
8. Board of Pilot Commissioners for San Francisco, Mare Island and Benicia.

9. Board of Pilot Commissioners for Humboldt Bay and Bar.
10. Board of Pilot Commissioners for San Diego.
11. California Redwood Park Commission.

(4) The Board of Prison Directors, being a constitutional body, can not be reached by legislative enactment; therefore it is left in its present status.

(5) The Civil Service Commission, in the opinion of the committee, should be wholly independent of any other state agency or department.

(6) The Legislative Counsel Bureau is a part of the legislative branch of government and, therefore, does not come within the purview of this report.

(7) The State Library obviously renders, and will continue to render, most efficient service to the public by being left in its present independent position.

(8) The Advisory Pardon Board is an ex officio board which, upon the request of the Governor, investigates questions of reprieves, pardons and commutations of sentence. From the nature of this work it is clear that it should not be grouped with any other state agency.

(9) The Adjutant General executes the military functions of the Governor, and his duties are not co-ordinate with those of any other state department, board or commission.

(10) The Industrial Accident Commission.

The Industrial Welfare Commission.

The Immigration and Housing Commission.

After a thorough investigation the committee has determined that, on account of the quasi judicial functions and the special field of activity coming within the jurisdiction of these commissions, they can function best independently of one another or of any other state agency. Provision has been made, however, for their close co-operation through the Advisory Council on Labor, described later in the report.

(11) The California Historical Survey Commission is carrying on special investigational work, the principal part of which will be completed in about a year. It is the opinion of the committee that this work should continue as at present until July, 1921, and then be taken over as a part of the work of the Department of History of the University of California, with a special budget provision therefor.

RECOMMENDATIONS.

Legal Service.

The committee recommends that the position of special attorney for each of the following seven departments be abolished, and that the legal service of the departments be performed in the Attorney General's office, with the addition of two deputies to his present force:

1. State Board of Health.
2. State Commission in Lunacy.

3. Cattle Protection Board.
4. State Board of Harbor Commissioners.
5. State Market Commission.
6. State Mining Bureau.
7. State Water Commission.

The State Railroad Commission and the Industrial Accident Commission exercise functions which are judicial or quasi-judicial in nature and these commissions require full-time attorneys subject to their exclusive control. Other attorneys employed by state departments may be classified in three groups, those employed on full time because of the volume of legal work required to be done; those employed because of the highly specialized nature of the legal work of the particular department; and those employed specially from time to time for the purpose of conducting police court and other criminal prosecutions. In the opinion of the committee efficiency would be impaired and expense increased if the present arrangement were disturbed.

Department of Finance.

The existing state agencies which have to do with finances are:

CONSTITUTIONAL:

1. Controller.
2. Treasurer.
3. Board of Equalization.
4. Secretary of State.

STATUTORY:

1. Board of Control.
2. Purchasing Department.
3. Motor Vehicle Department.
4. Corporation License Tax Exemption Board.

The funds of the State are, through the foregoing constitutional offices, provided with adequate checks and balances to make them secure.

There is one phase of the financial control of the State which is most important, and that is the administrative control over departmental expenditures. Departmental expenditures are, at the present time, through the State Board of Control, protected, first, by a budget system, and secondly, by a pre-audit system which provides close scrutiny of all state expenditures before they are incurred, and a careful audit of claims growing out of the authorized expenditure. To aid in the matter of closer administrative control over departmental finances, the Board of Control has installed uniform systems of accounts and conducts a periodic audit of all departments, boards and commissions. The Board of Control also is charged with the duty of investing the state funds, making appropriations, with the State Controller, from the emergency fund, counting the money in the treasury and establishing the financial policies of the State.

In these matters the State of California stands out as one of the leading states of the nation, and in its reorganization plan the committee has carefully preserved every essential element of the present administrative control of finances. It is essential to the successful and efficient operation of any business, whether it be private or public, that there be a system of effective financial control lodged with the power that is responsible for the management.

At the present time the Board of Control, through its centralized financial control, has before it the problem of co-ordinating the policies and reviewing the expenditures of one hundred eleven different departments, boards and commissions. The committee's proposal changes this plan materially, and co-ordinates the work of many of the independent bureaus and commissions into large administrative units. The change in form of the administrative organization demands a change in the form of financial control. The pre-audit system, which is being conducted by the central financial body, and which is now becoming unwieldy because of the rapid growth of the State, is placed with the respective chief executives in the departmental group. Provision must, therefore, be made for the performance of the other duties of the Board of Control, and the committee recommends the substitution of the following financial agencies in lieu thereof, with functions substantially as indicated:

1. Director of Accounts and Expenditures.

2. Director of Receipts and Supplies.

Functions: (The allocation of the duties to be made by the Board of Finance.)

1. Prescribe uniform systems of accounting and reporting for all offices, departments and institutions.
 2. Pre-audit expenditures of boards, commissions and departments not included in cabinet group.
 3. Audit, periodically, accounts of all officials, departments and institutions.
 4. Supervise organization and investigate efficiency of administration of state business and functions.
 5. Prepare and publish statistical data pertaining to the operation of the State government.
 6. Supervise state purchasing and approve all contracts.
 7. Supervise the acquisition and disposition of all State property and equipment and require periodic inventories and reports.
 8. Operate the State Printing Office.
 9. Supervise motor vehicle taxes.
 10. Administration of the orphan aid act.
3. Board of Finance, composed of the Director of Accounts and Expenditures, Director of Receipts and Supplies, and the State Controller, the chairman to be designated by the Governor.

Functions:

1. Preparation of Budget.
2. Investment of State Funds.
3. Appropriation of Emergency Fund.

4. Counting of money in Treasury.
5. Hear Corporation Franchise Tax Appeals.
6. Sit as Corporation License Tax Exemption Board.
7. Recommend legislation where necessary to effect modernization of State business methods.

The Director of Accounts and Expenditures and the Director of Receipts and Supplies are to be appointed by and hold office at the pleasure of the Governor.

Department of Trade and Corporations.

The existing State agencies which have for their function the supervision and regulation of corporations, public utilities and trade are:

1. State Railroad Commission.
2. State Corporation Department.
3. Department of Weights and Measures.
4. State Market Commission.

The functions of this group have to do with the regulation and supervision of financial institutions for the purpose of insuring their honesty and solvency; the establishing, in some instances, of the rate of pay for service rendered to the public, and the protection of the producer and consumer in the matter of honest trade practice.

The committee recommends that there be created a Department of Trade and Corporations to include the departments above listed, and that the president of the Railroad Commission be the director of the department, with power to appoint the chiefs of such divisions as he may create to administer the functions not coming within the jurisdiction of the Railroad Commission.

Department of Public Works.

The committee recommends that there be created a Department of Public Works to include the present functions of the following boards, commissions and departments:

1. Department of Engineering.
2. California Highway Commission.
3. Capital Planning Commission.
4. State Water Commission.
5. Carey Act Commission.
6. Superintendent of Capitol Building and Grounds.
7. Trustees of State Burial Grounds.
8. Board of Colton Hall Trustees.
9. Guardian of Marshall's Monument.
10. Board of Trustees of Monterey Custom House.
11. Board of Trustees of Pio Pico Mansion.
12. Trustees of Sutter's Fort.
13. Capitol Commission.

It also recommends that there be created a Director of Public Works, to be appointed by and hold office at the pleasure of the Governor; that the work be divided into the following divisions; and that each division be placed under the direction of a chief of division to be appointed by and hold office at the pleasure of the director:

1. Division of Highways.
2. Division of State Buildings.
3. Division of Irrigation and Water Rights.
4. Division of River Improvement.
5. Division of Public Buildings and Grounds.

It is recommended that the Director also serve as chief of one of the divisions. It is further recommended that there be created a special Highway Commission, of three members, whose sole function shall be the selection of highway routes throughout the State. This commission is to be appointed by and hold office at the pleasure of the Governor, and receive a per diem compensation and necessary traveling expenses.

The present practice of having the chief engineer of the Board of State Harbor Commissioners of San Francisco appointed by the Engineering Department, or in this instance, the Director of Public Works, should be continued.

The committee recommends that the Chief of the Division of Irrigation and Water Rights have authority to pass upon applications for the appropriation of water, and that his decisions be subject to review by a Board of Appeal, composed of the Director of Public Works and the chiefs of two other divisions, of his selection.

The committee further recommends that the functions of the Port Warden for the Port of San Francisco be administered by the Board of Harbor Commissioners for that port.

The committee recommends that the Governor be empowered to appoint a local, unpaid trustee for each of the memorial and historical properties placed under this department.

Department of Agriculture.

The committee recommends that there be created a Department of Agriculture to be composed of the following boards, commissions and departments:

1. State Board of Agriculture,
2. Commission of Horticulture,
3. State Dairy Bureau,
4. State Veterinarian,
5. Stallion Registration Board,
6. Cattle Protection Board,
7. State Board of Viticultural Commissioners,
8. Land Settlement Board,
9. Board of Citrus Fruit Shipments, that the functions be administered by divisions as follows:

1. Division of Plant Industry,
2. Division of Animal Industry,
3. Division of Land Settlement,
4. Division of State Fairs, and that there be created a Director of Agriculture to be appointed by and hold office at the pleasure of the Governor; and that a chief, responsible to and appointed by the Director, be placed at the head of each division, with the exception that the Division of State Fairs shall be administered by a Board of State Fair Managers to be appointed by the Governor, with the Director of Agriculture as ex officio member thereof. The chairman of the Board of State Fair Managers should serve as ex officio Regent of the University of California.

In order to avoid extra overhead expense it is recommended that the Director of the Department of Agriculture serve as chief of one of the divisions.

Department of Natural Resources.

The committee recommends that there be created a Department of Natural Resources to be composed of the following agencies:

1. State Mining Bureau,
2. Trustees of State Mineral Cabinet,
3. State Board of Forestry,
4. Surveyor-General,
5. Fish and Game Commission, and that there be a Director appointed by and holding office at the pleasure of the Governor, and that a chief, responsible to and appointed by the Director be placed at the head of each of the following four divisions:

1. Division of Fish and Game.
2. Division of Land.
3. Division of Mines and Minerals.
4. Division of Forestry.

In order to avoid undue overhead expense the committee recommends that the chief of the Division of Mines and Minerals be Director of the Department.

Department of Labor.

The committee recommends that there be created a Department of Labor under the administrative control of the Director of Labor, to be appointed by and hold office at the pleasure of the Governor. The functions of this department are to embrace all the present functions of the Bureau of Labor Statistics. The committee also recommends that there be created an Advisory Council on Labor to consist of the Director of Labor as chairman, and one representative from each of the following named bodies: The Industrial Accident Commission, the Immigration and Housing Commission, the Industrial Welfare Commission, the Department of Education and the Department of Health, whose duty it shall be to prevent overlapping and duplication in the agencies.

Department of Education.

The educational functions of the State are performed by the following agencies:

University of California.

State Board of Education.

Superintendent of Public Instruction.

Normal Schools:

Humboldt,

Chico,

Fresno,

San Francisco,

San Jose,

Santa Barbara,

Los Angeles,

California Polytechnic School.

School for the Deaf and the Blind.

The higher educational activities of the state center in the University of California, which is administered by a Board of Regents appointed by the Governor. It is a constitutional body and functions independently under the present scheme, and the committee has no recommendation to make as to any change.

The other educational activities of the State are divided between the regulatory and supervisorial powers of the State Board of Education over the elementary, secondary and vocational schools, the state normal schools and the special schools. The members of the Board of Education are appointed by the Governor and have power to establish educational standards for the elementary, secondary, normal and special schools. They also have power to certify teachers for the elementary and secondary schools. In the matter of administration the board is confronted with a peculiar situation in that its executive officer is the Superintendent of Public Instruction, who is elected by the people with duties prescribed by law other than those that are assigned to him as executive officer of the Board of Education. This situation has in the past presented serious difficulties. The committee's investigation has convinced it that to insure a more efficient administration of the executive functions of this department this plan should be altered, but as a change would require a constitutional amendment it makes no recommendation.

There is a separate board of trustees for each of the eight normal schools, vested with power to elect presidents and establish policies of administration. The State Board of Education prescribes for the normal schools the courses of instruction to be followed but has no control in the matter of administration, nor in the matter of determining qualifications of members of normal school faculties.

There are two special educational schools in the State, one the Polytechnic School at San Luis Obispo and the other the School for the Deaf and the Blind, at Berkeley. These schools, at the present time, are administered by local boards which determine and prescribe the policies of administration and courses of instruction. They should be operated as integral parts of the general educational system.

The committee recommends that there be created a Department of Education to be governed by a State Board of Education consisting of five lay-members; and that the Superintendent of Public Instruction be its chief executive officer.

It is also recommended that the functions now exercised by the local boards of trustees of the normal schools, the California Polytechnic School and the School for the Deaf and the Blind be performed under the supervision of the State Board of Education, which shall appoint the president of each of the normal schools and the principal of each of the special schools. There should be also, in the opinion of the committee, a local board of trustees for each of these schools to serve as an advisory and visiting board without compensation. The principal function of these boards should be to form a connecting link between the state government, the institutions and the communities in which they are located.

Department of Public Health.

The State Board of Health is the only state agency which has to do directly with public health. The scope of its work is broad and well defined and embraces the control of communicable diseases, the compiling of vital statistics, the regulation of sanitary matters, the inspection and control of foods and drugs and the administering of general health regulations throughout the State.

The committee recommends that there be created a Department of Public Health, the administrative agency to be a board of five duly licensed and practicing physicians of this State, appointed by the Governor for the term of four years, the terms so arranged that not more than two will expire at the same time; and that the Chairman shall be a member of the Governor's Cabinet.

Department of Institutions.

The committee recommends that there be created a Department of Institutions, to be composed of the following agencies, with a Director appointed by and holding office at the pleasure of the Governor:

1. Veterans' Home.
2. Industrial Home for the Adult Blind.
3. Women's Relief Corps Home.

4. State Hospitals for the Insane—
 - a. Agnew.
 - b. Napa.
 - c. Mendocino.
 - d. Southern California.
 - e. Norwalk.
 - f. Stockton.
5. State Homes for the Feeble-minded—

 - b. Pacific Colony.
6. Lunacy Commission.
7. Whittier State School.
8. Preston School of Industry.
9. California School for Girls.
10. Bureau of Criminal Identification and Investigation.

The Director shall appoint the Superintendents of the various institutions, by and with the consent of the cabinet.

Provision should be made for the retention of local unpaid boards of managers for these institutions, to serve as advisory and visiting boards and to form connecting links between the State government, the institutions and the communities in which they are located.

Department of Social Service.

At the present time the State maintains only one department whose specific function is to supervise county welfare problems. This body is the Board of Charities and Corrections.

The committee recommends that there be created a Department of Social Service, to be administered by a board consisting of seven unpaid members appointed by the Governor for a term of four years, the terms to be so arranged that they will not all expire at one time, and that the chairman be designated by the Governor. This board shall investigate, survey and supervise all child welfare work, the living and recreational conditions of children, and make such recommendations as it may deem advisable to municipal, county or State departments which have to do in any way with child welfare. It shall take over and perform the work of the inspection and standardization of municipal, county and state hospitals, prisons and other institutions, now being performed by the State Board of Charities and Corrections, and it shall at all times respond to requests from municipal, county or State departments for assistance in planning homes, hospitals and prisons for dependents of the public. It shall also take over and perform any and all other functions now performed by the State Board of Charities and Corrections.

Civil Service Commission.

The Civil Service Commission, as now organized, consists of a board of three members serving overlapping terms of four years, at a compensation of $3,000 a year.

The committee recommends that the commission be composed of one member at a salary of $5,000 a year, and two members on a per diem basis of $10 a day, not to exceed $300 a year each and necessary traveling expenses. The same provisions as to tenure, appointment and removal, as are in effect at the present time should continue.

The Governor's Cabinet.

The committee recommends that there be created a Governor's cabinet, composed of the following officers:

1. Director of Receipts and Supplies.
2. Director of Accounts and Expenditures.
3. Director of Trade and Corporations.
4. Director of Public Works.
5. Director of Agriculture.
6. Director of Natural Resources.

GENERAL RECOMMENDATIONS.

The committee makes the following general recommendations:

1. That the contingent funds of institutions be deposited in the State Treasury, to be withdrawn by appropriation of the legislature as budgeted by the Board of Finance.
2. That the rates charged to pay patients in the state hospitals be increased from $15 to $20 a month.
3. That the fees and licenses collected by the various State departments, boards and commissions be deposited in the State Treasury and withdrawn according to budget or by special permission of the State Budget Board, and that the funds so deposited be devoted solely to the use of the particular department depositing them.
4. That the transportation of the insane and feeble-minded be handled by attendants under the Department of Institutions instead of by deputy sheriffs as at present. This will accomplish two main objects: first, the care and attention of the afflicted by persons skilled in the handling of the insane; and secondly, the elimination of expense to the State approximated at $50,000 for the biennium. This method of handling this class of patients has been thoroughly tried out by the State of Oregon and is recommended by the specialists in that state, and in this State, who have investigated the matter.
5. That the present practice of setting salaries by statute, so far as they refer to employees and officers other than heads of departments and chief deputies, be discontinued, and that those sections of the law which now provide for such salaries be repealed and provision be made for their payment out of the support funds of the various departments.
6. That in order to insure at least reasonable savings in the cost of State bond issues, the principle that the term of a bond should not exceed the probable life of the improvement to be constructed with the proceeds thereof, should be recognized by the State legislature; that the present seventy-five year maximum term permitted for State bonds should be reduced materially; that all State bonds should be serial; and that, in general, redemption should begin at the end of the first year of the issue and proceed annually thereafter in at least equal annual amounts, no subsequent payment of principal being greater than any prior payment.

7. That the statutory provision for the State Commission on Voting or Ballot Machines be repealed.
8. That the offices of the State should be centralized at Sacramento, the seat of the State government, so far as the efficient performance of the public business will permit.

Respectfully submitted.

STATEMENT

STATEMENT OF EXPENDITURES.

The following summary and statements of expenditures exhibit the amounts of state expenses and outlays for the three biennial periods from July 1, 1911, to June 30, 1917. The data set forth were developed by classifying and summarizing paid warrants according to governmental functions. Expenditures have been set up according to dates of accrual rather than dates of payment as ordinarily reported. Also the amount of expenses met by disbursement of so-called departmental funds is set forth separately from appropriated or general state funds.

Unlike a commercial enterprise or undertaking, in governmental finance there is, broadly speaking, nothing but service in return for current expense and outlay. The commercial enterprise should earn, or manifest ability to earn, interest on invested capital. Earnings may be expressed by dollars and cents per contra to expenditures, and, therefore, economy and efficiency in management may be reflected and measured by the net result. The governmental body has no invested capital. It is created and exists for the purpose of performing services, the value of which can not be expressed by dollars and cents per contra to expenditures, and, therefore, a statement of governmental expenditures reflects only one side of the story of administrative accomplishment.

Before correct conclusions relative to administrative economy may be drawn from statements of governmental expenditures an idea of the value of the services rendered must be formed. In giving consideration to increases in cost, fluctuation in the purchasing power of the dollar must be borne in mind as well as the expansion of governmental activities prescribed by law.

Accounts of governmental expenditures systematically compiled and intelligently classified are, as effective administrative guides, indispensable. They do, therefore, contribute much toward economical administration, but they do not in themselves measure administrative accomplishment.

Maximum administrative economy can ultimately only parallel the maximum of efficiency of organization, or administrative machinery, in governmental and private business alike.

Each member receives $1,000 for each regular session, $10 per day, not exceeding thirty days, for each special session, mileage at the rate of ten cents per mile, and an allowance of $25 for contingent expenses at each regular session. The compensation for officers and employees shall not exceed $500 a day for either house at a regular session, nor $200 a day at any special session.

JUDICIAL.Supreme Court.

They are elected by the people for a term of twelve years, at a salary of $8,000. The jurisdiction of the court is defined in Sec. 4, Art. VI of the Constitution. The court may sit in departments or in bank. There are two departments, each consisting of three associate justices.

District Courts of Appeal.

(Constitutional)

Court of Impeachment.

(Constitutional)

The Assembly has the sole power of impeachment and all impeachments must be tried by the Senate. No person shall be convicted without the concurrence of two-thirds of the members elected to the Senate. All constitutional, judicial and executive officers, except the Superintendent of Public Instruction, are liable to impeachment for misdemeanor in office. (Judges of Courts of Record may also be removed by concurrent resolutions of both houses of the Legislature adopted by each house.) All other judicial officers, except justices of the peace, may be removed by the Senate on recommendation of the Governor, provided the officer has been given an opportunity of being heard.

EXECUTIVE.Governor.

(Constitutional)

The Governor is elected by the qualified electors of the state. He must have been a citizen of the United States and a resident of this state for five years, and must have attained the age of twenty-five years at the time of election. The term of office is four years and the salary $10,000.

The supreme executive power of the state is vested in the Governor. He has the power to grant reprieves, pardons, and commutations of sentence. He is Commander in Chief of the militia, the army and the navy of the state, and has power to call forth the militia to execute the laws of the state, to suppress insurrection and to repel invaders.

(Constitutional)

The qualifications, election and term of office are the same as for Governor. The salary is $4,000.

The Lieutenant Governor is president of the Senate, but has only a casting vote therein. He succeeds to the office of Governor upon the death of the latter.

ORGANIZATION FOR THE ADMINISTRATION OF THE FINANCIAL FUNCTIONS OF THE STATE.

At the present time the financial affairs of the State are carried on by the following agencies:

Constitutional:

State Controller.
State Treasurer.
Board of Equalization.
Secretary of State.

Statutory:

Board of Control.
State Purchasing Department.
Motor Vehicle Department.
*Board of Equalization of Oil Tax.
*Corporation License Tax Exemption Board.
*Irrigation District Bond Commission.
*Water Works District Bond Commission.

Office of State Controller.

(Constitutional)

The State Controller is elected for a period of four years, and receives a salary of $5,000 per annum.

The State Controller's office is the final auditing department of the state government, where a definite record of all receipts and expenditures is kept. In addition, the State Controller has under him the Inheritance Tax Department, the Delinquent Tax Land Department and the collection and publication of financial data relating to the governments of the counties and cities of the state. He also is a member, with full powers, of the State Board of Equalization, and of the so-called State Loan Board, consisting of the Governor, the Treasurer and the Controller. Likewise, he is a member and chairman of the Corporation License Tax Exemption Board, and, through a voluntary arrangement, sits with the Board of Control in the preparation of the budget, and co-operates with that body continually.

Some of the duties of the State Controller are: To superintend the fiscal affairs of the state; to keep all accounts of the state; to issue warrants upon the Treasurer for the payment of all lawful obligations of the state; to audit all claims against the state; to examine and settle the accounts of all persons indebted to the state and to superintend the collection of such accounts; to superintend and receipt for the collection of all inheritance taxes due the state; to superintend and receipt for all franchise taxes collected by the Treasurer; to check all reports and issue orders upon the Treasurer to receive the funds covered by such reports; to maintain a department for the redemption and sale of lands which have been forfeited to the state for non-payment of taxes.

Office of State Treasurer.

(Constitutional)

The State Treasurer is elected by the people and holds office for a term of four years. He receives a compensation of $5,000 per annum.

The State Treasurer pays the warrants drawn by the Controller, keeps an account of all moneys received and disbursed, keeps separate accounts of the different funds and is responsible for the custody of all state funds and securities. He loans state money to banks with and by consent of the Governor and the Controller, sells bonds issued by the state and sits with the Board of Control in determining the surplus in the treasury.

State Board of Equalization.

(Constitutional)

The State Board of Equalization is a constitutional body consisting of four members elected by districts, each for a term of four years, and each receiving a compensation of $4,000 per annum. The State Controller is ex officio member of the Board.

The jurisdiction of the Board as originally created and provided for was:

- a. The assessment of all railroads operated in more than one county in this state.
- b. The equalization of all property shown on the county assessment rolls, that is to say, by judicial decree; such equalization by this Board was confined to the raising or lowering of an assessment roll in its entirety, and not to the equalization of the individual assessments contained in the roll, which no doubt was contemplated by the framers of the 1879 constitution.
- c. The apportionment of all joint mortgages, that is, mortgages upon property situate in two or more counties in this state.
- d. General supervision over the work of assessment, the promulgating of rules for the government of assessors in assessing, and other kindred duties along the same line.

Notwithstanding the changes in the constitution hereinafter related, the Board still possesses the foregoing powers and duties, save and except as to the apportionment of mortgages, such property being no longer assessable in this state.

On November 8, 1910, Sec. 14 of Art. XIII was added to the constitution, denominated as the state tax law. Under the provisions of this amendment, the state revenues were divorced from those of the counties and municipalities, the state proposing to maintain its functions by means of taxation of public service and other corporations, banks and insurance companies, and leaving to the counties and cities, the taxation of the common forms of property.

Under this latter provision of the constitution the State Board is called upon to annually levy a tax and assess something like 20,000 corporations of all kinds. This act of assessment is performed between the first Mondays in March and July, and annually brings to the state taxes aggregating eighteen million dollars.

Coextensive with the foregoing duties of assessment, the Board is the final arbiter as between the counties and cities, and the corporations, as to what shall constitute "operative property," that is, property which shall be withdrawn from all local taxation. It also finally adjudicates the question as to what shall constitute "operative taxable receipts," and its decision in both matters are final unless disturbed by a court.

To fairly adjust the immediate foregoing questions it is necessary that this Board hold meetings in different parts of the state, to accommodate the taxpayers as well as the local officials.

The State Board of Equalization is also the proper tribunal to collect data and information for the executive and legislative departments for the adjustment of corporate tax ratios as between the state paying corporations and the rates paid on local property. This duty, when performed, also requires visits to every section of the state.

Office of Secretary of State.

(Constitutional)

The Secretary of State is elected and holds office for a term of four years and receives a compensation of $5,000 per annum.

It is the duty of the Secretary of State to keep a correct record of all official acts of the state and of the Governor; to keep the state archives; to collect the corporation license tax on foreign and domestic companies amounting to approximately $800,000 annually; to examine all corporation papers submitted for filing and pass upon the sufficiency thereof; to record all conveyances made to the state, deeds, bonds, articles of incorporation, changes of names of individuals certified to him by county clerks; to register trade marks and firm names; to distribute statutes, maps, state roster, blue book, journals of the legislature, bills, booklets containing amendments, initiative and referendum measures, arguments, etc.; to keep a register of all land patents issued by the State Surveyor General; to receive petitions from county clerks and registrars of voters in all matters pertaining to direct legislation, (initiative, referendum and recall), and submit them to electors and the legislature; to make and publish the official count in connection with the direct primary, presidential primary, special and general elections.

The duties of the Board include the audit of all state expenditures, including the pre-audit of all institutional and departmental expenditures, and with the State Controller the Board prepares a budget of the necessary expenditures and the funding provisions for meeting them. The duties also include the exercise of its powers of general investigation which include the hearing of contest matters arising between claimants and the state; the recommending to the legislature for payment such claims as can not be paid from appropriated funds, but which are properly payable by the state; the counting of the money in the State Treasury once a month; the approval of all contracts to which the state is a party; the investment of state funds in governmental securities; the maintaining of a perpetual inventory of all state properties and the authorization for its disposition or sale.

The Board under the law maintains a department of public account. This department is charged with the duty of devising, installing and supervising a uniform system of accounting and reporting for any and all officials charged by law with the keeping of public accounts and records.

The board meets at the Capitol on the third Monday before the first Monday in July of each year, and remains in session from day to day until the first Monday in July for the purpose of carrying out the provisions of the statute defining its duties.

The duty of the board is to act as a board of equalization with respect to the tax assessed annually by the State Mineralogist, acting in conjunction with the State Board of Control, upon the petroleum and gas produced in the state, and upon the acreage of oil land owned in the state.

The functions of this commission in their salient features are the same as those of the Irrigation District Bond Commission. The commission is composed of the same officials.

The findings and conclusions of such investigations and recommendations as to necessary changes in the existing system in this state were ordered to be reported to the Legislature at its session in January, 1917. The Governor appointed a committee of three.

An amendment of 1917 directed the officers and employees of the commission to perform such duties as the Governor might deem necessary to further the objects of Senate Joint Resolution No. 3, Statutes of 1917, which urged upon Congress and the legislatures of the several states to call a conference for the consideration of federal and state sources of revenue.

and that the witness has been summoned in the manner prescribed in this act, and that the witness has failed and refused to attend or produce such books or papers or documents or accounts required by the subpoena, before the commission, or the commissioner, or the chief examiner, or such other authorized agent of the commission, in the matter named in the notice and subpoena, or has refused to answer questions propounded to him in the course of such proceedings, and ask an order of said court, compelling the witness to attend and testify or produce such books or papers or documents or accounts before the commission, or any commissioner, or the chief examiner or such other authorized agent of the commission. All provided that at any time any vacancy in any position in any of the above specified fourteen excepted classes may be filled by the appointing power in the manner provided by this act, in which case the person appointed shall hold, during the tenure of office of said appointing power, such position under the tenure of good behavior and subject to the provisions of this act as if that position had not been so excepted, but upon such appointee ceasing to hold such position that position shall be open as in such excepted class. Upon such appointee ceasing to hold such office by reason of the termination of the tenure of office of said appointing power, said appointee shall be restored to place upon the eligible lists in accordance with such rules and regulations as the commission may prescribe in that behalf. Any position subject to the provisions of this act may be declared exempted by resolution passed by concurrence of the three commissioners. Such resolution shall state separately the reasons for each exemption. Not more than one appointment shall be made to or under any position covered by such resolution unless permission to appoint a different number is given therein. Any exception thus made may be terminated at any time by resolution of the commission. Appointments to exempted positions shall be reported immediately to the commission. The names of each exempted position and the names of the incumbent and the reason for each exemption shall be stated in the biennial reports of the commission.

Sec. 8. Within three months after the commission is constituted, it shall make rules for the classification of positions to be held under state authority to be provided by this act, and subject to the provisions of this act; such rules shall govern appointments, transfers, reinstatements, promotions, reductions and removals, and examination of applicants, and the commission may amend such rules from time to time. Such rules shall be printed for public distribution.

Sec. 9. Subject to the special provisions in this act as to laborers, appointments shall be made to all positions that are not filled by promotion, reinstatement, transfer or reduction, under the provisions of this act and the rules in pursuance thereof, by the appointing power. Said appointing power shall notify the commission of any vacancy to be filled, stating the duties of the position. The commission shall then certify to the appointing power, the name and address of the person standing highest on the eligible list for the class or grade to which the position belongs; and the appointing power shall fill the position by the appointment of the person certified by the commission therefor. The term of eligibility shall be fixed for each eligible list at not less than one year. Appointments shall be made from the eligible list most nearly appropriate for the position to be filled and a new list must be created six months after the expiration of any eligible list for a stated position or a group of positions only when there is no appropriate list existing from which appointment may be made. No person shall be appointed under any title not appropriate to the duties to be performed, and no person shall be assigned to perform the duties of any other position than that which he legally holds, except by consent of the commission. All appointments shall be for a probationary period to be fixed by the commission but not to exceed six months. Unless such appointee shall have been dismissed within such probationary period by the appointing power, for reasons stated in writing and filed with the commission, his appointment shall become permanent, subject to the provisions of this act as to removals, suspensions and changes. Discharged probationers may by unanimous vote of the commission be restored to the list of eligibles for certification to any position within their class other than the one from which they were rejected.

SEC. 10. The examinations shall be practical in their character, and shall relate to those matters which will fairly test the relative capacity and fitness of the persons examined to discharge the duties of the positions they seek. Applicants for positions in the mechanical trades and occupations may, in the discretion of the commission, be rated solely on experience and physical qualifications which may be determined by such evidence and in such manner as the commission may direct; and such applicants may be submitted to such further tests as the commission may require. The commission shall prepare lists of preliminary requirements and subjects of examinations for the several positions, and shall publish its rules and regulations and such information and advertise such examinations in such manner as the nature of the examination may require. The commission, except as may be otherwise provided in the case of laborers, shall require an applicant to file in its office, in accordance with its rules and regulations, a reasonable length of time before the date of examination, a formal application filled out in his own handwriting. Blank forms of such application shall be furnished by said commission without charge to all persons requesting the same. The commission may require in connection with applications, including laborers, such certificates of citizens, physicians, public officers or others having knowledge of the applicant, as the good of the service may require. The commission may refuse to examine, or after examination to certify as eligible, anyone who is found to lack any of the established preliminary requirements for the examination or position for which he applies; or who is physically so disabled as to be rendered unfit to perform the duties of the position to which he seeks appointment, or who is addicted to the habitual use of intoxicating beverages to excess; or who has been guilty of a crime or of infamous or notoriously disgraceful conduct; or who has been dismissed from the public service for delinquency or misconduct; or who has intentionally made a false statement of any material facts, or practiced, or attempted to practice any deception or fraud in his application, in his examination, or in securing his eligibility. Any person appointed to a position under the provisions of this act who has secured his place on the eligible list through fraud shall be removed by the commission from his position and shall not thereafter be eligible for examination for any position under the provisions of this act except by unanimous permission of the commission. When the position to be filled involves fiduciary responsibility, the appointing power may require the appointee to furnish a reasonable bond or other security, and shall notify the commission of the amount and necessary details thereof.

SEC. 11. When there is no eligible list from which a position may be filled, the appointing power may, with the consent of the commission, fill such position by temporary appointment; and such temporary appointment shall not continue for a longer period than three months, nor shall successive temporary appointments be made to the same position under this section without the previous consent of the commission, and in no case shall any person hold a position under such successive temporary appointments for a longer period than six months without the unanimous consent of the commission.

SEC. 12. The commission shall establish rules and regulations under which emergency appointments may be made when those on the eligible lists are not immediately available, and for the time for which such emergency appointments shall be valid; and may fix a different time for different counties or cities and counties of the state for which such emergency appointments shall be valid.

SEC. 13. Vacancies in positions shall be filled, so far as practicable by promotion from among persons holding positions in a lower grade of the department, office or institution in which the vacancy exists. Promotion shall be based upon merit and competition and upon the superior qualifications of the person promoted as shown by his records of efficiency. For the purposes of this section an increase in the salary or other compensation of any person holding an office or position within the scope of the rules and regulations in force hereunder beyond the limit fixed for the grade in which such office and position is classified, shall be deemed a promotion. The commission may authorize the transfer of any person legally holding a position to a similar position in the same class or grade, and may provide for the reinstatement within one year of persons separated from positions without fault or delinquency on their part, if within that time there is need for their services. No promotion, transfer or reinstatement shall be made from a position in one class to a position in another class, nor shall a person be transferred to or reinstated in a position for original entrance to which there is required by this act or the rules and regulations thereunder an examination involving essential tests or qualifications different from or higher than those required for original entrance to the position held by such person.

SEC. 14. The tenure of everyone holding a position under the provisions of this act shall be during good behavior, but any such person may be removed for any of the following causes:

(a) Incompetence or inefficiency.

(b) Dishonesty, intemperance, immoral conduct, insubordination, discourteous treatment of the public or of fellow employees, a violation of the provisions of this act or of the rules or regulations of the commission or any other failure of good behavior. The appointing power that could fill such positions under the provisions of this act if vacant or the commission may remove, as hereinafter provided, for such cause. The appointing power in so proceeding must furnish to the person holding such position written charges setting forth such ground for removal and file copy with the commission and allow the accused a reasonable time and opportunity to file with the commission and furnish to said appointing power written answer and explanation and thereafter said appointing power shall publicly hear and determine such charges after reasonable notice to the accused and the commission of the time and place of said hearing and affording the accused an opportunity at such hearing to present whatever competent evidence the accused may desire in defense. In case of charges presented by or to the commission, it shall proceed in like manner. A judgment of removal, in writing, setting forth the findings of said appointing power after such hearing and filed with the commission, shall be final and effect such removal and shall not be subject to review by any other tribunal, except that in case of proceedings against the same person before both the appointing power and the commission the judgment against the accused by either the appointing power or the commission shall control a judgment by the other in favor of the accused. Such appointing power may from time to time peremptorily suspend, with loss of salary or other compensation during such suspension, such person for such cause, and without trial, but only upon written charges so furnished to such person and filed with the commission and with the privilege to such person to so furnish to the appointing power and file with the commission written answer and explanation, but such suspension or total suspensions by that appointing power of that person shall not exceed thirty days. Either the appointing power or the commission may transfer charges to the other for action or investigation.

SEC. 15. The commission shall provide by rule for the employment of laborers in the labor class in the order of priority of application for employment. There shall be separate lists of applicants for different kinds of labor, and the commission may provide separate labor registration lists for departments, institutions, districts or localities. The commission may require an applicant for registration to pass such examination as they may deem proper with respect to his age, residence, physical condition, ability to labor, skill, capacity and experience. The commission shall establish such time as it may deem expedient for the duration of eligible lists in the labor class.

SEC. 16. It shall be the duty of each appointing power to report to the commission forthwith upon each appointment the name of the appointee, the title or character of the position, the date of the commencement of such service, and the salary or compensation therefor, and to report from time to time, and upon the date of official action in, or knowledge of each case, any separation of the person from the position, or other changes, and such other information as the commission may require in order to keep the roster hereinafter mentioned. The commission shall keep in its office an official roster of all persons holding positions under the provisions of this act and shall enter thereon the name of each and every person who has been appointed to, promoted, reduced, transferred, reinstated or removed from or left any position and require such evidence as it may deem satisfactory as to whether such person was appointed to, promoted, reduced, transferred, reinstated or removed from such position in accordance with the provisions of this act and the rules and regulations of the commission thereunder and as to when and why and how such person was otherwise separated from such position. The official roster shall show opposite, or in connection with, each name, the date of appointment, promotion, reduction, transfer or reinstatement, the compensation of the position, the date of commencement of service and change in or separation from position and when and why and how there was such change or separation. The names of all persons holding positions at the time of the taking effect of this act which if vacant would be filled under the provisions of this act shall be certified to the commission by the appointing power that could then so fill such position if vacant, and such names shall be entered in said roster, and thereupon shall be deemed appointed under the provisions of this act and persons then holding such positions who have served in such positions a less period than one year and more than sixty days from the date of the classification of such positions as required by this act shall be deemed to be serving the probationary period, and persons who have served in such positions for less than such sixty days shall be deemed temporary appointees.

SEC. 17. It shall be unlawful for the controller or other fiscal officer of the state to draw, sign, issue, or authorize the drawing, signing, or issuing of any warrant on the treasurer or other disbursing officer of the state for the payment of, or for the treasurer or other disbursing officer to pay any salary or compensation to any one holding any position under the provisions of this act unless the estimate, pay roll or account for such salary or compensation, containing the name of the person to be paid, shall bear the certificate of the commission that the persons named in such estimate, pay roll or account are holding positions as provided by this act and the rules and regulations prescribed thereunder. Any sums paid contrary to the provisions of this section may be recovered from any one making such appointment in violation of the provisions of this act and of the rules and regulations prescribed thereunder or from any officer signing, or countersigning, or authorizing the signing or countersigning of any warrant for the payment of the same, and from the sureties on his official bond in any action in any court of competent jurisdiction of this state maintained by a citizen resident therein, who is assessed for and is liable to pay, or within one year before the commencement of such action has paid, a tax thereon. All moneys recovered in any action brought under the provisions of this section must, when collected, be paid into the treasury of the state, except that the plaintiff in any such action shall be entitled to receive for his own use the taxable costs of such action.

SEC. 18. Any commissioner or examiner, or any person who shall wilfully by himself or in co-operation with one or more persons, defeat, deceive or obstruct any person in respect of his or her right of examination or registration, according to any rules or regulations prescribed pursuant to the provisions of this act, or who shall wilfully and falsely mark, grade, estimate, or report upon the examination or proper standing of any person examined, registered, or certified pursuant to the provisions of this act, or aid in so doing, or who shall wilfully make any false representation concerning the same, or concerning the person examined, or who shall wilfully furnish to any person any special or secret information for the purpose of either improving or injuring the prospects or chances of any person so examined, registered, or certified, or to be examined, registered, or certified, or who shall personate any other person, or permit or aid in any manner any other person to personate him, in connection with any examination or registration or application or request to be examined or registered, shall be deemed guilty of misdemeanor.

SEC. 19. No officer, agent, clerk or employee, under the government of the state shall directly or indirectly, solicit or receive, or be in any manner concerned in soliciting or receiving, any assessment, subscription, contribution or political service, whether voluntary or involuntary, for any political purpose whatever, from any one on the eligible lists or holding any position under the provisions of this act.

Every officer, agent, clerk or employee under the government of the state who may have charge or control in any building, office, or room occupied for any purpose of said government is hereby authorized to prohibit the entry of any person, and he shall not permit any person to enter the same, for the purpose of therein making, collecting, receiving or giving notice of any political assessment, subscription or contribution, and no person shall enter, or remain in any said building, office or room, or send or direct any letter or other notice thereto, for the purpose of giving notice of, demanding, or collecting a political assessment, subscription or contribution, nor shall any person therein give notice of, demand, collect or receive, any such assessment, subscription or contribution contrary to the provisions of this section.

SEC. 20. No one, while holding any public office, or in nomination for, or while seeking a nomination or appointment for, any public office, shall use or promise to use, whether directly or indirectly, any official authority or influence (whether then possessed or merely anticipated) in the way of conferring upon any person, or in order to secure or aid any person in securing any position under the provisions of this act, either in nomination, confirmation, promotion, or increase in salary, or as to any change in any such position, upon a consideration or condition that the vote or political influence or action of the last named person or any other, shall be given or used in behalf of any candidate, officer, or party, or upon any other corrupt condition or consideration. And no one, being a public officer, or in nomination for, or while seeking nomination or appointment for, any public office or having or claiming to have any authority or influence (whether then possessed or merely anticipated) for the securing or holding of or as to affecting any position under the provisions of this act, shall use, or promise or threaten to use, any such authority or influence, directly or indirectly, in order to coerce or persuade the vote or political action of any person on the eligible lists or holding any position under the provisions of this act.

SEC. 21. No salary, compensation or other emolument shall be paid to any one appointed to or retained in any position in violation of this act. Any officer approving or paying such salary shall be liable for such sum on his official bond. Whenever the commission shall notify the auditing officer that any position has been filled in violation of this act or any of the rules and regulations thereunder, no demand for the salary or compensation or other emolument of such position shall be approved or paid except upon the order of a court of competent jurisdiction.

SEC. 22. Any person acting in good faith in accepting appointment or employment contrary to the provisions of this act or of the rules and regulations prescribed thereunder, shall be paid by the appointing power the compensation promised by or on behalf of the appointing power or in case no compensation is so promised then the actual value of any service rendered and the expense incurred in good faith under such attempted appointment or employment, and shall have a cause of action against the appointing power for such sum or sums and for the costs of action. No public officer shall be reimbursed by the state or any of its instrumentalities for any sum so paid or recovered in such action.

SEC. 23. No recommendation or question or inquiry under the authority of this act shall relate to the political or religious opinions or affiliations of any person, and no appointment or change in or removal from any position under the provisions of this act shall be in any manner affected or influenced by such opinions or affiliations.

SEC. 24. Witnesses and officers to subpoena and secure the attendance of witnesses before the commission, or any commissioner, or the chief examiner or other authorized agent of the commission, shall be entitled to the same fees as are allowed witnesses in civil cases in courts of record. Such fees need not be prepaid, but the controller shall draw his warrant for the payment of the amount thereof when the same shall have been certified to by the commission and duly proved by affidavit or otherwise to the satisfaction of the controller.

SEC. 25. Any person wilfully violating any of the provisions of this act shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 26. The term "veteran" as used in this act means and includes any person who has served in the United States army, navy, marine corps, revenue marine service, or as an active nurse in the service of the American Red Cross or in the army and navy nurse corps, during or prior to the war between the United States and the central European powers and who has not been dishonorably discharged from such service.

SEC. 27. When proper proof is presented to the state civil service commission that an applicant is a veteran, as defined in this act, and such veteran stands equal in percentage in any civil service examination for original entrance into the public service, with any other applicant or applicants taking the same examination, it shall be the duty of the state civil service commission to show such veteran preference by giving him the higher rank.

SEC. 28. It is the purpose of this act to give preference, in the manner set forth in the foregoing section, to all persons who have served the government and the people in the army, navy, marine corps, revenue marine service, or as active nurses in the American Red Cross or the army and navy nurse corps, and particularly to persons who have rendered such service during the Ally-Germanic war, the Spanish-American war, the Philippine insurrection, the Boxer uprising, the Indian wars, or the Civil war.

SEC. 29. Whenever this act or any part or section thereof is interpreted by a court, it shall be liberally construed by such court.

SEC. 30. Sec. 7. Section thirty-seven of said act is hereby amended to read as follows:

Sec. 37. No bank shall, except as otherwise provided in this act, purchase or invest its capital or surplus or money of its depositors, or any part of either, in the capital stock of any corporation unless the purchase or acquisition of such capital stock shall be necessary to prevent loss to the bank on an obligation owned or on a debt previously contracted in good faith. Any capital stock so purchased or acquired shall be sold by such bank within six months thereafter if it can be sold for the amount of the claim of such bank against it; and all capital stock thus purchased or acquired must be sold for the best price obtainable by said bank within three years after such purchase or acquisition unless the superintendent of banks shall extend the time of its sale for a period not to exceed two years.

SEC. 8. Section forty-three of said act is hereby amended to read as follows:

SEC. 43. The superintendent of banks may in his discretion revoke such a designation.

SEC. 9. A new section is hereby added to said act, to be numbered forty-eight a, and to read as follows:

SEC. 48*a*. Any national banking association, whose principal place of business is in this state, is hereby authorized to act in fiduciary capacities in all respects as provided by the acts of congress, approved December 23, 1913, and amendments thereof, commonly known as the federal reserve act, and all acts herein provided to be performed by the state treasurer, the superintendent of banks or other public officials for or in respect of trust companies, shall be performed for such national banking association equally with trust companies. Such charge for services shall be determined by the superintendent of banks, and shall be no higher than the charge for a similar service to trust companies organized under the laws of this state.

The cost of all special and extraordinary services shall be the same as that provided for in section one hundred twenty-four of this act.

SEC. 10. Section fifty-six of said act is hereby amended to read as follows:

SEC. 56. Any bank is hereby authorized and empowered to become a member of a federal reserve bank.

Nothing in this act shall prohibit any such bank from becoming a member of a federal reserve bank, in the manner provided in the federal reserve act, nor from investing any part of its capital or surplus or reserve fund in the capital stock of such federal reserve bank, in accordance with the terms and provisions of such federal reserve act; provided, that such investment shall in no case exceed the minimum amount required to join or associate itself with or maintain membership in such federal reserve bank; provided, also, that such investment may be carried in either the commercial, savings, or trust department, or may be apportioned to any two or all three of such departments of any departmental state bank member.

Such member bank and its directors, officers and stockholders shall continue to be subject, however, to all liabilities and duties imposed upon them by the bank act and by any other law of this state.

Any bank which shall have become a member of a federal reserve bank shall be subject to the examinations required under the terms of the federal reserve act, and the superintendent of banks may, in his discretion, accept such examination in lieu of the examination required under the provisions of this act, and he, his agents and employees, may furnish to the federal reserve board, the federal reserve bank, or to examiners duly appointed by the federal reserve board or the federal reserve bank, copies of all examinations made, and may disclose to such federal reserve board, federal reserve bank, or examiner, any information with reference to the condition or affairs of state bank members.

Nothing in this act shall prevent or prohibit any bank from converting into a national banking association under the provisions of section five thousand one hundred fifty-four of the United States revised statutes, or section eight of the federal reserve act, or any other federal or state law; provided, however, that no savings bank and no departmental bank having a savings department, organized and existing under the laws of the State of California shall convert into a national banking association except upon the following conditions:

1. Consistent with its application to the conversion of the corporation, any such savings or departmental bank shall file with the superintendent of banks formal notice of its intent to convert into a national banking association.

2. Prior to conversion any such savings or departmental bank shall place in the hands of the superintendent of banks:

(a) A constitution notice for newspaper advertisement, directed to its savings depositories, of the fact of conversion.

(b) Actual notice addressed to each and every savings depositor at his or her last known address, enclosed in stamped and addressed envelopes ready for mailing; this notice to be as follows:

"You are hereby notified that the undersigned, formerly the _____, now the _____, has converted from a banking corporation existing under the laws of California into a national banking association, and has become subject to be under the jurisdiction and control of the California State Banking Department and the bank act of California, and is now, under the jurisdiction and control of the Federal Reserve act and the national bank act. The advertisement shall be at the expense of the converting bank, prepaid to the department.

SEC. 12. A new section is hereby added to said act, to be numbered fifty-eight, and to read as follows:

SEC. 58. Any bank possessing a capital and surplus of one million dollars or more may file application with the superintendent of banks for permission to exercise upon such conditions and under such regulations as he may prescribe, either or both of the following powers:

First. To establish branches in foreign countries or in dependencies or insular possessions of the United States for the furtherance of the foreign commerce of this state and of the United States.

Second. To invest an amount not exceeding in the aggregate ten per centum of its paid in capital stock and surplus in the stock of one or more banks or corporations chartered or incorporated under the laws of the State of California, and principally engaged in international or foreign banking or banking in a dependency or insular possession of the United States either directly or through the agency, ownership or control of local institutions in foreign countries, or in such dependencies or insular possessions.

Such application shall specify the name and capital of the bank having the powers applied for and the place or places where the banking operations proposed are to be carried on. The superintendent of banks shall have power to approve or to reject such application in whole or in part if for any reason the granting of such application is deemed inexpedient; and shall also have power from time to time to increase or decrease the number of places where such banking operations may be carried on.

Every bank operating foreign branches shall be required to furnish information concerning the condition of such branches to the superintendent of banks upon demand, and every bank investing in the capital stock of banks or corporations described under subparagraph two of the first paragraph of this section shall be required to furnish information concerning the condition of such banks or corporations to the superintendent of banks upon demand, and the superintendent of banks may order special examinations of the said branches, banks or corporations at such time or times as he may deem best. The cost of such special examinations shall be paid by said branches, banks or corporations.

B. If any bank shall be permitted to purchase stock in any such corporation the said corporation shall enter into an agreement or undertaking with the superintendent of banks to restrict its operations or conduct its business in such manner or under such limitations and restrictions as the said superintendent of banks may prescribe for the place or places wherein such business is to be conducted. If at any time the superintendent of banks shall ascertain that the regulations by him are not being complied with, said superintendent of banks shall be authorized and shall have power to institute an investigation of the matter and to send for persons and papers; subpoena witnesses and administer oaths in order to satisfy himself as to the actual nature of the transactions referred to. Should such investigation result in establishing the failure of the corporation in question, or of the bank or banks which may be stockholders therein, to comply with the regulations laid down by the said superintendent of banks, such banks may be required to dispose of stockholdings in the said corporation upon thirty days' notice, and in the event of their noncompliance with such order the superintendent of banks may institute proceedings for forfeiture of license.

Every such bank shall conduct the accounts of each foreign branch independently of the accounts of other foreign branches established by it and of its home office, and shall at the end of each fiscal period transfer to its general ledger the profit or loss accruing to each branch as a separate item.

Sec. 13. Section sixty-one of said act is hereby amended to read as follows:

Sec. 61. Any savings bank may purchase, hold and convey real or personal property as follows:

1. 2. Such as may have been mortgaged, pledged or conveyed to it in trust for its benefit in good faith, for money loaned in pursuance of the regular business of the corporation.

3. Such as may have been purchased at any sales under pledge, mortgage or deed of trust made for its benefit for money so loaned and such as may be conveyed to it by borrowers in satisfaction and discharge of loans made thereon.

No savings bank shall purchase, own, or sell personal property, except such as may be requisite for its immediate accommodation for the convenient transaction of its business, notes or bonds secured by trust deeds or mortgages on real estate, bonds, securities or evidences of indebtedness, public or private, gold or silver bullion and United States mint certificates of ascertained value, and evidences of debt issued by the United States. No savings bank shall purchase, own, hold or convey bonds, securities or evidences of indebtedness, public or private, except as follows: •

(a) Bonds or interest-bearing notes or obligations of the United States, or those for which the faith and credit of the United States are pledged for the payment of principal and interest, or those issued under authority of the United States;

(aa) Bonds or interest-bearing notes or obligations of England or the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, or France, or the Dominion of Canada, or those for which the faith and credit of any one or more of said countries are pledged for the payment of principal and interest; or bonds or interest-bearing notes or obligations of any other foreign country or government, which bonds or interest-bearing notes or obligations shall have first been approved by the superintendent of banks in writing;

(b) Bonds of this state, or those for which the faith and credit of the State of California are pledged for the payment of principal and interest, or those of any county, city and county, city or school district of this state;

(c) Bonds or stocks or notes of any state in the United States that has not, within five years previous to making such investment by such bank, defaulted in the payment of any part of either principal or interest, or those of any county, city and county, city or town, in any state of the United States other than the State of California, issued under authority of any law of such state, which county, city and county, city or town, had, as shown by the federal or state census next preceding such investment, a population of more than twenty thousand inhabitants; provided, however, that the entire bonded indebtedness of such county, city and county, city or town, including such issue of bonds or stocks or notes, does not exceed fifteen per centum of the value of the taxable property therein as shown by its last equalized assessment roll; and provided, further, that such county, city and county, city or town, or the state in which it is located has not defaulted in payment of any part of either principal or interest due upon any legally authorized bond or stock or note issue within five years next preceding such investment;

(d) Bonds of any district organized under the laws of the State of California which are required to be and are investigated and approved by a commission now or hereafter authorized by a law of this state to conduct such investigation and give such approval and by authority of which approval said bonds are declared to be legal investments for savings banks;

(e) Bonds of any district organized under the laws of the State of California not otherwise provided for in this section; or those of any mutual water company organized under the laws of this state and operating wholly within this state; provided, that all bonds specified in this paragraph shall first be certified by the superintendent of banks after an investigation in manner and form as is provided for by section sixty-one a of this act; and provided, further, that no bonds of any mutual water company shall be certified by the superintendent of banks unless the company issuing said bonds shall have been in continuous operation for a period of five years next preceding the application for said certificate and shall have served not less than seventy-five per centum of the lands entitled to service by said mutual water company for a period of not less than three years next preceding the application for said certificate:

(f) (1) Bonds of any railroad corporation incorporated under the laws of the State of California and operating exclusively therein; provided, said corporation has had net earnings for the period herein fixed amounting to at least one and one-fourth times the interest on all its outstanding mortgage indebtedness; or,

(2) Bonds of any railroad corporation incorporated under the laws of any state in the United States, operating at least five hundred miles of standard gauge track exclusive of sidings; provided, said corporation has had net earnings for the period herein fixed amounting to at least one and one-half times the interest on all its outstanding mortgage indebtedness; or,

(3) Bonds of any railroad corporation, the payment of which has been guaranteed, both as to principal and interest, by a railroad corporation meeting the requirements of either subdivision (1) or (2) of paragraph (f) of this section; provided, that such guaranteeing corporation has had for the period herein fixed net earnings amounting to at least one and one-half times the interest on all its outstanding mortgage indebtedness and, in addition thereto, sufficient, taken with the earnings of all corporations whose bonds it has guaranteed, to qualify as investments for savings banks, as in this section provided, all such guaranteed bonds; provided, that the excess of income of any corporation whose bonds have been so guaranteed, over the amount required by this section for such corporation, shall not apply to or be included in determining the income so required; provided, further, that the guarantee of such bonds hereafter guaranteed must establish a lien upon all the operating properties of the guaranteeing corporation which lien must take precedence over any subsequent issues of mortgage obligations by said guaranteeing corporation.

In determining the income of any corporation specified in paragraph (f) of subdivision three of this section, there shall be included the income of any corporation or corporations out of which it shall have been formed through consolidation or merger, and of any corporation or corporations, the entire business and income producing property of which the corporation issuing such bonds has wholly acquired.

All bonds authorized for investment by paragraph (f) of subdivision three of this section must be secured by a mortgage or deed of trust which is, at the time of making such investment, either

I. A closed first mortgage or deed of trust; or,

II. A first mortgage or deed of trust containing provisions restricting the issuance of further bonds until such time as the income of said corporation shall have been at least sufficient, during the twelve months next preceding the issuance of any additional bonds, to meet the earning requirements specified in the respective subdivisions of this paragraph applicable to such corporation after including the additional bonds then proposed to be issued; or,

III. A refunding mortgage or deed of trust providing for the retirement of all prior lien mortgage debts of said corporation, and restricting the issuance of further bonds until such time as the income of said corporation shall have been at least sufficient, during the twelve months next preceding the issuance of any additional bonds, to meet the earning requirements specified in the respective subdivisions of this paragraph applicable to such corporation after including the additional bonds then proposed to be issued; or,

IV. An underlying or divisional closed mortgage or deed of trust of property which forms a part of the operating system of the corporation then owning said property. In the case of bonds secured by an underlying or divisional closed mortgage or deed of trust, the net income required by this section shall be based exclusively upon the income, maintenance charges, operating expenses, taxes, and mortgage indebtedness of or against the property covered by such underlying or divisional closed mortgage or deed of trust, or, if such income, maintenance charges or operating expenses can not be definitely ascertained, on the proper proportionate share of such property in the general income, maintenance charges, operating expenses, and taxes of the corporation then owning such property and on the mortgage indebtedness of or against the property covered by such underlying or divisional closed mortgage or deed of trust; provided, however, that if the payment of the bonds secured by such underlying or divisional closed mortgage or deed of trust shall be guaranteed or assumed by the corporation then owning the property securing the same, such bonds shall be legal investments for savings banks, if the net income of such corporation from all sources shall equal the amount herein required, notwithstanding any insufficiency of the income derived from the property covered by such underlying or divisional closed mortgage or deed of trust to meet the requirements of this section; provided, also, that where the corporation owning the properties covered by such underlying mortgages has executed a refunding mortgage providing for the retirement of the bonds secured by such underlying mortgages and where the bonds secured by such refunding mortgage are in conformity with the provisions of this section said underlying bonds shall also qualify as investments for savings banks.

No savings bank shall purchase the bonds of any railroad corporation deriving less than twenty per centum of its gross receipts from passenger revenues.

The term, "railroad corporation," when used in paragraph (f) of subdivision three of this section, shall have the meaning defined in the "public utilities act."

(g) Bonds of any street railroad corporation; or of any gas; water; pipe line; light, power; light and power; gas, light and power; electrical; telephone; telegraph; or telephone and telegraph corporation or of any other "public utility" incorporated under the laws of the State of California; and

(1) Operating exclusively in the State of California, provided said corporation has had, for the period herein fixed, net earnings amounting to one and one-half times the interest on all its outstanding mortgage indebtedness; or.

(2) Operating its property in part within the State of California, provided said corporation has had, for each of its two fiscal years next preceding such investment, net earnings amounting to one and one-half times the interest on all its outstanding mortgage indebtedness; or.

(3) The payment of which is guaranteed, both as to principal and interest, by a public utility corporation meeting the requirements of either subdivision (1) or (2) of paragraph (g) of this section, provided that such guaranteeing corporation has had for the period required in the respective subdivisions of this paragraph relating thereto, net earnings amounting to at least one and one-half times the interest on all of said guaranteeing corporation's outstanding mortgage indebtedness, and, in addition thereto, sufficient, taken with the earnings of all corporations whose bonds it has guaranteed, to qualify as investments for savings banks, as in this section provided, all such guaranteed bonds; provided, that the excess of income of any corporation whose bonds have been so guaranteed, over the amount required by this section for such corporation, shall not apply to or be included in determining the income so required; provided, further, that the guarantee of such bonds hereafter guaranteed must establish a lien upon all the operating properties of the guaranteeing corporation, which lien must take precedence over any subsequent issues of mortgage obligations by said guaranteeing corporation.

In determining the income of any corporation specified in paragraph (a) of subdivision three of this section, there shall be included the income of any corporation or corporations out of which it shall have been formed through consolidation or merger, and of any corporation the entire business and income producing property of which the corporation issuing such bonds has wholly acquired.

All bonds authorized for investment by paragraph (g) of subdivision three of this section must be secured by a mortgage or deed of trust which is at the time of making such investment; either

I. A closed first mortgage or deed of trust; or.

II. A first mortgage or deed of trust containing provisions restricting the issuance of further bonds until such time as the income of said corporation shall have been at least sufficient, during the twelve months next preceding the issuance of any additional bonds, to meet the earning requirements specified in the respective subdivisions of this paragraph applicable to such corporation after including the additional bonds then proposed to be issued; or.

III. A refunding mortgage or deed of trust providing for the retirement of all prior lien mortgage debts of said corporation and restricting the issuance of further bonds until such time as the income of said corporation shall have been at least sufficient, during the twelve months next preceding the issuance of any additional bonds, to meet the earning requirements of such corporation after including the additional bonds then proposed to be issued; or.

IV. An underlying or divisional closed mortgage or deed of trust of property which forms a part of the operating system of the corporation then owning said property. In the case of bonds secured by an underlying or divisional closed mortgage or deed of trust, the net income required by this section shall be based exclusively upon the income, maintenance charges, operating expenses, taxes and mortgage indebtedness of or against the property covered by such underlying or divisional closed mortgage or deed of trust or, if such income, maintenance charges or operating expenses can not be definitely ascertained, on the proper proportionate share of such property in the general income, maintenance charges, operating expenses and taxes of the corporation then owning such property and on the mortgage indebtedness of or against the property covered by such underlying or divisional closed mortgage or deed of trust; provided, however, that if the payment of the bonds secured by such underlying or divisional closed mortgage or deed of trust shall be guaranteed or assumed by the corporation then owning the property securing the same, such bonds shall be legal investments for savings banks, if the net income of such corporation from all sources shall equal the amount herein required, notwithstanding any insufficiency of the income derived from the property covered by such underlying or divisional closed mortgage or deed of trust to meet the requirements of this section; provided, also, that where the corporation owning the properties covered by such underlying mortgages has executed a refunding mortgage providing for the retirement of the bonds secured by such underlying mortgages and where the bonds secured by such refunding mortgage are in conformity with the provisions of this section, said underlying bonds shall also qualify as investments for savings banks.

The terms "street railroad corporation," "pipe line corporation," "gas corporation," "electrical corporation," "telephone corporation," "telegraph corporation," "water corporation," and "public utility," when used in paragraph (g) of subdivision three of this section, shall have the meaning defined in the "public utilities act."

(h) Notes or bonds secured by first mortgage or deed of trust or other first lien upon real estate, improved or unimproved; provided, that the entire note or bond issue shall not exceed sixty per centum of the market value of such real estate, or such real estate with improvements, taken as security; and provided, further, in case the said note or bond issue is created for a building loan on real estate, that at no time shall the entire outstanding note or bond issue exceed sixty per centum of the market value of the real estate and the actual cost of the improvements thereon taken as security.

In determining the market value of any real estate under the provisions of paragraph (h) subdivision three of this section where such real estate, improved or unimproved, consists of oil or other mineral or timber land, the value represented by such oil or other mineral or timber shall not be included in fixing such market value. Nothing herein contained shall prevent savings banks from making loans secured by mortgage or deed of trust upon lands wherein redwood timber is included in fixing the market value thereof.

(i) Collateral trust bonds or notes when secured by either:

(1) Deposit of bonds authorized for investment by this section of a market value at least fifteen per centum in excess of the par value of the collateral trust bonds or notes issued; or,

(2) Deposit of bonds authorized for investment by this section and other securities of a combined market value at least twenty per centum in excess of the par value of the collateral trust bonds or notes issued; provided, that the par value of said collateral trust bonds or notes shall in no case exceed the market value of that portion of the security represented by bonds authorized for investment by this section.

(3) Deposit of any notes or bonds authorized for investment by this section and other securities of a combined market value of at least thirty per centum in excess of the par value of the collateral trust bonds or notes issued; provided, that the par value of such collateral trust bonds or notes issued shall in no case exceed the market value of that portion of the security represented by notes or bonds authorized for investment by this section; provided, further, that the collateral pledged consist of bonds authorized for investment by this section of the market value of at least seventy-five per centum of the par value of such collateral trust bonds or notes issued.

(j) Bonds legal for investment by savings banks in the states of New York or Massachusetts; provided, however, that as to bonds of the character specified in paragraph (c) of subdivision three of this section, such bonds shall also conform to the requirements of such paragraph.

(k) Notes or bonds secured by mortgage or deed of trust, payment of which is guaranteed by a policy of mortgage insurance, and mortgage participation certificates, issued by a mortgage insurance company in accordance with the provisions of chapter eight of title two of part four of division first of the Civil Code.

"Net earnings" as used in this section shall be deemed to mean the amount remaining after deducting from the gross earnings all taxes, maintenance charges and operating expenses except depreciation charges, sinking fund charges and interest on indebtedness.

Unless herein otherwise expressly provided the period for which any corporation must have "net earnings" sufficient to qualify its bonds as an investment for savings banks under this section shall be either the fiscal year of such corporation next preceding the investment therein by any savings bank or twelve consecutive months in the fourteen months next preceding such investment.

No notes, bonds, or other securities shall be deemed to come within or conform to the requirements of either of paragraphs (f), (g), (h), or (i) of subdivision three of this section, unless such notes, bonds or other securities shall, in the manner provided in this act, have been certified by the superintendent of banks to come within and fully conform to the requirements of one or the other of said paragraphs; provided, however, that any bank may, without such certification by the superintendent of banks, purchase any note or bond or issue of notes or bonds provided for in said paragraph (h), whenever such purchase constitutes the entire amount of notes or bonds executed by the makers thereof and secured by the same real estate; provided, also, that no savings bank shall hold any such notes or bonds unless such holding constitutes the entire issue thereof at any time outstanding; and provided, also, that nothing in this paragraph shall be construed to permit savings banks to invest in notes or certificates evidencing participation in any mortgage on real estate unless in this act specifically authorized or in or on any form of obligation secured by any undivided interest in real estate designed to distribute the obligation so secured.

The legality of investments heretofore lawfully made pursuant to the provisions of this section, or of any law of this state as it existed on and subsequent to July 1, 1909, shall not be affected by any amendments to this section or this act; nor shall any such amendments require the changing of investments once lawfully made under this act.

Any bonds authorized by this section as a legal investment for savings banks may be carried on the books of said bank at their investment value, based on their market value at the time they were originally bought, unless the superintendent of banks shall require any or all of the bonds which may thereafter have a market value less than the original investment value to be written down to such new market value which shall be done gradually if practicable and in such manner as he may determine; or he may, by a plan of amortization to be determined by him, require such gradual extinction of premium as will bring such bonds to par at maturity.

When it shall be necessary to prevent loss to any savings bank on an obligation owned or on a debt previously contracted in good faith, it may, with the previous written consent of the superintendent of banks, purchase or acquire bonds of any railroad corporation incorporated under the laws of the State of California and operated exclusively therein, notwithstanding such bonds do not conform to the requirements in this section contained; provided, any bonds so purchased or acquired must be sold for the best price obtainable by any bank within five years after such purchase or acquisition.

No savings bank shall hereafter purchase or loan money upon any bond, note or other evidence of indebtedness, issued by any "public utility," subject to the jurisdiction, regulation or control of the railroad commission of this state under the provisions of the "public utilities act," approved December 23, 1911, and acts amendatory thereof or supplemental thereto, unless each such bond, note or other evidence of indebtedness was either:

(a) Issued prior to the taking effect of the "public utilities act"; or,

(b) Issued under authority of the railroad commission, in accordance with the provisions of said act; or,

(c) A note issued for a period not exceeding twelve months, in accordance with the provisions of subdivision (b) of section fifty-two of said act.

No provision of this act, and no act or deed, done or performed under or in connection therewith, and no finding made or certificate issued under any provision thereof, shall be held or construed to obligate the State of California to pay, or be liable for the payment of, or to guarantee in any manner whatsoever, the regularity or the validity of the issuance of any stock or bond certificate, or bond, note, or other evidence of indebtedness certified under any provision of this act, by the superintendent of banks.

It shall not be lawful for any individual, firm, association, bank, trust company, stock company, copartnership or corporation to advertise by newspaper or circular or in any other manner that any securities are legal investments for savings banks in this state or to use any advertisement which might lead the public to believe that any securities conform to the requirements of law relating to investments by savings banks unless such securities are such as are specified in paragraphs (a), (aa), (b), (c), (d), (e), (j), or (k) of subdivision three of this section or shall, in the manner provided in this act, have been certified by the superintendent of banks to come within and fully conform to the requirements of one or the other of paragraphs (f), (g), (h), or (i) of subdivision three of this section or unless such advertisement shall have been approved in writing by the superintendent of banks prior to publishing, circulating or otherwise issuing the same. Any individual, firm, association, bank, trust company, stock company, copartnership or corporation who shall advertise any securities in violation of the provisions of this paragraph shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punishable by a fine not exceeding one thousand dollars or by imprisonment in a county jail not exceeding one year or by both such fine and imprisonment.

SEC. 14. Section sixty-one a of said act is hereby amended to read as follows:

Sec. 61*a*. The superintendent of banks shall have power, when any issue of bonds or securities is presented to him for that purpose, to investigate and ascertain whether such bonds or securities come within and fully conform to all the requirements of paragraphs (f), (g), (h), or (i) of subdivision three of section sixty-one of this act, or of either of said paragraphs. He may also investigate and ascertain for what period of time, and upon what conditions, any franchise granted to or held by any corporation issuing any such bonds or securities will remain in force, and any other facts or conditions bearing upon the value or sufficiency of such bonds. The superintendent of banks may accept and act upon the opinions and appraisements of any attorneys, engineers, or appraisers which may be presented by such person or corporation, so applying, and the reports of any of the executive officers of the corporation issuing such bonds or securities, on any question of fact concerning or affecting such bonds or securities, the security thereof, the franchise conditions herein mentioned, or the financial condition of the corporation issuing the same. In lieu of or in addition to such opinions, appraisements and reports, the superintendent of banks may, if he deems proper, have any or all such matters passed upon and certified to him by attorneys, engineers, appraisers or accountants of his own selection at the expense of the applicant. If the superintendent of banks shall find from such investigation that the bonds or securities so presented come within and fully conform to all the requirements of any of said paragraphs of subdivision three of section sixty-one of this act, and is satisfied from such investigation as to such franchise conditions, he shall so certify unless for any reason he shall be of the opinion that such bonds are not a safe or proper investment for savings banks, and in such event or if such bonds shall fail to meet the requirements of this act such certificate must be refused. The superintendent of banks also shall have power to investigate and ascertain the status and sufficiency as investments for savings banks of any bonds specified in paragraph (c) of subdivision three of section sixty-one of this act. If upon such investigation it shall be determined in the opinion of the superintendent of banks that any bond specified in said paragraph (c) of subdivision three of section sixty-one of this act constitutes a proper investment for savings banks he shall so certify.

Any certificate issued by the superintendent of banks under authority of the provisions of this section may be revoked at any time in his discretion. Any certificate issued in relation to notes or bonds specified in paragraphs (f), (g) or (i) of subdivision three of section sixty-one of this act shall expire not later than three months after the end of the then current fiscal year of the corporation issuing such notes or bonds.

Any such certificate so expiring may be renewed or extended by the superintendent of banks without application therefor from such corporation or other interested parties if he shall be satisfied that the notes or bonds referred to in said certificate are in conformity with the then requirements of section sixty-one of this act.

The actual expense of investigating any issue of bonds or securities so presented shall be paid by the person, district or corporation presenting the same for investigation, and the superintendent of banks, before making such investigation, may require a cash deposit of such amount as he may deem necessary to cover such expense. The superintendent of banks shall keep an official list of all bonds and securities certified by him.

SEC. 15. Section sixty-two of said act is hereby amended to read as follows:

If any bank shall have become a member of a federal reserve bank, it shall at all times maintain the reserves required by the federal reserve act for time deposits, and in addition thereto shall be required to maintain a reserve of at least two per centum of its aggregate deposits, exclusive of United States, postal savings, state, county and municipal, and other public money deposits, which are secured as is required by law, which two per centum shall consist of gold bullion, or any form of money or currency authorized by the laws of the United States.

SEC. 19. A new section is hereby added to said act, to be numbered seventy, and to read as follows:

Sec. 70. Every savings bank shall have power to receive as depositary, or as bailee for safe keeping and storage, Liberty bonds or other bonds or securities issued by the United States government for war purposes or otherwise.

SEC. 20. Section eighty of said act is hereby amended to read as follows:

SEC. 50. No commercial bank shall make any loans, directly or indirectly, to any person, firm, copartnership or corporation, in an amount which, including therein any extension of credit to such person, firm, copartnership or corporation, by means of letters of credit, or by acceptance of drafts for, or the discount or purchase of the notes, bills of exchange or other obligations of, such person, firm, copartnership or corporation, shall exceed the following percentage of its capital and surplus:

1. Ten per centum without security, except where such capital stock and surplus is not more than twenty-five thousand dollars, in which event an amount not to exceed twenty per centum of such capital stock and surplus may be loaned without security, and where such capital stock and surplus is greater than twenty-five thousand dollars and does not exceed fifty thousand dollars, a sum not exceeding five thousand dollars may be loaned without security. Nothing herein shall prohibit any commercial bank from taking or receiving any kind, character or amount of security whatsoever, either real or personal, for the protection of any loan made under the provisions of this subdivision, but no such loan or any part thereof shall be considered or construed as a secured loan unless the whole thereof is loaned upon security worth at least fifteen per centum more than the amount of such loan; or,

2. Fifteen per centum, in addition to the amount that may be loaned under the provisions of subdivision one of this section, upon security worth at least fifteen per centum more than the amount of such loan so secured; provided, the total amount which can be loaned under subdivisions one and two hereof can not exceed twenty-five per centum in all; provided, however, that a separate note or notes shall be taken for the unsecured loans and a separate note or notes shall be taken for the secured loans, and the secured and unsecured loans shall not be combined in any way within one note, or notes; or,

3. Twenty-five per centum upon security worth at least fifteen per centum more than the amount of its loans so secured; provided, however, that when secured loans to this amount or any amount in excess of fifteen per centum are made, then no unsecured loans shall be permitted in addition to such secured loans; or,

4. Forty per centum, provided such loans are upon commercial or business paper actually owned by the person negotiating the same to such bank, and are endorsed by such person without limitation; provided, however, that in addition to the amounts permitted to be loaned by subdivisions one, two or three of this section, an amount may be loaned on the securities fixed by subdivision four of this section, which taken with the amounts so permitted by said subdivisions one, two or three will not exceed forty per centum; provided, also, that the restrictions under this section shall not apply to bills of exchange or drafts, with bills of lading attached, drawn in good faith against actual existing values; provided, further, that any commercial bank, having first obtained in writing the consent of the superintendent of banks so to do and under such conditions and regulations as may be prescribed by him, may accept drafts or bills of exchange drawn upon it running for a period of not longer than six months, but no commercial bank shall accept such drafts or bills of exchange in an amount greater at any time in the outstanding aggregate than one-half of its capital and surplus; but such acceptance or acceptances must be drawn by a person, firm, copartnership or corporation engaged in agricultural, industrial or commercial business directly connected with the production, manufacture, purchase, sale or consignment of the goods involved in the transaction in which the acceptance originated; provided, however, that no such acceptance or acceptances to any one person, firm, copartnership or corporation shall exceed ten per centum of the capital and surplus of such bank.

None of the limitations or restrictions contained in the previous subdivisions of this section shall apply to loans, discounts or other extensions of credit secured by Liberty bonds or by other bonds or securities issued by the United States government, if the market value of such Liberty bonds or other securities exceeds by ten per centum the amount of any such loan, discount or other extension of credit.

Loans which are made upon security available for loans in a savings bank may be made in a commercial bank upon the same margin of security as is permitted to savings banks anything in this section to the contrary notwithstanding, and all such loans shall be deemed to be secured loans within the meaning of this section.

In computing the total liabilities of any person to a commercial bank there shall be included all liabilities to the bank of any copartnership or unincorporated association of which he is a member, and any loans made for his benefit or for the benefit of such copartnership or unincorporated association; of any firm, copartnership or unincorporated association to a commercial bank there shall be included all liabilities of its individual members and all loans made for the benefit of such copartnership or unincorporated association or any member thereof; and of any corporation to a commercial bank there shall be included all loans made for the benefit of the corporation.

SEC. 21. Section eighty-three of said act is hereby amended to read as follows:

SEC. 83. No loan shall be made for himself or as agent or partner of another, directly or indirectly, to any officer of any commercial bank by such bank or on the endorsement, surety, or guaranty of any such officer; provided, that a loan may be made to a corporation of which any officer of a commercial bank, proposing to make such loan, is a minority stockholder, director, officer, agent or employee. Loans to any director, agent or employee other than an officer, or to any firm, copartnership or corporation of which any director, agent or employee other than an officer is a member, stockholder, director, officer, agent or other employee, or to any person, firm, copartnership or corporation on the endorsement, surety, or guaranty of any such director other than an officer, agent or other employee, can be made by any commercial bank; and provided, further, that a loan may be made or a line of credit may be given to any member of an advisory board or body of a commercial bank, not otherwise an officer of such bank, or a loan may be made to any firm, copartnership or corporation of which any member of such advisory board or body is a member, stockholder, director, officer, agent or other employee, or to any person, firm, copartnership, or corporation on the endorsement, surety, or guaranty of any such member of such advisory board or body upon such conditions as are herein fixed for a loan, directly or indirectly, or a line of credit and the report thereof to any director of such bank. Loans herein authorized can be made only on authorization of or confirmation within thirty days after making such loan, by a majority of all the directors of such bank and the affirmative vote of all directors of such bank present at the meeting authorizing or confirming such loan. Such interested director shall not vote or participate in any manner in the action of the board on such loan; provided, that by and with the consent of the superintendent of banks previously obtained in writing, all directors may vote upon such a loan made by one bank to another bank where the entire capital stock of one is owned by or held in trust for the stockholders of the other bank and where all or a majority of the board of directors of each of said banks are composed of the same persons. The board of directors of any such bank may fix the total amount of credit that may at any one time during the twelve months next succeeding be given to any director, agent, or other employee, other than an officer, or to any firm, copartnership, or corporation in which any director, agent, or other employee other than an officer is a member, stockholder, director, officer, agent or other employee or to any corporation of which any officer of a commercial bank, proposing to fix such total amount of credit, is a minority stockholder, director, officer, agent or employee, and any or all loans made within or up to the total amount of such authorized credit may at any time during said twelve months be renewed from time to time, in whole or in part, by the officers of the bank without any further vote or action on the part of the board of directors. Each such authorization shall be entered upon the records or minutes of said bank. No director shall vote or participate in any manner in such action of the board fixing the total amount of credit that may at any one time be given to himself or to any firm, copartnership or corporation in which he is a member, stockholder, director, officer, agent or other employee. The fact of making such loan, the names of the directors authorizing such loan, the name of the director, agent or employee, obtaining such loan, or the name of the firm, copartnership or corporation in which such director, agent or employee is interested, or the name of the corporation, of which any officer of a commercial bank is a minority stockholder, director, officer, agent or employee, obtaining such loan, the amount of such loan, the rate of interest thereon, the time when the loan will become due, the amount, character and value of security given therefor, if any, and the fact of final payment when made shall forthwith be reported in writing by the cashier or secretary of such bank to the superintendent of banks. In case a loan is made to a corporation there shall be reported in the same manner the name of each director and officer of such bank who is a member, stockholder, director, officer or employee of such borrowing corporation and the amount of stock held by him in such borrowing corporation. All the provisions of this section relating to reports shall apply to the granting of credit and all loans made under any credit given and payments made thereon shall also be reported immediately after the same is made. In case of a loan made without the previous authorization of the directors, the fact of making such loan shall forthwith be reported and the action of the board of directors, in confirming or refusing to confirm such loan within thirty days thereafter, and the fact of final payment when made shall be reported in the same manner as herein required for loans made under previous authorization. Any officer, director, agent, or employee of a commercial bank, who knowingly procures a loan from such commercial bank contrary to the provisions of this section, shall be guilty of a felony. In case of the neglect or failure of the secretary or cashier of any such bank to report to the superintendent of banks, as herein provided, any of the facts so required to be reported, or in case of the neglect or failure of the secretary or cashier of any such bank to report to the superintendent of banks any loan made contrary to the provisions of this section, the bank shall be liable therefor and shall forfeit to the people of the State of California twenty-five dollars per day for each day, or part thereof, during which such neglect or failure continues.

This section shall not apply to any loan made to a religious corporation, club, or other membership corporation of which one or more directors, officers, agents or employees of such commercial bank may be members or officers but in which they have no financial interest.

No loan may be made to any corporation, a majority of the stock of which is owned or controlled by any one or more of the directors or officers of such commercial bank, except with the previous consent of the superintendent of banks.

Loans may be made to any director, other than an officer, directly or indirectly, or to any agent or employee of a commercial bank, on the security of United States bonds, United States treasury certificates, or interest-bearing notes, or obligations of the United States, or those for which the faith and credit of the United States are pledged for repayment of principal or interest, or those issued under authority of the United States, notwithstanding anything in this section contained, and such loans may be made in the usual manner of making loans in which no director of such bank is interested.

SEC. 22. Section ninety of said act is hereby amended to read as follows:

Whenever fifty, or a majority, of the holders of title or evidence of title who shall hold a majority in acreage or two-thirds the holders of title or evidence of title holding one-third in acreage of the land in any body of wet, swamp or overflowed lands or lands otherwise needing drainage or irrigated lands, which through the use of water on said lands contribute to the need for drainage, situated in one or more counties in this state, the whole or any part of which may be within or without the exterior boundaries of any municipal corporation or corporations, shall desire to form a drainage district for the purpose of having such lands or other property reclaimed or protected from the effects of water, for agricultural or sanitary purposes when such reclamation or protection will be conducive to the public health, convenience or welfare or be of general public benefit, they may proceed under the provisions of this act.

The equalized county assessment roll next preceding the presentation of the petition shall be sufficient evidence of title for the purposes of this act, except that where property is assessed to unknown owners or the assessment roll does not purport to give the true name, or gives the names of a portion only of the owners of any parcel, the actual owners of said property shall be considered the owners for all the purposes of this act and owners of undivided interests may sign for such interests and each such owner shall be considered as one owner; and provided, further, that guardians, executors, administrators or other persons holding property in a trust capacity under appointment of court may sign any petition provided for in this act, when authorized by an order of court. Any person owning land or other property within the proposed district whose ownership does not appear on the assessment roll may by making affidavit of such ownership be accorded the privileges of this act. Any transfer of title made for the purpose of establishing or defeating the prayer of said petition, and not made in good faith and for a valuable consideration, shall be taken and held to be a fraud, and for the purposes of this act the grantee therein shall not be considered as the owner of the land described therein. Such illegal signing however shall not invalidate such petition when there shall be found a sufficient number of legal petitioners.

SEC. 2. In order to propose the organization of a drainage district, a petition shall be presented to the board of supervisors of the county in which the lands and other property within the proposed district, or the greater portion in acreage thereof, are situated, signed by the required number of holders of title or evidence of title, which petition shall recite that the public health, convenience, welfare or benefit will be promoted and shall set forth the name and the boundary lines of the proposed district and if any of the owners of land in said district are non-residents of the county or counties in which the proposed district lies, the petition shall be accompanied by an affidavit giving the names and post-office addresses of such non-residents, if such are known, and if unknown shall state that upon diligent inquiry their names or post-office addresses, whichever may be the fact, can not be ascertained. The petitioners must accompany the petition with a good and sufficient bond, to be approved by the board of supervisors, in the sum of five hundred dollars, conditioned that the obligors will pay all the costs in case such organization is not effected. Any petition provided for by this act may consist of any number of separate instruments which, either before or at the time of presenting to the board of supervisors, shall be incorporated into one instrument and thereafter be considered as one petition. No petitioner shall have the right to withdraw from said petition except with the consent of a majority of the other petitioners, or where it shall be shown to the satisfaction of the board of supervisors that the signature of the petitioner was obtained by fraud or misrepresentation.

Said petition shall be presented at a regular meeting of said board of supervisors who shall immediately set a date for hearing which shall be not less than one month nor more than two months from the date of presentation. Said board of supervisors shall give notice, to all persons interested, of said petition and of said order setting the date of hearing thereof in the manner provided for in section three of this act. Said notice shall contain a copy of the petition and all the names signed thereto and also a copy of the order setting the date for the hearing thereof, and further shall notify all persons interested to file objections, if any they have, to the granting of said petition on or before the date set for said hearing. The date of the last publication of said notice shall be not less than one week nor more than five weeks from the date of said hearing. Within five days after setting the date for hearing said petition by the board of supervisors the clerk of said board of supervisors shall send a copy of said notice to the state engineer, who, before the date set for hearing may make, or cause to be made, such an investigation as may be practicable with a view to determining whether any condition or conditions exist that would justify him in reporting against the organization of the proposed district. If he so finds he shall file a report in writing on the matter to the board of supervisors from which said notice was received setting forth his objections, with or without recommendations, on or before the date set for hearing, and the hearing may be adjourned for one month and may then be dismissed or may be continued from time to time but not to exceed four weeks in all; provided, that the board of supervisors may modify the petition for the proposed district in accordance with the recommendations of the state engineer or the petitioners and grant the same. Failure by the state engineer to file such report shall not invalidate the organization of any district, nor shall any board of supervisors, because of failure to receive a report from the state engineer, delay the proceedings for a longer period than is allowed herein. At said hearing the board of supervisors shall determine whether or not said petition complies with the requirements hereinbefore set forth and the affidavit of any three (3) or more of the petitioners that they have examined said petition and are acquainted with the locality of said proposed district and that the said petition is signed by the required number of land owners, may be taken as prima facie evidence of the facts stated therein, and whether or not the notice has been given as required, and said board must hear all competent and relevant testimony offered in support of or in opposition thereto and shall make such changes in the proposed boundaries as it may deem advisable and shall define and establish such boundaries, but said board of supervisors shall not modify said boundaries so as to exclude from such proposed district any territory which may be assessed for any of the benefits set forth in section seventeen of this act, or deprive itself of jurisdiction. During the time of the hearing any person, corporation, guardian, executor, administrator or other person owning and controlling land contiguous to the proposed drainage district may petition the board of supervisors to have such land included. If said petition is granted it shall become a part of the original petition and said owner or owners shall thereafter be considered as having signed the original petition and shall be subject to all conditions imposed on other petitioners. After hearing all of the evidence to be submitted the board of supervisors must by resolution either dismiss or grant the petition as presented or as altered by it. The dismissal of such petition shall be without prejudice to a new petition covering the same or other matter at this or any future meeting of the board of supervisors. Upon the passing of any resolution to dismiss or to grant the petition as herein provided, the board of supervisors shall make an order setting forth all of the facts, which shall be entered in the minutes of the said board of supervisors and a copy thereof shall be filed in the office of the state engineer. A certified copy of such order shall be immediately filed for record in the office of the county recorder of each county in which any lands embraced in such district are situated, and from and after such filing the organization of the district shall be complete.

SEC. 3. Whenever as in this act provided, it is necessary to give notice of any meeting, hearing, or any other proceedings the giving of said notice unless otherwise provided shall follow as far as practicable the procedure herein provided. First, publication not less than once each week for two consecutive weeks in some newspaper of general circulation published in the county in which the district is situated, if in more than one county then in a newspaper of general circulation published in each such county. Second, by posting a printed copy of said notice for a period of not less than ten days in at least five public places in the district, at least two of which posted notices must be in each county in which any portion of the district is situated. Third, by mailing within three days after the first publication a printed copy of said notice to each nonresident owner whose post office address is known. The certificate of the clerk or the affidavit of any other person, affixed to a copy of said notice shall be sufficient evidence of the posting, mailing, and publication of said notices.

SEC. 4. The board of directors or any holder of title or evidence of title to land lying in said district may at any time after the organization is complete bring an action in the superior court of the county in which said district was organized to determine the validity of the organization of said district. Such action shall be commenced by filing a petition reciting the boundaries of said district and the steps taken in such organization and concluding with a prayer that said district be declared to be a drainage district legally organized and existing under this act. Such action shall be in the nature of a proceeding in rem and jurisdiction of all parties interested may be had by publications of summons at least once a week for three weeks in some newspaper of general circulation published in said county and jurisdiction shall be complete within ten days after full publication of such summons as herein provided. At any time before the expiration of said ten days any interested party may appear and contest the validity of such organization. Such action shall be speedily tried and judgment rendered declaring that said district is or is not a drainage district legally organized and existing under this act. Either party shall have the right to appeal within thirty days after entry of such judgment, which appeal shall be entitled to early hearing and determination in the appellate court.

At any time after the execution of any bonds of said district by the board of directors before or after the sale of said bond, said board or any interested party may bring a like action in such court to determine the validity of such bonds. In such action the petition shall recite the boundaries of said district and the steps taken toward the execution of said bonds and shall conclude with a prayer that the said bonds and the coupons attached thereto be declared to be legally executed and valid and existing obligations of said district. Upon like proceedings shall hear and determine said action and render judgment subject to like appeal that said bonds and coupons are or are not legally executed and valid and existing obligations of said district.

SEC. 5. At the time of, or within two weeks after, the granting of any petition for the formation of a drainage district as hereinbefore provided the board of supervisors shall appoint three competent and qualified persons to act as directors of said drainage district, and designate their terms of office which shall continue for three, two and one years respectively after the date of the first annual meeting. At the last regular meeting of the board of supervisors preceding the annual meeting of the board of directors of the drainage district as provided for in section twenty-two of this act, the board of supervisors shall appoint one competent and qualified person to succeed in office the director whose term expires at the time of said annual meeting. Said director shall hold office for three years or until his successor is appointed and qualified. In case a vacancy occurs on the board of directors of the drainage district, the board of supervisors shall appoint a qualified person to fill such vacancy for the period of the unexpired term.

SEC. 6. No person shall become a director of any drainage district organized under the provisions of this act who is not the holder of title or evidence of title to land within the district and a qualified elector of the State of California. The office of any director of a drainage district organized under this act shall become vacant when such director, for any reason, does not possess the qualifications herein provided and such vacancy shall be filled as hereinbefore provided.

SEC. 7. Each director before entering upon his official duties shall take and subscribe to an oath before some officer authorized by law to administer oaths, that he will honestly, faithfully and impartially perform the duties devolving upon him in office as director of said drainage district, and that he will not neglect any of the duties imposed upon him by this act. Upon taking the oath of office each director shall give a bond to the State of California for the benefit of said drainage district for the faithful performance of his duties as director in the penal sum of two thousand dollars, said bond to be acceptable to and filed with the board of supervisors.

He shall have custody of all funds of the district except the bond fund and shall pay out money only on warrant duly supported by certified vouchers. He shall prepare an annual report of receipts and disbursements, and monthly statements of accounts.

The board of directors shall hold a regular monthly meeting in its office at such time as it shall fix by a resolution duly entered upon the minutes, and when the time for such monthly meeting has been fixed it cannot again be changed for three months, and it can only be changed upon resolution passed at least one month prior to the time such change shall take effect. At each regular meeting the minutes of the previous regular meeting and of all special meetings held since the last preceding regular meeting must be read. Such special meetings may be held as may be required for the proper transaction of the business; provided, that all special meetings must be called by the president after all members of the board of directors have been notified of such meeting; provided, also, that any special meeting may be held at a place other than the office of said district. Such publication shall appear at least once prior to the date of the annual meeting in some newspaper published within the county or counties in which the district is located.

Notice of said special meeting shall be given in the manner provided for in section three. At any special meeting the wishes of the owners as shown by a majority of the votes cast shall govern so far as is practicable the actions of the board of directors.

Nothing in this section shall be held to prohibit the board of directors from holding any mass meeting or other gathering of any or all of the owners in the district for the purposes of discussion with them or obtaining from them an expression of opinion on any subject relating to the affairs of the district which mass meeting may be called at the time of any regular or special meeting of the board of directors and notice thereof may be given in any manner which the board of directors may from time to time approve; provided, that it shall be left to the discretion of the board of directors as to the action taken by it on any opinion expressed at such mass meeting.

SEC. 12. The board of directors shall have the power and it shall be its duty, to manage and conduct the business and affairs of the district, make and execute all necessary contracts, appoint an engineer and an attorney and employ such other agents, officers and employees as may be required, fix their compensation and prescribe their duties. The board of directors and its agents and employees shall have the right to enter upon any land to make surveys and may locate the necessary drains and any other works thereon which are deemed desirable or necessary to accomplish the object of the district. The board of directors shall also have the right to acquire by purchase, lease, contract, condemnation, or other legal means, all lands and other property necessary for the construction, use, maintenance, repair, improvement, or protection of any drain or other works which are deemed necessary. The board of directors may also construct any and all necessary drains or any other works and do any and every lawful act necessary to be done that the lands and other property within the district may be drained and protected from the effects of water.

The board of directors in the name of the drainage district, is hereby authorized and empowered to take conveyances, leases, contracts and other assurances to all property acquired by it under the provisions of this act, and to institute and maintain any and all actions and proceedings, suits at law or in equity, necessary or proper in order fully to carry out the provisions of this act, or to enforce, maintain, protect or preserve any and all rights, privileges and immunities created by this act, or acquired in pursuance thereof, and in all court actions, suits, and proceedings, the said board of directors may sue or be sued and appear and defend in person or by attorney. administration of the affairs of the district. The board of directors shall create separate and distinct funds to be known as the general fund, the construction fund, the bond fund, and the maintenance fund.

SEC. 13. The board of directors shall as soon as practicable after organization appoint a practicing attorney who may be an individual or partnership. The board of directors may by an order duly entered on the records of the district specify the compensation of said attorney or the board of directors may leave the fixing of said compensation to the board of supervisors of the county in which the district was organized. Such attorney, under direction of the board of directors, shall conduct all legal proceedings and suits in court where the district is a party or interested and shall in all legal matters advise and consult with the board of directors and other officers or employees of said district, and generally look after and attend to all matters of a legal nature for said district. The board of directors may with the advice of said attorney and under like terms and conditions as above set forth retain other attorney or attorneys.

SEC. 14. The board of directors shall as soon as practicable after organization appoint an engineer, who may be an individual, partnership, firm, or corporation, and fix his compensation.

The engineer shall make all the necessary surveys, plans, specifications and have charge of all of the engineering and construction work of the district. He shall whenever requested by the board of directors be present at any special or regular meeting and shall make such reports and in such manner as requested.

At or before the regular meeting of the board of directors which precedes the annual meeting, the engineer shall make an annual report showing the progress of any engineering work including construction, repair and maintenance done during the preceding year. Said report of the engineer when adopted by the board of directors shall become a part of its annual report.

Upon receipt of the final report of the engineer concerning surveys made of the lands and other property in the district and the plans and specifications for draining, reclaiming or protecting the same, the board of directors shall examine and may adopt such report or modification thereof approved by the engineer and thereafter such adopted report shall be the plan for draining, reclaiming, or protecting such lands and other property, and it shall be known as "the plan for drainage," which plan shall be filed with the secretary of the board of directors and by him made a part of the records of the district. If the work to be constructed is of such a nature and in such location as to be within the jurisdiction of the state reclamation board, the approval of that said board shall be obtained before the plans are adopted.

SEC. 15. The board of directors of any drainage district organized under the provisions of this act shall, as soon as appointed and qualified, levy a uniform tax, to be designated and hereafter known as the "organization tax," of one dollar per acre upon each acre of land within the district as defined in the order of the board of supervisors creating such district, to be used for the purpose of paying expenses incurred or to be incurred in organizing said district, making surveys of the same and assessing the benefits and awarding damages and to pay other expenses necessary to be incurred before other funds are available. Said organization tax immediately shall become due and payable at the office of the treasurer of the district and shall become delinquent sixty days after date of notice, and shall bear interest thereafter at the rate of seven per cent per annum.

As soon as said organization tax is levied the secretary of the board of directors shall prepare a list of said taxes which shall be signed and certified to by the president and secretary of the board of directors, attested by the seal of the district, and the same shall thereafter become a permanent record in the office of the secretary.

The board of directors shall immediately upon the completion of the organization tax list give notice thereof as prescribed in section three of this act, describing the property to be taxed, the number of acres, rate per acre and total amount of tax, the place for paying same and the date said tax becomes delinquent.

Upon payment of any organization tax the treasurer of the district shall give his receipt therefor and preserve a record showing the amount paid, date of payment and the name of the person making such payment.

Not more than one organization tax shall be levied in any district organized under the provisions of this act; provided, however, in case the boundary lines of the district be extended under the provisions of a subsequent section of this act so as to include lands and other property not described in the order creating the district, the same uniform organization tax shall apply to such lands as soon as the same shall have been annexed and included in the district. In case the sum from such organization tax exceeds the total cost of items for which same has been levied, the surplus shall be placed in the general fund of the district and be credited to the assessment for the construction fund.

SEC. 16. Immediately after the expiration of the date on which organization taxes are delinquent the secretary of the district shall transmit a certified copy of that part of said organization tax list which is delinquent, affecting land in each county, to the tax collector of each county in which lands of said district are situated, who shall collect such taxes at the same time and in the same manner as delinquent state and county taxes and when collected shall pay the same to the treasurer of said district.

SEC. 17. After adopting the plan for drainage as provided for in section fourteen, the board of directors accompanied and assisted by the engineer or one of his assistants shall proceed to view the lands of the district and determine the value of all land and other property within or without the district to be acquired or used for rights of way for any drain or other works set forth in the plan for drainage, and shall assess the amount of benefits, and award the amount of damage, if any, that are to accrue to each tract or subdivision of land, public highway, railroad, and other interest or property by the carrying out and putting into effect the plan for drainage heretofore adopted. The board of directors may, if in their opinion more equitable assessments can be made thereby, adopt a certain number of acres as the maximum sized tract to be assessed separately. The assessed benefits to public highways, railroads, and other rights of way, excepting, however, canals carrying water for irrigation, power, domestic, or other use and their respective rights of way, shall be based on the increased physical efficiency and decreased maintenance cost and other benefits to result from the proposed improvements.

In ascertaining the benefits to canals carrying water for irrigation, power or domestic or other purposes or their respective rights of way, the board of directors may consider the relation between the probable amount of water lost by seepage or waste from said canals to the detriment of lands and other property in the district and the probable total amount of water causing such detriment. If the district be irrigated, the board of directors in determining the benefits to any tract of land, shall consider the protection of the tract itself against future injury or the possibility for caring for the seepage or waste water from the tract which may be of injury to other land. The board of directors shall prepare a report of its findings which will show in a clear and concise manner and in tabular form, the owner of property, description of property, number of acres in each tract assessed, amount of benefits assessed, amount of damages awarded, and the assessment for the construction fund which must be in proportion to the assessment of benefits. In establishing the construction fund, the board of directors, shall, by and with the advice of the engineer of the district, estimate the cost of the work set out in the plan for drainage which estimate shall include cost of property required for rights of way and other works, discount on bonds including interest on bonds for a period not exceeding two years, interest on warrants, and such other expenses as are right and proper plus an amount equal to fifteen per cent of the sum of the foregoing, to provide for delinquencies and incidentals, and said report shall also contain an estimate of the amount of bonds to be issued and shall be signed by the board of directors.

SEC. 18. Upon its completion the report provided for in section seventeen shall be filed with the clerk of the board of supervisors of the county in which the district was organized. Within ten days after filing of said report the board of supervisors shall give notice thereof, in the manner provided in section three, to all persons against whose property benefits have been assessed or damages have been awarded, or from whom rights of way are to be acquired as set forth in said report. It shall not be necessary to publish the report but it will be sufficient to say:

All remonstrances shall be heard by the board of supervisors as herein provided and determined in such manner as to carry out the purposes and needs of the district, and if it appears to the satisfaction of the board of supervisors, after having heard and determined all of said remonstrances, that the assessment of benefits and the assessment for the construction fund and the award of damages are just and reasonable, and that the estimated cost of constructing the improvements contemplated is not excessive and is less than the benefits assessed against the land and other property in said district and that the plan for drainage is in all respects adequate and feasible, and that the proposed bond issue is necessary and ample, the board of supervisors shall by order confirm the organization of the district and shall approve and confirm said report as submitted by the board of directors or as modified and amended, equalizing and finally determining the assessment of benefits made and levied upon each tract of land and other property within the district, and shall approve the bond issue proposed therein, but if it is found that the assessment for the construction fund is excessive or is greater than the assessment of benefits, the board of supervisors shall by order dismiss the proceedings and declare the district dissolved.

Upon the confirmation of the organization and the approval of the report the assessment for the construction fund shall attach to and become a lien upon the lands within the district and shall immediately become due and payable and if not paid within 60 days shall become delinquent and any unpaid portion shall bear interest at the rate of seven per cent per annum.

The clerk of the board of supervisors shall transmit a certified copy of the order and a copy of the report as approved to the secretary of the board of directors of the drainage district and it shall be made and become a part of the permanent records of the district. The clerk of the board of supervisors shall make and transmit to the recorder of each county in which the district is located a certified copy of the said order and that part of the said report affecting land in such county and the same shall be filed for record.

SEC. 20. Notice of such election shall be given as prescribed in section three of this act, which notice must specify the time of holding the election, the boundaries of precincts established by the board of directors, the voting places in such precincts, and the amount of bonds proposed to be issued. Said board of directors may by resolution establish one or more precincts for such election and the location of the voting places therein.

Said election must be held and the result thereof determined and declared by said board of directors as nearly as practicable in conformity with general law as to elections; provided that no informality shall invalidate the same, if the election shall have been otherwise fairly conducted.

All persons shall be entitled to vote at such election in accordance with the provisions of section eleven of this act, and shall receive and cast one ballot for each vote to which he is entitled. The ballots shall contain the words "Bonds: Yes" and "Bonds: No" or words equivalent thereto. If a majority of the votes cast are "Bonds: Yes" the board of directors shall cause bonds in said amount to be issued. If a majority of the votes cast are "Bonds: No" the result of such election shall be so declared.

SEC. 21. In case of condemnation proceedings, the board of directors of said drainage district shall proceed, in the name of the district, under the provisions of title VII of part III of the Code of Civil Procedure and amendments thereto now existing or which may hereafter be made, which said provisions are hereby made applicable for that purpose, and it is hereby declared that the use of the property which may be condemned, taken or appropriated under the provisions of this act, is a public use, subject to the regulations and control of the state in the manner prescribed by law.

SEC. 22. The board of directors of said district shall have full power and authority to build, construct, excavate, complete and maintain all or any works and improvements which may be needed to carry out the plan for drainage. To accomplish that end the board of directors is hereby authorized and empowered either to employ men and teams and to purchase machinery, employ men to operate same and directly have charge of and construct the works of improvements, or let a contract or contracts for such works and improvements either as a whole or in part, to the lowest and best bidder after having advertised for not less than three weeks that bids would be received and opened at the time and place specified in said advertisement; provided, that any and all bids may be rejected and the right reserved to call for new bids. If the bids are again rejected the board of directors shall call a mass meeting of the property owners as provided for in section ten, at which time the manner and method of carrying out the provisions of the plan for drainage will be discussed. Each bid shall be accompanied by a certified check, or an acceptable bidder's bond, payable to the district, in amount of not less than five per cent of the amount of such bid. The check or bond accompanying the accepted bid shall be kept by the secretary of the board of directors until the contract for doing such work has been entered into. The bidder to whom the contract is awarded shall, upon entering into said contract, execute a bond, with good and sufficient surety, preferably a surety company, to be approved by the board of directors payable to the district for its use, in the amount of one-half the contract price, conditioned that he will well and promptly carry out the contract for such work and improvements, which contract shall be in writing and to which shall be attached and made a part thereof, complete plans and specifications of the work to be done and the improvements to be made under said contract. The engineer shall have charge of all the works and improvements and shall whenever required and at least once each year as hereinbefore provided, make a full report to the board of directors of all work done and improvements made and make such suggestions and recommendations to the board of directors as he may deem proper. Whenever, from time to time, during the progress of the work it is found that it will be to the advantage of the district to make changes in the plan for drainage heretofore adopted such changes may be made with the approval of the engineer; provided, that changes which will cause a less benefit to any land or other property than that approved by the board of supervisors shall be made only after instituting and conducting proceedings similar so far as practicable to those provided for in section nineteen of this act.

SEC. 23. On the second Tuesday of January of each year the board of directors shall call an annual meeting of the owners of land and other property in the district in the manner provided for in section three and such meeting shall be held at the time and place stated in the notice for the purpose of hearing the annual report of the board of directors and for the conduct of other business.

At any annual meeting, provided for under this act, the president of the board of directors, shall act as chairman of the meeting.

SEC. 24. It shall be the duty of the board of directors in the preparation of the annual report to submit a budget showing the amount necessary to be levied against the lands and other property within the district within the current year. Said budget shall provide for funds for the purpose of constructing drainage works and maintaining the same, liquidating district warrants and paying interest thereon, paying interest upon the bonded indebtedness of the district and retiring any maturing bonds, and for the management and control of the district, plus fifteen per cent of the sum of the foregoing to provide for incidentals and possible delinquencies.

On or before the first Monday in February of each year a copy of said budget shall be certified to the board of supervisors of the county in which said district is situated and it shall be the duty of said board of supervisors to levy a tax, at the time of levying county taxes, to be known as the "(name of the district) drainage district tax" sufficient to raise the amount of said budget. The tax so levied shall, by the county auditor, be computed in proportion to the benefits as shown by the equalized assessment of benefits and entered on the assessment roll and shall be collected at the same time and in the same manner as the state and county taxes and when collected shall be paid into the county treasury for the use of said district. In the event that such budget is not so submitted or is insufficient to provide for the bond fund requirements, it shall be the duty of the board of supervisors forthwith to require that such budget be immediately submitted or amended. If such district lies in more than one county the budget shall be divided by the board of directors in proportion to the assessment of benefits on the lands of said district in each county and shall certify to the board of supervisors of each county the part of said budget apportioned to such county.

It shall be the duty of the county treasurer of the county in which the district was organized to retain such portion of said taxes as is required for the bond fund and at intervals, not less than twice a year he shall pay the balance to the treasurer of the drainage district. The treasurer of any county in which part of said district may lie but in which county said district was not organized, must at intervals, not less than twice a year pay all said taxes received by him to the treasurer of the county in which said district was organized. The treasurer of the district shall keep all funds received by him from any source whatsoever in a depository which is legally entitled to receive deposits of public money. All interest accruing on such funds shall be credited to the district.

SEC. 25. All warrants issued under the provisions of this act shall be numbered consecutively, bear the date of issue and name the fund out of which the money is to be paid and the purpose for which issued. If any warrant is not paid when presented, because of lack of sufficient funds, such fact with the date of presentation shall be endorsed on the back of such warrant and such warrant shall draw interest thereafter at the rate of seven per cent per annum, until such time as there is money on hand sufficient to pay the amount of such warrant and the interest then accumulated.

SEC. 26. Whenever in the progress of the construction of any of the improvements set forth in the plan for drainage it shall become necessary to construct any portion of said improvement across, over or under any public highway, canal, railroad or right of way, the secretary of the board of directors shall serve notice in writing upon the public officers, corporation or persons having charge of or controlling or owning such public highway, canal, railroad or right of way of the present necessity of such crossing, giving the location, kind, dimensions, and requirements thereof, for the purposes of the district, and stating a reasonable time to be fixed by the engineer, within which plans for such crossings must be filed for approval of the engineer and the board of directors of the district. In case the public officers, corporations, or persons controlling or owning such public highway, canal, railroad or right of way desire to construct such crossing, within the time fixed in the notice they may submit duplicate detailed plans for the approval of the engineer of the district who shall examine and may modify the same to meet the requirements of the district, and when such plans or modified plans are approved by the board of directors of the drainage district, one copy shall be retained by said board of directors for its records, the other copy to be returned and the officers, corporation, or person controlling such public highway, canal, railroad or right of way shall, within the time specified by the board of directors, construct said crossing in accordance with said approved plans.

In case of the failure on the part of any officers, corporations or persons, owning or controlling said public highway, canal, railroad or right of way across, over or under which crossings are desired by the district, to submit plans for said crossings within the time specified, the board of directors shall proceed to construct or cause to be constructed such crossings according to the plans and specifications of the engineer of the district. Such crossings shall be constructed in such a manner as to cause no unnecessary injury or interference with such uses as are made of said public highway, canal, railroad or rights of way by those controlling the same.

The cost of constructing any crossings as herein provided shall be paid by the drainage district; provided, however, that only such crossings or portions thereof as would not be necessary but for the construction of the works of said drainage district shall be a proper charge against said district. All crossings constructed under the provisions of this act, over, under, or across any public highway, canal, railroad or right of way shall be maintained by and at the expense of the corporation or person owning said public highway, canal, railroad or right of way and same shall be done in a manner approved by the board of directors of the drainage district.

SEC. 27. All surety bonds required to be given by this act shall be made payable to the State of California for the benefit of the district, in the name of which all suits shall be instituted and prosecuted. All proceeds herein named shall be recoverable by and payable to said district. All claims required by this act shall cover default of deputies, clerks, or assistants of the officers appointed herein.

SEC. 28. The board of directors of any drainage district organized under this act shall have the right to file upon, appropriate, and under due process of law governing such cases obtain title to, in the name of the district, any and all water developed, or collected by any drains or other works constructed by and with the authority of said district, said waters to be known and designated as drainage water. The board of directors may use, lease, control, or otherwise dispose of any drainage water, to which title has been acquired; provided, however, that no disposition shall be made of said drainage water that will deprive the district of the title thereto; and provided, further, that the board of directors shall have neither power nor authority to fix or guarantee, for purposes of lease or other disposition of said drainage water, the amount thereof.

Any and all proceeds from the use or disposition of said drainage water shall be used for the benefit of the district in such manner as the board of directors may adopt.

SEC. 29. Any bonds issued under the provisions of this act shall constitute a lien upon the real property within the district and shall not exceed in amount ninety per cent of the assessment for the construction fund. They may mature at any time or times designated by the board of directors, but not to exceed twenty years, shall bear interest at not more than six per cent per annum, payable semi-annually, and shall be issued in either coupon or registered form in denominations of not less than one hundred dollars nor more than one thousand dollars, both principal and interest payable in gold coin of the United States at the office of the treasurer of the county in which the district is organized, which bonds shall be signed by the president and the secretary of said drainage district and bear the seal of the district.

The board of directors may sell said bonds at not less than ninety per cent of par value, at public or private sale to the highest and best bidder after having advertised for not less than three weeks in a newspaper published in the county or counties in which any portion of the district is situated, that said bonds are for sale and that bids will be received and opened at a time and place specified; provided, that the board of directors may reject any and all bids. The funds derived from the sale of such bonds or any of them shall be used for the purpose of paying the cost of construction and maintenance, interest on bonds, and other necessary expenses.

SEC. 30. The bond fund shall comprise that portion of the annual levy made for the purpose and any penalties and indemnities collected and interest thereon. It shall be the duty of the treasurer of the county in which the district was organized to have custody of such funds and pay the interest due upon presentation of coupons and to take up the bonds as they mature. He shall cancel said coupons and bonds and deliver same to the treasurer of the district.

SEC. 31. Where the works set out in the plan for drainage of any drainage district are found insufficient to reclaim in whole or in part any or all of the land or other property or otherwise fully to accomplish the object of the district the board of directors shall have the power to formulate new or amended plans for such new or altered drains or other works which in its opinion with the approval of the engineer will accomplish the desired results, and additional assessments may be made in conformity with the provisions of section 17, the same to be made in proportion to the equalized assessment of benefits and in all respects the procedure shall be the same as hereinbefore provided for putting into effect the plan for drainage as provided for in section fourteen. If it is found that for any other reason the original assessment for the construction fund is inadequate, additional assessment or assessments may be made and bonds sold in conformity with the foregoing provisions, provided that the sum of all assessments for the construction fund shall not exceed the assessment of benefits.

SEC. 32. The board of directors, either upon its own motion or upon petition of the owners of land within the district against whom fifty per cent or more of the benefits have been assessed may make a reapportionment of assessed benefits; provided, that at least five years shall have elapsed since the last previous assessment of benefits has been equalized; provided further, that the total assessment of benefits shall not be reduced. In making such reapportionment the procedure shall be in every respect as provided for in the original assessment of benefits.

SEC. 33. At the time of construction of the works set forth in the plan for drainage hereinbefore referred to, all drains, systems of drainage, ditches, waste ditches, spillways or other water courses, if necessary to the drainage or protection of any of the lands in said district, shall be connected with and made a part of the works and improvements of said district. No drains, or systems of drainage, ditches, waste ditches, spillways or other similar works constructed within or without said district after the completion of the aforesaid plan of drainage shall be connected therewith, unless the consent of the board of directors shall be first obtained, which consent shall be in writing and shall particularly describe the method, terms, and conditions of such connection which shall be in strict accord with the method, terms and conditions laid down in said consent. If the owner or owners wishing to make such connection are refused by the board of directors or decline to accept the consent granted, the said land owner or owners may file with the board of supervisors having jurisdiction in said district, a petition for such connection and the matter in dispute shall be in a summary manner decided by the board of supervisors which decision shall be final and binding on the district and the land owner or owners.

SEC. 34. Any two or more adjacent districts whether situated in the same or different counties may be united and consolidated in one district and such new district and the board of directors thereof shall have the rights, powers and privileges of any districts organized under this act. In order to effect such consolidation the board of directors of each of the original districts shall call the attention of the land owners to such proposed consolidation at the same time and in the same notice as that heretofore provided for calling the annual meeting at which time a vote shall be taken on the matter of consolidation. If a majority of the votes cast in each district are in favor of the proposition to unite and consolidate such districts the boards of directors of the districts shall present a petition to the board of supervisors of the county in which the greatest amount of land is located, accompanied by complete minutes of said meetings, in which shall be stated the names of the original districts, when organized, the names of the owners of the lands and other property and the boundaries of the districts. When said petition has been filed the clerk of the board of supervisors shall give notice, to all persons named in said petition, of such filing, in the manner provided for in section 3, said notice to state the contents of said petition and the time of hearing. Any person owning land in either district may not later than five days before the time set for hearing, which shall be not less than two weeks after the date of the last publication, file objections to the regularity or sufficiency of any of the proceedings had in the premises, and if such objections are overruled, or if no objections are made, the board of supervisors shall make an order that the prayer of the petition be granted and that the two or more districts be so united as one district, under some appropriate designation, with all the rights, powers and privileges of such districts organized under this act and the lands and other property so included shall be subject to all liens, liabilities and obligations of both of the original districts. At the time of making such order the board of supervisors shall appoint out of the boards of directors of the original districts three directors fixing their terms of office at three, two and one years, respectively. A certified copy of the order uniting any two or more districts shall be filed with the county recorder of each county in which any of the lands are situated. If the objections against the uniting of any two or more districts as herein provided for are sustained, the board of supervisors shall dismiss the petition and the costs shall be divided equally between the districts.

SEC. 35. Any drainage district in the State of California organized under the provisions of any law of this state, may be reorganized under the provisions of this act, and after so organizing shall be entitled to the benefits of all of the provisions of this act and any and all acts amendatory thereto. Such reorganization shall be effected by presenting to the board of supervisors of the county in which the district was organized a consent thereto signed by fifty, or a majority, of the holders of title or evidence of title, who shall hold a majority of the lands of said district. Upon the filing of such consent said board of supervisors shall immediately set a date for hearing which shall be not less than one month nor more than two months from such filing. Said board of supervisors shall give notice of said hearing in the manner provided for in section three of this act. At the time and place designated in such notice said board of supervisors shall receive such evidence as may be offered in support of such reorganization and in support of any written objection thereto and may continue said hearing from time to time and shall determine the matter of such organization and make and enter in its minutes an order providing that said district shall or shall not be reorganized under this act. If the order is that said district be reorganized said order shall include the appointment and fixing the terms of office of the board of directors of said district as an organization of a new district. A certified copy of such order shall be filed for record in the office of the county recorder of each county in which any lands embraced in said district are situated and from and after such filing the reorganization of said district shall be complete.

When a drainage district has been reorganized under this act the board of directors will not be required to follow such steps or requirements of this act as are inconsistent with or rendered unnecessary by the work that has already been done and proceedings had in the district, provided that no such change of organization shall have the effect of in any way invalidating any indebtedness, liability, or obligation of any nature incurred under the former organization, but any such indebtedness, liability or obligation shall attach to the reorganized district and all property of the former district shall become the property of the reorganized district.

SEC. 36. The boundaries of any drainage district organized under the provisions of this act may be changed in the manner herein prescribed; but such change of boundaries shall not impair or affect the organization of the district or its rights in or to property or any of its rights or privileges; nor shall it affect, impair, or discharge any contract, obligation, lien or charge for which it was or might become liable or chargeable, had such change of boundaries not been made.

The holder or holders of title or evidence of title holding one-half or more of any body of land adjacent to a drainage district organized under this act, may file with the board of directors of said district a petition, in writing, praying that the boundaries of said district be so changed as to include therein said lands. The petition shall describe the boundaries of said lands but such descriptions need not be more particular than is required when such lands are entered by the county assessor in the assessment roll. Such petition must contain the assent of the petitioners to the inclusion of said lands, or any part thereof, within said district and must be acknowledged in the same manner as conveyances of real property.

SEC. 37. The secretary of the board of directors shall cause notice of the filing of such petition to be given in the manner prescribed in section three of this act. The notice shall state the filing of such petition, a copy of the description of the lands recited in said petition, and the prayer of such petition, and shall notify all persons interested in such change of the boundaries of the district to appear before said board at its next regular meeting after expiration of the period of publication and show cause in writing why such change of boundaries should not be made. Said petitioners shall advance to the secretary sufficient money to pay the estimated costs of all proceedings arising from such petition.

SEC. 38. Said board of directors shall hear said petition and all written objections thereto and determine said matter. The board of directors may require as a condition precedent to the granting of the same, that there shall be paid to the district an amount not exceeding such sums, as nearly as the same can be estimated by the board, as the owners of said land would have been required to pay as district taxes, had such lands been included in said district when organized.

If the board of directors deem it for the best interest of said district and of said lands proposed to be included, it may order that the boundaries of said district be so changed as to include therein the lands or some part thereof described in said petition. Such order may be made upon conditions prescribed by said board as to taxation and payment for additional works required by reason of the inclusion of such lands. A certified copy of such order shall be filed for record in the office of the state engineer and in the office of the county recorder in each county in which lands embraced in the district are situated, and from and after such filing in the office of the county recorder the change of boundaries of said district shall be complete and thereupon the district shall be and remain a drainage district as fully for all purposes as if the lands which are included in the district by the change in boundaries had been included in said district at its organization.

SEC. 39. At any time after such change of boundaries the board of directors or any interested party may bring an action following the procedure set forth in section four of this act in the superior court of the county in which said district was organized to determine the validity of such change in boundaries.

SEC. 40. Said board of directors may cause to be made a plan for drainage of lands included in the district by such change of boundaries; may make an assessment of benefits to such lands, an assessment for the construction fund, issue bonds and construct such works as may be necessary to put such plan for drainage into effect, following as nearly as may be practical the provisions of this act relating to such matters.

SEC. 41. All of the provisions of this act are hereby made applicable to lands owned by the State of California, and the state surveyor general is hereby designated and authorized to act for and on behalf of the state as owner of lands within any drainage district.

All assessments lawfully confirmed in any drainage district organized under this act against any state lands in said district shall be paid by the treasurer of this state from the permanent funds of the institution to which such lands belong, or for the benefit of which such lands have been acquired; provided, that the surveyor general shall clearly and specifically specify by voucher in proper form to the state controller, that such assessments have been regularly and legally made and shall describe the land, naming the institution to which the same pertains and the controller shall thereupon draw his warrant against the permanent fund of such institution for the amount of such assessment.

SEC. 42. In case any section or sections or part of any section of this act shall be found to be unconstitutional, the remainder of the act shall not thereby be invalidated, but shall remain in full force and effect.

SEC. 43. Nothing in this act shall be construed as repealing or in any wise modifying the provisions of any other act relating to the subject of drainage but it is intended as an independent and alternative means for organizing and governing drainage districts.

By the President:

We, the undersigned residents of the State of California, believing that the enactment of a Sunday law would be a violation of true Americanism, do hereby respectfully but earnestly protest against the passage of Senate Bill No. 77 and Assembly Bill No. 142, and all other such legislation.

M. J. McCARTY,
And 57 others.

Also:

At a meeting of the legislative committee of the Federated Council of Teachers Clubs, of the city of Los Angeles, representing 3,600 teachers, and empowered by them to act, on March 20, 1919, the following resolutions were unanimously passed:

Resolved, That the teachers of Los Angeles most urgently request the members of the Legislature of California to vote against the passage of Constitutional Amendment No. 5, which would increase the number of names necessary in initiative petitions in matters relating to taxation from the present rate of 8 per cent of the last vote cast for Governor to 25 per cent. This would amount to about 250,000 names, a number impossible to obtain. Moreover, inasmuch as the State is put to some expenditure in the case of every initiative petition, it is possible that every such expenditure might be construed by the courts as a matter affecting taxation and thus the 25 per cent requirement might be imposed in the case of all initiative petitions; be it further

Resolved, That the teachers of Los Angeles are opposed to Constitutional Amendment No. 6, requiring signatures to be affixed in clerk's office, as rendering the use of the people's powers difficult and impracticable; be it further

Resolved, That the teachers of Los Angeles wish to place themselves on record in opposition to the Crowley bill (Senate No. 121), or any other statutory enactment or constitutional amendment of the same intent, namely, the prohibition of payment to circulators of petitions. Such a restriction would make the use of the instrumentalities of direct legislation practically impossible for the ordinary unselfish citizen seeking only the public welfare, and make them available only for corporations or individuals having under employment large numbers of men whose actions are virtually under their control.

J. F. CLEWE, Chairman.
W. W. TRITT, Secretary.

On page 1, line 18, of the printed bill, after the word "approved", insert the following:

SEC. 2. The total cost of the improvement as voted upon by the electors of the district on December 23, 1918, shall be paid from bonds authorized or to be authorized by said district. Said bonds shall be a lien upon the property of the district and the lien of said bonds shall be a preferred lien to that of any subsequent issue. Said bonds and the interest thereon shall be paid by revenue derived from an annual tax upon the real property of the district; and all the real property in the district shall be and remain liable to be taxed for such payment. The board of trustees of said storm water district shall annually during the month of August estimate the amount of money which will be needed to pay the interest and such portion of said bonds maturing prior to the succeeding August and certify such amount to the board of supervisors of Riverside county, California. Such board shall at the time of making the levy of taxes for county purposes for that year levy a tax upon the real property in said district sufficient in amount to raise the sum estimated by the board of trustees to be necessary. Said tax when levied shall be entered upon the assessment roll and collected in the same manner as the state and county taxes. When the same is collected, it shall be placed in the treasury of said Riverside county, to the credit of the bond fund of said district, and shall be used only for the purpose for which it is raised.

SEC. 3. The board of trustees of said storm water district shall annually during the month of August estimate the amount of money which will be needed for the current year for maintaining and repairing the works and improvements of said district, and defraying the other ordinary expenses of said district, and shall upon the first Monday of September of each year certify to the board of supervisors of the county in which said district lies, the amount of money which is needed for said purposes. Such board of supervisors shall at the time of making the levy of taxes for county purposes for that year, levy a tax upon the real property in said district sufficient in amount to raise the sum estimated by the board of trustees to be necessary. Said tax when levied shall be entered upon the assessment roll and collected in the same manner as state and county taxes. When the same is collected, it shall be placed in the treasury of the county in which said district was organized, to the credit of the current expense fund of said district, and shall be used only for the purpose for which it was raised. Payment shall be made from said fund in the same manner as from the improvement fund of the district.

SEC. 4. The aforesaid improvements can only be made and paid for by said bonds, and the method hereinbefore prescribed for their payment is exclusive; and the only taxes which can be levied by said district for any purpose are the taxes hereinbefore specified.

SEC. 5. This act inasmuch as it provides for a tax levy, shall, under the provisions of section one, of article four of the constitution of the State of California, take effect immediately.

SEC. 6. This act is hereby deemed and declared to be an urgency measure necessary for the immediate preservation of the public health and safety within the meaning of section one, of article four, of the constitution of the State of California, and shall take effect immediately. The facts constituting such necessity are as follows:

On December 23, 1918, the electors of the district voted in favor of bonds in the amount of three hundred thousand dollars, for the purpose of paying the cost of protecting the lands of the district from damage from storm and flood waters.

The lands and property within the district are annually subject to great damage from the waters of the Whitewater river and other flood streams. Many thousands of acres are submerged, crops and improvements destroyed, railroad washed out, and the health and safety of the public thereby endangered; and during the war the capital issues committee, organized by special act of Congress, recognizing the above facts, approved and authorized the issuance of said bonds for the doing of said work. That a comprehensive plan of protection will be undertaken and that unless the whole thereof is completed before the next flood season, there is grave danger that any portion then constructed will be washed out and destroyed thereby causing increased damage and danger to the property and people of the district. That it is practically impossible to do efficient work in this district during the summer months on account of excessive heat, and that work must start immediately in order that the same may be completed before the next flood season. There is no other public body authorized to make the expenditures necessary to secure protection from such threatened overflow, and the protective work necessary in order to be effective must be commenced at once.

Amendment adopted.

COMMUNICATION.

The following communication was presented by the Secretary, and ordered printed in the Journal:

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, DEPARTMENT OF ENGINEERING.

SACRAMENTO, March 24, 1919.

To the Members of the Senate and Assembly of the Forty-third Session of the Legislature, State of California.

GENTLEMEN: The Legislature of 1913 passed an act which was approved by the Governor, June 7, 1913, providing for the issuance and sale of State bonds amounting to $1,000,000, from which the State Department of Engineering was to be furnished a fund for "the construction, erection, equipment, completion and furnishing of a State building or buildings, upon a plot of land located in the city and county of San Francisco; said building when erected to be used by the offices and departments of the State which are located in the city of San Francisco," and provided for the submission of this act to the vote of the people of the State. The proposal of the Legislature was ratified by the people at the general election held in November, 1914.

The same Legislature (1913) passed an act which was approved by the Governor on June 7, 1913, authorizing and directing the State Department of Engineering to "construct, erect, equip and furnish" the building or buildings out of the proceeds of the sale of bonds to be authorized by the vote of the people. Section 2 of this act is as follows: "The plans for the construction of such building or buildings shall be prepared by said Department of Engineering, and before any work of construction is commenced thereon, shall be submitted to and approved by a special commission, consisting of the Governor, the Attorney General and the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, which said commission is hereby created for such purpose."

Section 11 of the law governing the State Department of Engineering makes provision whereby competitive plans may be submitted. Agreeable to this provision, the Bureau of Architecture of the State Department of Engineering prepared a program, and, agreeable thereto, designs were submitted to the commission above mentioned for examination. The design of Bliss & Faville of San Francisco was selected, and a contract was made with them for the preparation of plans, agreeable to program.

After providing for the payment of the fees as agreed, there remains a balance for the construction of the building of $915,837.57.

Before the State Department of Engineering was free to advertise for the construction of the building, the country was engaged in the great European war, and during that time it was impossible to proceed with construction. After the removal of the restrictions imposed by the government upon building materials, the controlling prices for materials and labor were so high that we found it impossible to construct the building as planned with the money available.

The commission above referred to had completed its work. It was the plain duty of the State Department of Engineering to erect the building. Finding it impossible to do so, the writer conferred with Governor Stephens and Attorney General Webb. Both men gave a sympathetic hearing, and Mr. Webb said, "Yes, it is your duty to go ahead and erect the building according to plans." At a recent conference held in the Governor's office, it was agreed that this statement should be prepared and the situation clearly and openly made known to you.

If the building is to be erected as planned, we must have $350,000 in addition to the present amount.

Very truly yours,

W. F. McCLURE, State Engineer.

PETITIONS.

The following petitions were presented, and ordered printed in the Journal:

By the President:

We, the undersigned citizens of Berkeley, owning property and residing near the California School for the Deaf and the Blind, understand that there is a movement on foot to erect a new institution for the blind on the front or at the sides of the present grounds. We desire to protest most earnestly against such a measure, and trust that the interests of property owners in this vicinity will receive some consideration.

The present grouping of buildings at some distance from the street is less objectionable than if the buildings extended to the limits of the grounds. The value of our property would be seriously affected by the erection of dormitories, school buildings, and a heating plant close at hand.

To take care of the future growth of the school the selection of a new site for the blind would seem the logical solution, and we trust this plan will be adopted.

Respectfully submitted,

Jean W. Wright, Ralph S. Minor, Josephine C. Minor, Warner McCann, Wm. Olney, Austin Sperry, A. M. Clay, F. M. Swasey.

By Senator Boggs:

We, the undersigned residents of San Joaquin County, California, believing that the enactment of a Sunday law would be a violation of the American principle of the separation of church and state, do hereby respectfully but earnestly protest against the passage of Senate Bill No. 77 and Assembly Bill No. 112, and all other such legislation.

IRA MOTHORN,
And 22 others.

By Senator Purkitt:

FRIEND CLAUDE: As I have nothing to do this evening, I thought I would let you know that I am still kicking. I am still in France and don't know when I will leave for home, but I think it will be soon.

I have been on five fronts, which are Alsace, Chateau Thierry, Arzonne, Verdun and Soissons. I became a horseshoer in the Army, so I was not up close to the front lines. I was always up close enough so the Germans could reach us with their big guns, such as 6, 8, 10, 12, and 16-inch shells, and at night they would come over and bomb us with their airplanes. It is no fun when we are lying in our tents asleep, and they would bomb us so the bombs would light close and they would shake the whole ground, and at the same time they would be shooting at us with their long range guns.

Alsace was a quiet place, but when we came to Chateau Thierry we found out there was a war. The first woods we stopped at we had our horses tied on a picket line, and when night came we made a fire, for it was cold. About nine o'clock in the evening we heard a plane coming, and then all at once we could not hear him, and thought he had gone away, and did not think any more about it. Then all of a sudden right over our heads he started his motor and dropped a bomb. It lit right in between our horses, but as luck would have it the bomb did not explode. We heard it coming through the trees, and we all lay down as quickly as we could, but believe me we put out the fire in a hurry. The next morning we saw where the bomb hit the ground and we got a spade and dug down to it. It was in the ground about two and a half feet. If it had exploded it would have killed fifteen or twenty horses and some soldiers, and I might have been in the bunch. We brought the Germans out of there in a hurry, so fast we could not keep up with them, and I guess they are still going.

From there we went to Argonne. All these fronts were quiet until the 32d got there (I belong to the 32d division), and when we got there and got everything ready, believe me there was something doing every minute. It looked scary when the Germans sent over a big shell, and it would hit the ground and dig a hole six feet deep, and the pieces of shrapnel would sing around our ears.

The last front we were on the Germans sent over two shells and killed twenty-four horses and two men and wounded four men. These horses did not belong to the 32d, but to some engineers from a different division, who were only a hundred yards away from us. We heard the shells whistle over our tents and the next morning I went to see the damage that was done the night before.

Well, Claude, I could write a letter which would reach from here home, but it is getting late. Taps at nine-thirty. "Go to sleep, go to sleep, soldier boy." But that sounds better than "I can't get him up," which sounds at six-fifteen in the morning. I went through the army without a scratch.

Give my best regards to all.

Yours truly,

WILLIE GLUSING,

Horseshoer.

By Senator Purkitt:

WHEREAS, There has been introduced in the State Assembly a bill looking to the taking of the care and maintenance of the public highways in each county of the State from the jurisdiction of the members of the board of supervisors and placing the care and maintenance of the public highways under one man to be designated as "county engineer," at a salary of $1,200 per annum, said Assembly Bill being numbered 239; and

WHEREAS, Under the present system the roads of Lake County during the last few years have been steadily and permanently improved, and are now in a better condition than ever in the past; and

WHEREAS, It is the opinion of this board of supervisors that said proposed law would be inimical to the best interests of Lake County, and that said proposed law would be unfair and unjust to the present members of the board of supervisors; inimical to the best interests of Lake County in that no man capable of handling the general business of the county would spend on an average of three days a month at the county seat for $5.00 per diem, and especially would this be so as to the representatives from the extreme ends of the county; that under the present system a pro rata of the moneys raised for road purposes is now and must necessarily be spent in the respective road districts, whereas under the proposed bill, it would be optional with the "county engineer" whether or not all of the road moneys would be spent in any one district; that said bill is unfair and unjust to the members of the board of supervisors, in that they have run for office at an expense and undertaken the office with the understanding that they were to have the emoluments of office that said bill, if passed, would reduce to a pittance; be it, therefore,

Resolved, That this board of supervisors enter their protest against the passage of Assembly Bill No. 239 and any similar bill that has been or may be introduced in the State Senate; and that a certified copy of this resolution be forwarded to Hon. Claude F. Purkitt and Hon. Bismarck Bruck, requesting them to vote and use their influence against said proposed law.

Passed by the following vote:

AYES—J. M. Adamson, J. S. Kelsay, W. W. Woodruff, W. P. Mariner, T. A. Read.

NOES—None.

ABSENT—None.

Also:

WHEREAS, The board of supervisors is advised that there is now pending before both branches of the State Legislature proposed laws which if enacted into law will reduce the amount of money that the various counties throughout the State are now entitled to receive from the tax levied upon automobiles and automobile drivers, etc.; and

WHEREAS, It appears to this board of supervisors, both in justice and equity, that the respective counties should receive at least the amount of such license tax as they are now receiving under the law from such source for the maintenance of the roads in the several counties; be it, therefore,

Resolved, That this board of supervisors recommend to the representatives of this district in the State Legislature that they use their influence against the passage of any act tending to reduce the revenue of this county from the automobile license tax; and be it further

Resolved, That a certified copy of this resolution be forwarded to the Hon. Claude F. Purkitt and to the Hon. Bismarck Bruck.

A bill has been introduced in the Legislature to do away with the State Market Commission, which has been of great value to the farmers. Co-operative marketing on the part of the farmer makes it possible to eliminate much of the waste in the cost of marketing, resulting in advantage to both producer and consumer, and tends to protect and develop new markets, and stimulate production, and helps to better the condition of the farmer, and also protects the consumer by affording him more abundant food supply at reasonable prices.

Therefore, we would ask you to oppose any bill doing away with the State Market Commission. Also, we disapprove of Senate Bill No. 396, and Assembly Bills Nos. 851 and 14, which tend towards the lowering of our milk standards, and will be ultimately detrimental to the producer and consumer, and we endorse Senate Bill No. 265, and Assembly Bill No. 534, because they discourage the substitution of cheap fats for butter fat.

The undersigned hope that you will give these matters your attention, because a prosperous agricultural community makes prosperous cities.

LEONARD BOOT,
And 150 others.

As school teachers, as well as citizens, and therefore doubly interested in education, we earnestly ask you to do your utmost to defeat the Gates Bill, No. 297, relative to the inheritance tax.

The Gates bill is a blow to the school system of California, in that its enforcement as a law would decrease our school revenue, and so either cripple our schools or compel increased taxation in other directions to maintain the efficiency of our schools. Knowing this, we urge you to defeat the Gates bill No. 297.

We shall be,

Gratefully yours,

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION NO. 14.

Relative to the report of Adjutant General J. J. Boitee showing the extensive participation of California high school cadets in the recent world's war and expressing legislative approval and appreciation of the splendid physical and military results obtained from military training in the high schools of California.

WHEREAS, From reports furnished the adjutant general's office by the various high schools of the State of California, it is shown that from the month of September, 1911, when cadet training was first instituted in California high schools, to the month of September, 1917, one thousand six hundred fifty-five cadets completed their training; that of this number six hundred twenty-five cadets became of age up to and including September, 1918; that the reports further show that one thousand nine hundred six cadets entered the service during the war, indicating that a large percentage enlisted who were not yet twenty-one years of age and who had not yet completed their high school course; that the total number of cadets who had had training, or who were in training up to September 20, 1918, was seven thousand forty-five; that five thousand three hundred ninety of this number were then in the schools, and that a very large number of them were not old enough to enter the service, and it further appearing from said reports that there were one thousand four hundred sixty-five men from the cadets who entered the army, three hundred seventy-one who entered the navy, and sixty-one the marine corps, and that of this number, seventeen became ensigns in the navy, five entered West Point, four entered Annapolis, and there were commissioned in the United States army, one colonel, eleven captains, forty-three first lieutenants, one hundred thirty-seven second lieutenants, one hundred nine sergeants, eighty-one corporals, or a total of two hundred eighteen commissioned officers and one hundred ninety-eight noncommissioned officers; that four hundred sixteen men, or twenty-two per cent of the number of cadets entering our country's service became officers; and

WHEREAS, Practically every boy who was old enough to enlist, that is eighteen years of age or over, entered the service, it demonstrates the physical value of military training, as nearly all of the cadets and former cadets who applied for admission to the service were accepted as being physically qualified, and it further demonstrates the fact that military training given in the schools was of value to them as individuals as well as of great value to the nation; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the senate, the assembly concurring. That the legislature by resolution express its approval and appreciation of the splendid results obtained from military training in the high schools of California; and be it further

Resolved. That this body express to the schools of California its appreciation for the part they have played in providing for this military training, and that a copy of these resolutions be supplied to the adjutant general's office, with the request that the adjutant general by circular letter inform all the schools of this action.

All moneys under the control of the state treasurer, belonging to the state, shall, so far as possible, be deposited by the state treasurer to the credit of the state in such state or national bank or banks in the state as the treasurer, with the approval of the governor and state controller, shall select for the safekeeping of such deposits, and any sum so deposited shall be deemed to be in the state treasury; provided, that the bank or banks in which such money is deposited shall furnish security as herein-after provided; and provided, further, that such depository bank or banks be selected from those agreeing to pay the highest rate of interest, not less than two per cent per annum, for such deposits, as may be determined by bids to be submitted at such times and in such manner as the treasurer shall direct; and provided, further, that such deposit shall not exceed the paid-up capital, exclusive of reserve and surplus, of any depository bank. Any and all bids may be rejected by the treasurer, with the approval of the governor and state controller, and new bids asked for. The expense of transportation of moneys to and from the state treasury to such depositories shall be borne by such depositories and they shall handle, collect and pay all checks, drafts and other exchange without cost to the state. Said deposits, with interest thereon, shall be subject to withdrawal at any time upon the demand of the state treasurer, unless the treasurer, with the consent of the governor and controller, shall deposit any part of such moneys upon different terms; provided, that no agreement for the deposit of said moneys shall be for a longer period than one year; and provided, further, that the state treasurer is hereby authorized, under such conditions as he with the approval of the governor, may fix, to deposit moneys in any bank or banks outside this state, necessary for the payment of the principal or interest of bonds, made payable outside of this state, at the place or places at which the same are payable.

SEC. 2. The interest to be paid by any such depository bank shall be on the average daily balances of the state moneys kept on deposit therewith, and shall be paid and credited to the state monthly on the first day of each and every month, and such interest shall accrue to the general fund of the state treasury; provided, that, if any moneys belonging to the state school fund or the state school land fund shall at any time be deposited under the provisions of this act, the interest received thereon shall be paid into the state school fund.

SEC. 3. There shall be two classes of depositories; one shall be known as active depositories and the other as inactive depositories. The state treasurer, with the consent of the governor and controller, shall determine what amount of money shall be deposited as active deposits and what amount of money shall be deposited as inactive deposits. The state treasurer may call in moneys from inactive deposits and place them in active deposits, when it shall be necessary to do so for the purpose of providing for current demands; and, when there are inactive moneys in his possession for which there are no demands, said inactive moneys may be placed as active deposits. When there are no demands for either active or inactive moneys then the treasurer may deposit with the federal reserve bank at San Francisco for safe keeping any gold coin or other moneys in his possession and take from said bank a certificate or other exchange showing such deposit. The provisions of this act in regard to sureties shall not apply to such deposits with the federal reserve bank.

SEC. 4. For the security of inactive deposits, there shall be deposited with the treasurer bonds of the United States, or of this state or of any county, municipality, school district or irrigation district within this state, which bonds shall be approved by the governor, controller and treasurer, to an amount in value at least ten per cent in excess of the amount of the deposit with such bank or banks. For the security of active deposits, there shall be deposited with the treasurer, bonds of the United States or of any state or of any county, municipality, school district or irrigation district within this state, or the surety bond or bonds of any corporation or corporations qualified to act as sole surety on bonds or undertakings required by the laws of this state; provided, that the penalty or the aggregate of the penalties of any surety bond or bonds covering deposits in any one bank given by any surety company shall not exceed ten per cent of the capital and surplus of such company, according to the statement thereof contained in the last preceding quarterly report issued by the United States treasury department, but in fixing such limit there shall be deducted from such penalty the amount of any reinsurance the terms of which inure directly to the State of California, placed with a company qualified to execute bonds hereunder within the limits applicable to said company, and evidence of which reinsurance shall be furnished to the treasurer within twenty days after the date of such surety bond. Such securities shall be approved by the governor, controller and treasurer to an amount in value at least ten per cent in excess of the amount of the deposit with such bank or banks. No surety bond shall be accepted from any surety company, unless said company shall be approved by the insurance commissioner of the state as a company possessing the qualifications herein required to secure the deposit of state funds, and it shall be the duty of said commissioner to issue such certificate on demand of the state treasurer showing the qualifications of such companies; and, unless said company shall also hold a certificate of authority from the United States treasury department as being acceptable as a surety on federal bonds. The form of bonds required under this act shall be prescribed by the attorney general of the state.

SEC. 5. If in any case or at any time the security deposited with the state treasurer is not deemed satisfactory by the governor, controller and treasurer, they may require such additional security as may be satisfactory to them. Such security, or any part thereof, may be withdrawn or released on the written consent of the governor, controller and treasurer; provided, that a sufficient amount of said bonds or, when permissible, surety bonds of sufficient penalties, to secure said deposits shall always be kept in the treasury; and in the event that any said bank or banks of deposit shall fail to pay such deposits, or any part thereof, on the demand of the state treasurer, then it shall be the duty of the state treasurer to forthwith recover upon or convert said bonds into money and to disburse the same according to law. The surety upon such surety bond may terminate such bond as to future liability by giving ten days' notice in writing of such termination to the treasurer, and upon receipt of such notice, the treasurer shall require other security in lieu thereof, or shall withdraw the funds covered by said surety bond within said period of ten days, but such notice of termination shall not affect any liability accruing prior to the expiration of said period of ten days.

SEC. 6. The treasurer shall take from such depositary or depositaries a written contract, in triplicate, setting forth the conditions and terms upon which the funds of the state are deposited therewith, one of which shall be filed with the controller. One provision of said contract shall be that each depositary shall at the end of each month render to the treasurer a statement in duplicate showing the daily balances or amount of money of the state held by it during the month and the amount of accrued interest thereon separately, one of which shall be filed by the treasurer with the controller. The treasurer shall annually on the first day of July furnish each depositary bank with a statement showing the amount and description of the bonds on deposit with him by such bank to secure state deposits.

SEC. 7. The treasurer, with the approval of the governor and controller, shall, if in his judgment it shall appear necessary for the security of the state, require said banks of deposit to give an indemnity bond, the sureties on which shall not be interested as stockholders in said bank or banks, to be approved by the governor, controller and treasurer, to secure the state against loss by any depreciation in value that may occur in such bonds held by him as security for the safekeeping and prompt payment of the state moneys in such depositaries.

SEC. 8. The state treasurer shall not be responsible for any moneys deposited in a bank or in banks under the provisions of this act, while the same remain there deposited with the consent of the governor and controller; but the treasurer shall be chargeable with the safekeeping, management and disbursement of the bonds and certificates of deposit deposited with him as security for deposits of state moneys, and with the interest thereon, and the proceeds of any sale under the provisions of this act.

SEC. 9. At the time of depositing state moneys in any bank, designated as a depositary, the state treasurer shall take and preserve a receipt, certificate of deposit, or such other evidence of the deposit as the treasurer may require, stating the amount deposited and referring to the contract made between the depositary bank and the treasurer. The money so deposited may be drawn out by the check or order of the state treasurer.

SEC. 10. All moneys belonging to the state under the control of any officer or employee of the state, other than the state treasurer, may be deposited as active deposits in such state or national bank or banks in this state as such officer or employee may select, and under such conditions as he and the state board of control may fix; provided, that the bank or banks in which such moneys are deposited shall pay interest to the state on such deposits at not less than two per cent per annum on daily balances. Any bank receiving deposits under the provisions of this section may be required to deposit with the state treasurer such security as is hereinbefore provided in the case of active depositaries.

SEC. 11. Any officer or employee of this state who deposits any moneys belonging to the state in any manner than as prescribed in this act shall be subject to forfeiture of his office or employment.

SEC. 12. An act entitled "An act to authorize the deposit of state moneys in banks in this state, and to repeal all acts, or parts of acts in conflict with this act," approved February 28, 1907, and all acts amending said act and all acts and parts of acts in conflict with this act are hereby repealed.

(b) A bond in favor of the people of the State of California executed by the said attorney, with two sureties to be approved by the insurance commissioner in the penal sum of twenty-five thousand dollars, conditioned that the attorney will faithfully perform the duties imposed upon him under the said powers of attorney and faithfully account for moneys handled by him thereunder; such bond may be sued upon by any subscriber suffering loss through violation of the conditions thereof and liability thereunder may be enforced by any individual subscriber or any number of subscribers, in one or the same action; provided, however, that where the power of attorney executed by the subscribers or the rules and regulations adopted by the association for the conduct of its business thereunder, provide for the bonding of the attorney, a certified copy of the bond executed in accordance with such powers of attorney or rules and regulations, shall be filed with the insurance commissioner in lieu of any other bond required under this act.

Savings or credits, however, may be returned to the subscribers, irrespective as to the source from which the same accrue, whenever such returns do not constitute an impairment of the assets or reserves to be maintained as herein required; provided, however, that there shall be no discrimination in the making of such returns as between persons or places.

Net deposits shall be construed to mean (a) the advance payments of subscribers after deducting therefrom the amounts specifically provided in the subscribers' agreements for expense, or (b) in the event no such specific provision for expense be therein made, the advance payments of subscribers after deducting therefrom the reasonable expense incidental to the conduct of business not exceeding however twenty-five per cent of such advance payments.

If at any time the assets so held in cash or such securities, exclusive of loss reserves herein provided for, shall be less than required above, or be less than twenty-five thousand dollars in any exchange writing any kind of insurance other than common carrier liability insurance, or after December 31, 1919, less than fifty thousand dollars in any exchange writing common carrier liability insurance, the subscribers, or their attorney for them, shall make up the deficiency within thirty days after notice from the insurance commissioner so to do.

Where the subscribers are grouped, by industries, or otherwise, under any rule or agreement which exempts the funds of one group from liability, in whole or in part, for the payment of losses or expenses chargeable against another group, each independent group must maintain the reserve herein specified and comply with the requirements of subdivision (f) of section three hereof, relative to the number and amount of risks to be assumed.

COMMUNICATION.

The following communication was presented by the President, and ordered printed in the Journal:

To the Members of the Senate and Assembly of the Forty-third Session of the Legislature, State of California.

GENTLEMEN: The Sacramento State Buildings Commission has encountered certain difficulties in carrying out the mandates of the Legislature and of the people of California, and feels obliged, in justice to itself and in furtherance of its task, to make this statement concerning its work. A better understanding will be had of the whole problem if the history of the undertaking known as the Capitol Extension be briefly stated.

The attempt of the Legislature to relieve the congested condition of State offices by remodeling the Capitol in 1906-1908 was only partially successful. In 1911, by Assembly Concurrent Resolution No. 14, a commission consisting of the Justices of the Court of Appeal, Third District, and the Trustees of the State Library was created to investigate and report on the needs of additional space for the use of State offices and departments. This commission, aided by the State Architect, made a thorough inquiry into the needs of the several State offices and commissions, and submitted its report shortly before the convening of the Legislature of 1913.

Upon the report of the above-mentioned commission was based the act of June 5, 1913, known as the Sacramento State Buildings Act. This measure provided for a bond issue of $2,000,000 to construct the buildings, created a Building Commission consisting of the Governor, the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court and the State Librarian, required the submission of the act to the people at the general election in 1914, and conditioned actual construction of the buildings upon the furnishing of a suitable site by the city of Sacramento. The people of Sacramento, on April 5, 1913, approved a proposition to issue bonds to the sum of $700,000 to purchase the two blocks, L to N and Ninth to Tenth streets, as a site for the purpose mentioned; and in November, 1914, the people of the State approved the act of June 5, 1913.

Under the terms of the act of June 5, 1913, the Sacramento State Buildings Commission was empowered to act only at such time as title to a suitable building site should be made over to the State. It happened that various delays in securing title to certain parcels of the property involved, and which delays were in no sense occasioned by the Sacramento State Buildings Commission, put off from month to month the actual delivery of title until October 12, 1917. Meanwhile the United States had become a participant in the great European war, and in the prosecution thereof had placed restrictions upon the construction of public buildings not absolutely essential to war purposes.

The Sacramento State Buildings Commission, however, mindful of the needs of the State for office accommodations, and desiring to do all within its power to carry out its instructions, proceeded as had previously been determined with the holding of a competition to select an architect for the buildings; and the State Department of Engineering, in accordance with the laws of the State and the instructions of the commission, issued a "program of conditions and instructions to govern a competition to be held for the purpose of selecting an architect for the library and courts building and the office building for the State of California, to be erected in the city of Sacramento, California", on November 1, 1917. This program was based upon the findings of the original commission of 1911, and of full investigations on the part of the State Architect, who, at the request of the Sacramento State Buildings Commission, was able to complete his work before title to the two blocks above mentioned vested in the State. The competition was conducted according to established principles, and resulted on September 19, 1918, in the selection of Messrs. Weeks & Day of San Francisco as the architects of the buildings.

Federal restrictions prevented further progress of the project until shortly after the signing of the armistice, when the United States government lifted the ban. Immediately thereafter, on November 27, 1918, the Sacramento State Buildings Commission instructed the architects to proceed with the drawing of the plans.

Meanwhile the demands of the war had caused a great increase in the cost of building materials and in the wages of labor. With the approval of the commission, the architects sought diligently so to reduce the plans as to bring cost of construction within the $2,000,000 available for the purpose; and the cubic contents of the buildings were made 372,000 cubic feet less than the program had specified. Further effort in that direction will not be possible and still give the State the space needed for immediate use.

On March 21, 1919, the architects submitted estimates covering the cost of the two buildings determined upon, a library and courts building and an office building. Even with the reductions made in cubic contents it will cost $3,800,000 to erect the two buildings with granite facing throughout. The commission is strongly of the conviction that buildings forming a part of the State Capitol group should be of a monumental and dignified character, and accordingly should be constructed of granite. However, in its efforts to proceed with construction, the commission has considered the use of terra cotta as a substitute for granite above the first story of the buildings, although it feels that terra cotta as a building material is less suitable for State edifices of a monumental character. The substitution of terra cotta and consequent reduction in cost still leaves a deficit of $400,000. In a further effort, the commission decided to reduce the furnishing and equipping fund to a merely nominal sum, as under the provisions of the act it may so do within its discretion, and thereby further reduce the deficit by $200,000.

But the reduction in the size of the buildings, the partial substitution of terra cotta for granite and the diminution of the furnishing fund leave the total cost at $3,200,000. The commission is anxious to proceed with the construction of the buildings, which are badly needed by the State; it feels that a further reduction in size would be unwise, since the State would soon find its offices crowded and would shortly have to resume the renting of outside quarters; it believes that the State of California requires the Capitol buildings to be constructed of materials in keeping with its dignity and its importance as a sovereign State of the Union; and lastly, the commission is obliged under the terms of the act of June 5, 1913, to construct the buildings within the sum appropriated, unless additional funds be provided by the Legislature or the people.

The Sacramento State Buildings Commission, confronted as it is by conditions which now make it impossible to give the State the buildings of a size and character contemplated when the people in November, 1914, approved the $3,000,000 bond measure, appeals to the Legislature for such instruction or assistance as in its wisdom it may deem fitting.

A suggestion has been put forward as a possible solution of the difficulty. It will be from two to four years before the buildings could be completed; hence certain payments on contracts would be delayed that long. Should the Legislature pass a bill making an additional appropriation for this purpose, funds need not be made available until July 1, 1921, or even later. Meanwhile the structures could be gotten under way; the example of the State as a builder during this economic crisis would be of great value; the State would secure buildings of a character and quality suited to its needs; and would within the next three or four years be released from paying its present annual rental for office purposes in Sacramento of upwards of $60,000.

CHIEF JUSTICE F. M. ANGELLOTTI.

STATE LIBRARIAN M. J. FERGUSON.

SECTION 1. Any domestic society, organization or company providing life insurance for its members or their beneficiaries upon the assessment plan, including any domestic fraternal benefit society organized or operating under that certain statute entitled "An act for the regulation and control of fraternal benefit societies," approved May 1, 1911, as amended, may upon a majority vote of its trustees or directors, or in any lawful manner, amend its articles of incorporation and by-laws, if already incorporated, or if not incorporated, may incorporate, in such manner as to transform itself into a legal reserve or level premium company, with the name by which it is already known or another name as its directors or trustees shall determine; and upon so doing and upon procuring from the commissioner of insurance a certificate of authority as prescribed by law to transact business in this state as a legal reserve or level premium life insurance company it shall incur the obligation and enjoy the benefits thereof the same as though originally thus incorporated; and such corporation under its articles and by-laws as so framed or amended shall be a continuation of the original organization, society or corporation and the officers thereof shall serve through their respective terms as provided in the original articles and by-laws, but their successors shall be elected and serve as the law and its articles and by-laws provide; but such incorporation, amendment or reincorporation shall not affect existing suits, rights or contracts.

The said society, organization or company so reorganized shall have the power after reorganization to transact business of the same nature transacted by it before reorganization, as well as the powers conferred hereby and contemplated by its articles of incorporation, in order to protect and perform rights and contracts existing before reorganization.

SEC. 2. Any society, organization or company so reorganized shall have a capital stock of which at least two hundred thousand dollars must be paid up previous to the issuance of any policies by it as a legal reserve or level premium company. All assets belonging to any such society, organization or company so reorganized, prior to reorganization, or arising or accruing from policies, certificates or benefit certificates issued upon the assessment plan, shall be used only for the benefit of the holders of such policies, certificates or benefit certificates and no portion thereof shall be used or considered as any part of the capital stock provided for by this act. If at the time of reorganization, or at any time thereafter, it shall appear from the last preceding annual report of any such society, organization or company filed with the commissioner of insurance, or as the result of any investigation made by said commissioner, that the present value of the contributions to be received from the holders of policies or benefit certificates on the assessment plan, together with all assets owned by the company that have been accumulated from assessments paid by members on that plan, are not equal to the present value of the benefits to be derived by members under the assessment plan, including all matured liabilities; then the society, organization or company so reorganized shall set aside and maintain a fund which with said present value of contributions and assets will equal the present value of said benefits together with all matured liabilities. Said fund shall be used for the payment of matured liabilities arising under the assessment plan when other assets applicable thereto are exhausted. Said fund may be derived from the capital stock of said reorganized company; provided, however, that the paid-up capital stock other than said fund shall not be less than two hundred thousand dollars. Said fund need not be maintained when the same is not required by conditions as herein expressed. Members in good standing of any such company prior to reorganization shall have the right after reorganization to transfer their insurance in said company to the legal reserve or level premium plan for the same amount without further medical examination, and at the legal reserve or level premium rates. The interest and the assets of the company of any person so transferring shall be transferred to and be a part of the assets of such company on the legal reserve or level premium plan.

SEC. 3. The society, organization or company so reorganized and its officials shall exercise all the rights and powers and perform all the duties conferred or imposed by law upon organizations writing the kinds of insurance written by said society, organization or company so reorganized. Such organization and its officials shall exercise all the rights and powers and perform all the duties necessary to protect rights and contracts existing prior to reorganization. The commissioner of insurance shall exercise the powers and discharge the duties concerning any such society, organization or company so reorganized that are applicable to companies writing insurance or issuing policies of the same class organized or operating in the State of California. The commissioner of insurance must issue a certificate of authority to any such society, organization or company so reorganized which is in a solvent condition and has fully complied with the laws of this State to transact insurance business in this State.

SEC. 4. Any assessment company or fraternal benefit society incorporated or reincorporated to transact a life insurance business as above provided shall value its assessment policies or certificates or benefit certificates according to the standard of valuation of assessment insurance used in this state, and its legal reserve or level premium policies according to the standard of valuation thereof in this state. The various kinds of insurance written shall be governed by the law applicable thereto.

REPORT OF SPECIAL COMMITTEE—(OUT OF ORDER).

By consent of the Senate, the following report of special committee was received and read, out of the regular order:

ON SHEARER-ELFENDAHN CONTEST.

To the Senate of the State of California.

The special committee appointed pursuant to resolution of the Senate adopted January 13, 1919, to hear the contest in the second Senatorial District, submits the following report:

The committee met on January 14, 1919, after having notified the respective parties to the contest of the time of meeting. At this meeting, at which the contestant was represented by his attorneys, Dozier & Dozier, and at which the contestee appeared in person, and after hearing the statements of the respective parties, the committee decided to open and examine the official ballots and election returns of certain precincts in Siskiyou County, and to that end the further meeting was continued to January 17, 1919, at eleven o'clock a.m., at which date the county clerk of Siskiyou County attended pursuant to subpoena, bringing with him all the official ballots and the full and complete election returns of Siskiyou County for the general election on November 5, 1918.

At the hearing on January 17, contestant appeared by Dozier & Dozier, his attorneys, and contestee by Carr & Kennedy, his attorneys. It was thereupon stated by attorneys for contestant that the only precincts as to which contestant had any reason to believe there were irregularities in the counting of the ballots were Dorris precincts 1 and 2, Dunsmuir precincts 1, 2, 3 and 4, and Callahan precincts 1 and 2, and it was further stated by the attorneys for contestant that unless the contestant gained enough votes by a recount of the ballots in these precincts to overcome the lead or majority of the contestee, that contestant would not ask to have the ballots of any further precincts opened or counted. The committee thereupon proceeded to open the official ballots and election returns of these eight precincts, and after counting all the ballots in each of these precincts found that contestee, William B. Shearer, was entitled to four more votes in these precincts than shown on the certificate of the Secretary of State, while the contestant, Ernest W. Elfendahl, gained none, that is to say, that there were cast for said contestee, William B. Shearer, seven more votes than for said contestant, Ernest W. Elfendahl.

After the recount of the ballots in these eight precincts, contestant, pursuant to his statement made before the commencement of the count, requested that recount of ballots in any further precincts be discontinued.

Attached hereto is statement of the expenses allowed by the committee. In the allowance of expenses, the committee feels that costs and expenses are properly allowable to the party found entitled to the seat, but should not be allowed to an unsuccessful contestant.

The committee, therefore, finds that William B. Shearer was duly elected at the general election held on November 5, 1918, as State Senator in the Second Senatorial District, and recommends that costs and expenses be allowed as shown in the annexed statement.

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR.

The following message from the Governor was taken up and read:

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, STATE OF CALIFORNIA.

To the Senate and Assembly of the State of California.

Measures now before you for consideration provide for the building of many hundreds of miles of State highways. So far as I can learn, there seems to be in every section of the State a very general opinion that we should at this time undertake the construction of such additional roads as are essential to greater industrial development and will directly contribute to the prosperity of all the people.

Through their favorable experience with highways already constructed, the people of California have become confirmed in their support of good roads. They have come to appreciate the value of these splendid arteries of commerce leading into every section of the State, not only for the tourist and pleasure seeker, but for the business man and for the transportation of passengers and freight. Besides providing for the handling of the products of fields and factories to market and to rail and to water terminals, these splendid highways extending along our coast line and the great interior valleys, with laterals to all sections of the State, from a standpoint of military defense alone are worth many times the amount of money that has been expended upon them in the past and that it is now proposed to spend upon their completion.

It is the duty of the State government of California no less than it is the duty of individual citizens to do all these things which can be done to provide employment for returning soldiers, sailors and marines. Every brave lad who answered the nation's call and stood ready and willing to give his life, if need be, that free institutions might be preserved, is entitled, as a matter of right and justice, to have an opportunity to earn an honest living.

By engaging on a large scale in the construction of necessary roads at this time, California not only can in large measure discharge her duty to returning heroes, but at the same time greatly promote her own prosperity. I believe it to be a fact that the State never has derived so great benefit from any expenditure or investment as from the money spent upon the State highway system.

If this extensive program of highway construction can be put into operation without delay, it will materially assist in absorbing back into the peace-time industries of this State not only the men who have been serving in the Army or the Navy, but also many of those who have been engaged in war industries. Some of the men employed in building ships soon must be seeking other employment. The returning veteran who goes back to his former place in factory, or shop, or store, or office, or farm, must displace some other worker, and provision also must be made for the displaced worker.

If California is to attain the highest degree of prosperity, she must expand her industries and her activities so as to provide many more jobs than now exist. There must be work for every honest man or woman who wants to work. Not only must we provide work for returning soldiers, but as well we must see to it that those now engaged in useful pursuits be not thereby forced into idleness. A state is truly prosperous only when all its people are happily and contentedly engaged in honest and profitable pursuits.

If the State will authorize the extensive program of highway construction which it appears is agreed upon in all sections as being both desirable and necessary, and will arrange to put these operations into effect at once, it will make a very substantial contribution toward providing places for those who wish to work. If the State will do its part in providing additional work, private business no doubt can be relied upon to keep pace, and the industries of the State soon will be restored to a healthful and profitable peace basis.

I earnestly urge that the Legislature take immediate action to place before the people of this State a proposition to vote additional highway bonds. That these bonds may be voted at the earliest date and the actual construction begun with the least delay, I suggest that the matter be submitted to the people in the form of an amendment to the constitution of California, to be passed upon at a special election to be called as soon after adjournment of the Legislature as possible, and that because of the special importance of the matter, no other question be put upon the ballot at that time.

I respectfully request that you give this undertaking your earnest consideration.

WM. D. STEPHENS, Governor.

April 3, 1919.

COMMUNICATION.

During the debate upon the motion to adopt the above report, the following communication was presented by Senator Inman, and, at his request, ordered printed in the Journal:

A proposition was submitted by Senator Inman to Senator Breed and those opposing the introduction of the above measure as follows: First, that they withdraw said opposition and permit said measure to be introduced and take its regular course to the time of passage, if necessary. That a cable be sent immediately to America's peace delegates at Paris requesting them to state whether or not, in their opinion, the passage or attempted passage of such legislation would embarrass our representatives in their deliberations. If their response be in the affirmative, then said measure and all like measures be dropped and not further insisted upon at this session.

UNANIMOUS CONSENT GRANTED.

Senator Duncan asked for and was granted unanimous consent to be considered as joining with Senator Inman in the foregoing proposition.

The following resolution was offered:

By Senator Kehoe:

Resolved, That the consideration of the report of the Committee on Rules on Senator Inman's and Senator Duncan's requests for permission to introduce bills be continued pending receipt of advice from the President of the United States or Robert Lansing, Secretary of State, as to whether or not the permission to introduce these bills will embarrass the United States at the Peace Conference, it being understood that upon receipt of advice from the President or Secretary of State that the introduction of these bills will not work such embarrassment, the Senate will take all necessary and appropriate action to the end that said bills may be acted upon by the Senate at the earliest possible date, and to that end will vote to suspend the constitution and give said bill three readings on the same day.

Resolution read.

Neither the director nor any of his assistants, or employees, shall hold or own any stock or other interest whatsoever in any fish business. The annual salary of the director shall be three thousand six hundred dollars. The director shall have full power and authority to administer oaths, certify to all official acts and to perform all proper acts necessary to carry out any and all of the purposes of this act.

The salaries of the state fisheries director and his assistants and employees shall be paid monthly from the state fisheries director's fund, as hereinbefore provided, and after being approved by the director upon claims therefor to be audited by the state board of control.

SEC. 7. The director, before entering upon the business of his office, shall make and execute to the State of California an official bond in the sum of five thousand dollars, for the faithful performance of the duties of his office. The director may require of his assistants and employees such bonds for the faithful performance of their duties as in his judgment may be necessary.

SEC. 8. It is hereby declared to be the purpose of this act to bring about an increased consumption of fresh fish by extending and otherwise improving the distribution thereof, and the state fisheries director is hereby authorized for this purpose to conduct educational and publicity campaigns.

It shall be unlawful for any person engaged in the business of selling fresh fish to destroy or divert from food purposes any food fish without first offering the same for sale at some station established by the state fisheries director, or without securing permission from the state fisheries director so to do. Nothing in this section, or elsewhere in this act, shall be construed to apply to food fish used by fishermen as bait in the customary manner.

SEC. 12. It shall be the duty of the state fisheries director to investigate all places where fish are kept and sold, and to make and enforce reasonable sanitary regulations therefor, so that the minimum amount of diversion, spoilage and wastage may result.

SEC. 13. The state fisheries director shall, so far as his means permit, establish stations for the receipt of fish, at Eureka, San Francisco, Monterey, Santa Cruz, San Pedro, San Diego, on the Sacramento and San Joaquin rivers, and at such other places as may be necessary to carry out the provisions of this act.

SEC. 14. The state fisheries director may establish a service for the distribution of fish to retail buyers in every county seat in California, and in such other cities and towns as the business may justify, and may establish retail markets where necessary. The state fisheries director shall have authority to buy fish in addition to those offered for sale at any station established by him as provided in section eleven of this act. He may operate retail markets wherever he may deem such action necessary, and may also buy and sell fish, either at wholesale or retail in order to carry out the purposes of this act. Such retail markets, when operated by the state, shall be equipped with proper appliances for keeping fish in a wholesome and sanitary condition, under rules and regulations of the state fisheries director, and shall carry in a conspicuous place a sign reading "state fish market."

SEC. 15. The state fisheries director may contract with the various railroad and express companies in California for the equipping of cars for the proper keeping of fish in transit, and may establish with such railroad or express companies a regular service, by which fish may be carried from the collecting stations to the various points of distribution.

SEC. 16. The state fisheries director is authorized to establish rules and regulations for the carrying out of the provisions of this act, and shall print and distribute the same to all persons applying therefor, free of charge.

SEC. 17. Every person, individual, partnership, association or corporation, other than market fishermen, who engage in the business of buying and selling fish, shall pay to the state a semiannual license fee as follows:

First. All retail dealers, dealing exclusively in fish, crustaceans, and mollusks, ten dollars.

Second. All retail dealers, handling fish in connection with a retail business, owned by them, in other products than crustaceans and mollusks, and all peddlers and hucksters, five dollars.

Third. All fish brokers, and all fish buyers, fifty dollars.

Fourth. All fishermen's organizations selling the catch of their members or agents selling the catch of such fishermen's organizations, fifty dollars.

Fifth. All salesmen or agents representing wholesale fish dealers located outside the state, fifty dollars.

Sixth. All wholesale fish dealers, on the basis of their gross receipts from the sale of fresh food fish, including their sales at branch houses, as follows:

When gross receipts for six months are:

Not in excess of twenty-five thousand dollars, fifty dollars.

Between twenty-five thousand dollars and fifty thousand dollars, seventy-five dollars.

Between fifty thousand dollars and one hundred thousand dollars, one hundred dollars.

Between one hundred thousand dollars and two hundred thousand dollars, one hundred fifty dollars.

Between two hundred thousand dollars and three hundred thousand dollars, two hundred dollars.

More than three hundred thousand dollars, two hundred fifty dollars.

Seventh. All branch houses of wholesale dealers—that is, wholesale dealers operating more than one wholesale establishment—for each branch house, five dollars.

Fees payable by wheel sale dealers under paragraph six of this section as above, shall be due and payable in advance, and shall be based on the applicant's sworn statement as to his gross receipts from the sale of food fish sold for human consumption in its fresh condition, using the corresponding period of the preceding year as a basis. If the applicant did no wholesale business during said corresponding period, a license shall be issued upon payment of a fee of fifty dollars and the execution of a good and satisfactory bond by the applicant to the state fisheries director, guaranteeing the payment of such additional amount as will make the total payable on his actual business during such period equal to the license fee fixed in said paragraph six of this section. If the amount of actual sales of any such dealer for any semiannual period, for which he has paid license fees in advance, shall be greater or less than the amount on which said license fee was based, he shall, at the end of such period, be charged with and shall pay to the state such additional amount as would be due on the basis of actual sales, as set forth in paragraph six hereof, if the amount of actual sales be greater than the amount on which license fee was paid; or if the actual sales be less than such amount for any such semiannual period, he shall, at the end thereof, be credited with the difference between the license fee paid in advance and the fee that would have been due on the basis of actual sales as set forth in paragraph six hereof; but such credit shall be made only on further license fees that may be payable by any such dealer.

SEC. 18. All licenses provided for in this act shall be paid in advance and shall terminate with December thirty-first and June thirtieth, whichever date may first follow the date of issue. A proportionate charge shall be made according to the number of months covered for licenses issued for a portion of the semiannual period, but in no case shall the fee be less than one-half of the semiannual fee, excepting those issued to wholesale dealers as hereinabove provided in section eighteen of this act. A separate license shall be required for each place of business from persons owning or operating more than one establishment, except that the sale of fish from a vehicle by the holder of an exclusive retail fish dealer's license shall not require a peddler's license. Persons doing both a wholesale and retail business shall be required to take out both wholesale and retail licenses, unless the total receipts of any such person amount to less than ten thousand dollars per annum, and any such person having total receipts of less than ten thousand dollars per annum shall be considered a retail dealer for licenses hereunder.

SEC. 19. All licenses required by this act shall be issued by the state fisheries director as hereinafter provided for, upon written application accompanied by proper fee.

SEC. 20. The state controller shall prepare suitable license blanks, of the form and class designated by the state fisheries director, which shall purport to license the holder to deal in fish. They shall be numbered consecutively, commencing with one, and shall provide spaces in which to insert the name of the person to whom issued, his business address, and the period covered. The controller shall deliver all licenses to the state fisheries director, who shall thereupon sign and issue them in accordance with the terms of this act.

SEC. 21. Any license may be transferred or assigned by the holder thereof, upon payment of a transfer fee of five dollars; provided, notice shall be given in writing to the state fisheries director, hereinafter provided for, within ten days of such transfer or assignment. In such cases the original license shall be returned to the state fisheries director and cancelled and a new license issued in lieu thereof for the unexpired portion of the original license, upon payment of the fee named. If notice of transfer or assignment be not given, the license shall be invalid for any other purpose than the original license.

SEC. 22. In the event of a license issued under the authority of this act being lost or accidentally destroyed, a duplicate license may be issued by the state fisheries director.

SEC. 23. Every license shall be conspicuously displayed in the place of business for which it is issued, or upon request must be shown by any licensee having no established place of business.

SEC. 24. Nothing in this act shall be construed as applying to fish sold direct by fishermen to private consumers nor to fish caught in waters within the state privately owned, nor to crustaceans nor mollusks, nor to fish delivered or sold to packing or preserving plants.

SEC. 25. Any license issued to any retail dealer, wholesale dealer, peddler, huckster, fish buyer, fish broker, or other person engaged in the business of buying and selling fish issued pursuant to the provisions of this act may be suspended by the state fisheries director for a period not to exceed thirty days in the event the holder thereof violates any provision of this act, or violates any of the rules or regulations prescribed by the state fisheries director under the authority conferred by this act; provided, however, that such suspension shall be made only after due notice of such intention has been given the offender and an opportunity given him to rebut the charge at a formal hearing before the state fisheries director, at which hearing the accused shall be entitled to be represented by an attorney, and that any action so taken shall be subject to review by the courts.

SEC. 26. The state fisheries director may require from any person engaged in marketing fish a written statement as to the amount and varieties of fish caught or on hand or sold by said person.

SEC. 27. The state fisheries director may make investigations concerning all matters relating to the provisions of this act. In connection therewith he shall have the right to inspect the books and records of any person engaged in catching, converting or marketing fish, and the state fisheries director is hereby empowered to hear complaints, administer oaths, certify to all official acts, and to issue subpoenas for the attendance of witnesses and the production of papers, books, accounts, documents and testimony in any inquiry, investigation, hearing or proceeding in any part of the state.

Sec. 28. The superior court in and for the county, or city and county, in which any inquiry, investigation or proceeding may be held by the state fisheries director shall have power to compel attendance of witnesses, the giving of testimony and the production of papers, including books, accounts and documents as required by any subpoena issued by the state fisheries director. The court upon petition of the state fisheries director shall enter an order directing the witness to appear before the court at a time and place to be fixed by the court in such order, the time to be not more than ten days from the date of the order, and then and there show cause why he had not attended and testified or produced said papers before the state fisheries director. A copy of said order shall be served upon said witness. If it shall appear to the court that said subpoena was regularly issued by the state fisheries director, the court shall thereupon enter an order that said witness appear before the state fisheries director at a time and place to be fixed by the court, and testify or produce the required papers, and upon failure to obey said order, said witness shall be dealt with as for contempt of court.

Sec. 29. On or before the tenth day of each month the state fisheries director shall remit to the state treasury all moneys collected by him under this act during the preceding month. All such remittances shall be placed to the credit of the state fisheries director's fund, and said fund shall be kept separate and apart from other state moneys. All expenses of whatsoever nature incurred by said director pursuant to the provisions of this act, including the actual and necessary traveling and other expenses of the director and his assistants and employees incurred while on the business of the office, and including the premium and charge for bonds given by surety companies for the director and his assistants and employees when required by the director or by the provisions of this act, shall be paid from the said fund after approval by the director upon claims to be audited by the state board of control, except as provided in section five of this act.

Sec. 30. The state fisheries director shall have a seal bearing the inscription "state fisheries director, State of California, seal," which seal shall be affixed to all instruments, including licenses issued under the provisions of this act.

Sec. 31. The state fisheries director shall make and submit to the governor, on or before the first day of December of each year, a report containing a full and complete account of his transactions and proceedings, for the preceding fiscal year, together with such facts, suggestions and recommendations as may be deemed of value to the people of the state.

Sec. 32. Any violation of the provisions of this act shall be a misdemeanor punishable by fine not exceeding five hundred dollars, or by imprisonment not exceeding ninety days, or by both fine and imprisonment, and all such fines and forfeitures so collected shall be paid into the state treasury to the credit of the state fisheries director's fund.

Sec. 33. If any section, subsection, sentence, clause or phrase of this act is for any reason held to be unconstitutional such decision shall not affect the validity of the remaining portion of this act. The legislature hereby declares that it would have passed this act and each section, subsection, sentence, clause and phrase thereof, irrespective of the fact that one or more other sections, subsections, sentences, clauses or phrases be declared unconstitutional.

Sec. 34. The act entitled "An act to empower the state market director of California to regulate and control the business of buying and selling fish; to regulate the destruction of food fish; to create a state fish exchange; to license those engaged in marketing fish; to create a state fish exchange fund and a revolving fund; to provide penalties for violation of this act; to investigate and report on the fish industry; and to promote the sale of fish," approved June 1, 1917, and all acts and parts of acts in conflict with this act are hereby repealed.

Sec. 35. Inasmuch as the fishing industry is at a standstill in certain waters of the state and the stagnation and agitation which are the result of existing laws threaten to become a serious menace to the welfare of the state at large; and inasmuch as the high cost of living is the cause of great distress and suffering throughout the state and a spirit of distress and unrest among the people thereof; and inasmuch as this act will provide a substantial remedy for the troubles prevailing; it is hereby declared that this act is an urgency measure necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety and under the provisions of section one of article four of the constitution shall go into immediate effect.

CONSIDERATION OF MOTION.

The hour of two o'clock and thirty minutes p.m. having arrived, the motion to adopt the following resolution, heretofore offered by Senator Kehoe, was taken up for consideration:

Resolved, That the consideration of the report of the Committee on Rules on Senator Inman's and Senator Thompson's requests for permission to introduce bills be continued pending receipt of advice from the President of the United States or Robert Lansing, Secretary of State, as to whether or not the permission to introduce these bills will embarrass the United States at the Peace Conference, it being understood that upon receipt of advice from the President or Secretary of State that the introduction of these bills will not work such embarrassment, the Senate will take all necessary and appropriate action to the end that said bills may be acted upon by the Senate at the earliest possible date, and to that end will vote to suspend the Constitution and give said bills three readings on the same day.

PROPOSED CABLEGRAM.

The following proposed cablegram to be sent to the President of the United States was presented and read:

SACRAMENTO, CALIFORNIA, April 3, 1919.

Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States, Paris, France.

Request has just been made to the Senate of California for permission to introduce two bills. One absolutely forbids Japanese to lease agricultural lands in this State. The other is directed against the so-called Japanese "picture-bride" marriages. Will the introduction or the enactment into law of such bills embarrass yourself and other representatives of the United States at the Peace Conference? The Senate, out of respect to the President of the United States, is taking no action until an answer is received from you.

SENATE OF THE STATE OF CALIFORNIA.

By JOSEPH A. BECK, Secretary.

MOTION.

On motion of Senator Inman, the foregoing proposed cablegram was withdrawn from consideration.

WITHDRAWAL OF PROPOSITION.

The following request was presented by Senator Inman:

MR. PRESIDENT: In view of the introduction of the resolution by Senator Kehoe, I request permission to withdraw my proposition heretofore submitted as set out in the following communication:

An act to amend sections two and three of an act entitled "An act relating to the rights, powers and disabilities of aliens and of certain companies, associations and corporations with respect to property in this state, providing for escheats in certain cases, providing the procedure therein and repealing all acts and parts of acts inconsistent and in conflict herewith," approved May 19, 1913.

A proposition was submitted by Senator Inman to Senator Breed and those opposing the introduction of the above measure as follows:

First That they withdraw said opposition and permit said measure to be introduced and take its regular course to the time of passage, if necessary. That a cable be sent immediately to America's peace delegates at Paris requesting them to state whether or not, in their opinion, the passage or attempted passage of such legislation would embarrass our representatives in their deliberations. If their response be in the affirmative, then said measure and all like measures be dropped and not further insisted upon at this session.

Request granted.

STATEMENT BY SENATOR BREED.

Senator Breed was granted permission to place in the Journal the following statement regarding the proposition of Senators Inman and Duncan to communicate with the American Peace Delegation regarding his proposed bill:

I was pleased with the proposal of Senator Inman and Senator Duncan to cable to those representing America at the Peace Conference in Paris and I think we are all agreed that this proposed legislation should not be considered if it would embarrass the President and other representatives of the United States at the Peace Conference. I differ with Senator Inman on the point as to whether the cablegram should be sent after or before the introduction of his bill. On this point I took the stand that the Senate must not be put in the position of having thirty Senators agree even to the introduction of a bill which in the opinion of our President would embarrass the delicate negotiations now being conducted in Paris. It now appears that Senator Inman desires to withdraw his proposition and proposes to proceed to the introduction and discussion of his bill without knowledge as to whether such action will or will not endanger the peace of the world by embarrassing the pending negotiations. To this I can not and will not consent and accordingly urge the passage of Senator Kehoe's resolution. This resolution carries out the original proposition of Senator Inman in so far that no step should be taken which would be an embarrassment to the national administration at this critical time.

POINT OF ORDER.

Senator Inman raised the point of order that Senator Kehoe's resolution was out of order, in that it would serve to indefinitely postpone action on the request by Senator Inman to introduce a bill.

DECISION ON POINT OF ORDER.

The President announced his decision, and declared the point of order not well taken.

MOTION.

Senator Inman moved that the resolution offered by Senator Kehoe be laid on the table.

Motion seconded.

The roll was called, and the motion lost by the following vote:

The windows required by this section to open onto a street, yard, or an outer court, except windows from kitchens, may open through porches, provided that said porches do not exceed seven feet in depth, measured at right angles to the windows and that at least seventy-five per cent of the entire side of the porch, bounded by the street, yard, or outer court, is left open except that the open space may be inclosed with mosquito screens, except that in cases where the porch exceeds seven feet in depth only seventy-five per cent of the area of windows opening onto it shall be counted in making up total window area for the room involved.

Kitchens, sculleries, pantries or other rooms used for cooking, storing or preparing of food, public dining rooms, laundries, barber shops, Turkish baths, general amusement or reception rooms and general utility rooms, in lieu of windows may be ventilated by an exhaust system of ventilation installed, constructed and maintained as prescribed by section sixty-one hereof.

SEC. 10. Section twenty-nine of said act is hereby amended to read as follows:

SEC. 29. In every hotel hereafter erected each window from water-closet compartment, bath or toilet room, shall be not less than three square feet in area. In each such compartment or room containing more than one water-closet, bath urinal or slop-sink, the aggregate window area shall be equivalent to three square feet for each water-closet, urinal or slop-sink therein; except that at no time need the aggregate window area exceed one-fourth of the superficial floor area of such compartment or room. A slop-sink may be installed separately without window if the compartment containing same is provided with a vent near the ceiling, having sectional area of not less than thirty-six square inches, lined with galvanized iron and extending two feet above the roof with approved cap, and an intake of same size near the floor, lined with same material and which shall come in horizontally from outside wall having galvanized iron hood to protect opening in wall, and galvanized wire mesh over all opening. A shower may be installed in a separate compartment without a window provided the room contains a bathroom fitted with a bathtub, if the said shower is provided with a vent near the ceiling having sectional area of not less than one hundred forty-four square inches lined with galvanized iron and extending two feet above the roof with an approved cap and an air intake of same size near the floor lined with same material and which shall come in horizontally from the outside wall having galvanized iron hood and galvanized iron mesh over all openings.

SEC. 11. Section thirty-one of said act is hereby amended to read as follows:

SEC. 31. In every hotel hereafter erected every public hallway, on any floor where there are more than five guest rooms, shall have at least one window, opening directly upon a street, or upon a yard or a court, of the dimensions specified in this act and located on the same lot; such windows shall be at the end of the public hallway and placed so as to secure the maximum light into the hallway; provided, however, that in hotels not exceeding two stories in height the public hallway may, in lieu of such windows, be lighted and ventilated by one or more skylights constructed in accordance with the provisions of this act.

Every window required by this act in a public hallway shall be not less than twenty-nine inches in clear width, not less than forty-eight inches in height, and the finished sill of same shall be not more than thirty inches above the adjoining finished floor.

Every window shall be made so as to open, and so arranged that at least one-half of the window may be opened unobstructed.

Every skylight provided for in this section shall have an effective horizontal area of glass of not less than fifteen square feet, and shall have ridge ventilators or fixed or movable louvers so as to provide a ventilating area of not less than five hundred square inches. Such skylights shall be so located that no portion of the hallway be distant more than twenty feet, measured from a vertical line, from a skylight opening.

Any part of a public hallway which is offset, or recessed from any other part of a hallway where such offset or recess is more in length than one and one-half times the width of the public hallway from which it offsets or recesses, shall be deemed a separate public hallway within the meaning of this section, except that a recess or offset from a public hallway may be of a greater length than one and one-half times the width of the public hallway from which it extends, if at or near the extreme end of said offset or recess there is provided a separate and independent vent not less than one square foot in sectional area, and extending from each such recess or offset to a point two feet above the roof and properly capped with number twenty-six gauge galvanized iron. These vent ducts shall be lined with galvanized iron. A twelve-inch by twelve-inch galvanized iron one-half inch mesh grill shall connect into each of these ducts from the recess at a point near the floor line.

French windows or doors, if arranged to open and glazed to give the areas of opening and glass required by this act for windows in public hallways, may be used in lieu of windows therein.

Sec. 12. Section forty-eight of said act is hereby amended to read as follows:

Sec. 48. Public hallways, landings, and corridors from stairways shall be of, at least, the same width and measured in the same manner as the stairways, as provided in section forty-two hereof.

Sec. 13. Section sixty-nine of said act is hereby amended to read as follows:

Sec. 69. Every hotel shall be maintained in good repair. The roofs and bottoms of vent shafts shall be kept waterproof and all storm or casual water properly drained and conveyed therefrom to the street sewer, storm drain or street or alley gutter.

All portions of the lot about such hotel, including the yards, courts and passageways, shall be properly graded and drained when the natural grade of the lot is above the level of the adjoining street or alley; and, whenever the department charged with the enforcement of this act deems it necessary for the protection of the health of the occupants of such building, or for the proper sanitation of the premises, it may require that the said lot, yards, courts and passageways be graveled or properly paved and surfaced with concrete, asphalt or similar materials.

Open areas for basement windows or open areaways for exterior stairways to basement that extend below the level of street or alley gutter may be drained in the following manner:

(a) By putting in not less than a six-inch, inside dimension, glazed, hub jointed cement or terra cotta piping in which the lower section or length of said pipe shall be either perforated, or porous, and open at the end thereof. This piping is to be so placed in a hole that is bored, or dug, for that purpose that it slopes away from the walls, or footings of the building to which said areas are attached at an angle not less than thirty degrees nor more than sixty degrees and to extend to sand or gravel strata where possible, but in no case is the net inside cubical contents of the pipe to be less than the cubical contents of a one inch rainfall covering the net superficial area of said area or areaways.

(b) By putting in automatic hydraulic or electric or so-called "cellar drainage" pumps of sufficient size to remove this drainage water to street or alley gutters, in which case one or more of these areas or areaways may be drained into a water tight brick or concrete well through pipes as described in paragraph (a) of this section, and the well shall be at least two feet in diameter and extend not less than two feet below the lowest drain pipe entering into it. The pipe through which the accumulated water is to be pumped to the street or alley gutter shall be galvanized iron pipe and not less than one inch inside diameter. Said well to have regular cast-iron or wrought-iron manhole cover not less than two feet in diameter.

(c) By connecting two or more areas together by means of a two-inch drain iron pipe having floors and water-tight connections and gratings same as hereinbelow provided and the drainage pipes at no point to have a fall of less than one-half inch to the foot. Said drainage piping to extend to an artificial boulder and gravel pit or well, located at some convenient or central point not less than ten feet from rear wall of the building to which the areas are attached and the top of which said pit or well is at least one foot below the level of the basement floor of said building.

The estimated net "reservoir" capacity of said artificial boulder and gravel pit or well is to be twice the aggregate capacity or cubical contents of a one inch rainfall covering the net superficial area of said connected areas or areaways.

The bottoms, or floors of all such areas, or areaways are to have cement, asphaltum or other water-tight floors and so pitched, or graded that said floors will drain away from walls of said building or footings thereof, and the connection between said area floors and the drainage pipe above mentioned is to be made secure as well as water-tight, and fitted with a suitable cast iron or galvanized iron grating or strainer and of not larger than one-half inch mesh.

Nothing in this act is to prevent leveling up of the bottoms of floors of those areas or areaways, nor prevent owners of buildings having such areas or areaways from extending their pipe drains, as above described in section (a) hereof, down deeper than above stipulated and to known gravel or sand beds and in such case the angle of boring, or placing such pipe can be increased to ninety degrees providing such gravel or sand bed is at least five inches below the basement floor level.

In case the above areas, or areaways are to be covered with water-tight covers, or door-flaps, that are hinged in place, then none of the above provisions and requirements are to apply in such said cases.

In case the count does not go down below the second floor level, the intake shall consist of unobstructed open ducts having an open interior area of not less than sixteen square feet at any point, and covered at each end with a wire screen with a mesh not finer than one inch. Such ducts shall be designed and so arranged as to be easily cleaned out. These ducts or intakes must in any case be either of fireproof construction or lined with number twenty-six galvanized iron on inside fastened to a solid backing.

that windows required to open on to a street, yard, or an outer court, except windows from kitchens, may open through porches, provided that said porches do not exceed seven feet in depth measured at right angles to the windows and that at least seventy-five per cent of the entire side of the porch, bounded by the street, yard, or outer court, is left open except that the open space may be enclosed with mosquito screens, and except that in cases where the porch exceeds seven feet in depth only seventy-five per cent of the area of windows opening on to said porch shall be counted in making up total window area for the room involved.

A water-closet in a cellar shall have the same window ventilation as water-closets on other floors.

SEC. 9. Section thirty-two of said act is hereby amended to read as follows:

Sec. 32. In every tenement house hereafter erected each window in a water-closet compartment or bath, toilet or slop-sink room, or shower room, shall be not less than three square feet in area. The aggregate area of windows for each such compartment or room shall be not less than six square feet. In each such compartment or room containing more than one water-closet, bath, urinal or slop-sink, the aggregate window area shall be equivalent to three square feet for each water-closet, bath, urinal or slop-sink therein, except that at no time need the aggregate window area exceed one-fourth of the superficial floor area of such compartment or room.

A slop-sink, however, may be installed separately without window if the compartment containing same is provided with a vent near the ceiling, having a sectional area of not less than thirty-six square inches and extending two feet above the roof with an approved cap thereon and an intake of same size near the floor which shall come in horizontally from outside wall having a galvanized iron hood to protect opening in outer wall and galvanized wire mesh over all openings. Said vent and intake shall be lined with galvanized iron.

A shower may be installed in a separate compartment in an apartment without a window, provided the apartment contains a bathroom fitted with a bathtub, if the said compartment containing said shower is provided with a vent near the ceiling having sectional area of not less than one hundred forty-four square inches lined with galvanized iron and extending two feet above the roof, with an approved cap, and an air intake of the same size near the floor lined with the same material and which shall come in horizontally from the outside wall and having a galvanized iron hood and galvanized iron mesh over all openings.

SEC. 10. Section thirty-four of said act is hereby amended to read as follows:

Sec. 34. In every tenement house hereafter erected every public hallway, on any floor where there are more than three apartments, shall have at least one window, opening directly upon a street, or upon a yard or a court, of the dimensions specified in this act and located on the same lot; such windows shall be at the end of the public hallway and placed so as to secure the maximum light into the hallway; provided, however, that in tenement houses not exceeding two stories in height the public hallway may, in lieu of such windows, be lighted and ventilated by one or more skylights constructed in accordance with the provisions of this act.

Every window required by this act in a public hallway shall be not less than twenty-nine inches in clear width, nor less than fifty-eight inches in height, and the finished sill of same shall be not more than thirty inches above the adjoining finished floor.

Every such window shall be made so as to open, and so arranged that at least one-half of the window may be opened unobstructed.

Every skylight provided for in this section shall have an effective horizontal area of glass of not less than fifteen square feet, and shall have ridge ventilators or fixed or movable louvres so as to provide a ventilating area of not less than five hundred square inches. Such skylights shall be so located that no portion of the hallway be distant more than twenty feet, measured from a vertical line, from a skylight opening.

Any part of a public hallway which is offset or recessed off from any other part of a hallway where such offset or recess is more in length than three times the width of the public hallway from which it offsets or recesses, shall be deemed a separate public hallway within the meaning of this section, except that a recess or offset from a public hallway may be of a greater length than three times the width of the public hallway from which it extends, if at or near the extreme end of said offset or recess there is provided a separate and independent vent not less than one square foot in sectional area, and extending from each such recess or offset to a point two feet above the roof and properly capped. These vent ducts shall be lined with number twenty-six gauge galvanized iron. A twelve-inch by twelve-inch galvanized iron grill, one-half-inch mesh, shall connect into each of these ducts from the recess at a point near the floor line.

French windows or doors, if arranged to open and glazed to give the areas of opening and glass required by this act for windows in public hallways, may be used in lieu of windows therein.

SEC. 11. Section thirty-six of said act is hereby amended to read as follows:

Sec. 36. In every tenement house hereafter erected, every apartment shall be so arranged that access may be had to every living room, and to at least one water-closet compartment, without passing through a bedroom; provided, however, that nothing in this section shall be so construed as to prohibit passing through a bedroom in going from a kitchen to a bathroom or water-closet compartment. A public corridor may be considered as a suitable access to a bathroom or water-closet compartment within the apartment as required in this section.

SEC. 12. Section fifty-two of said act is hereby amended to read as follows:

Sec. 52. Public hallways, landings and corridors from stairways shall be at least of the same width and measured in the same manner as stairways as provided in section forty-six hereof.

SEC. 13. Section seventy-one of said act is hereby amended to read as follows:

Sec. 71. Every tenement house shall be maintained in good repair. The roofs and bottoms of vent shafts shall be kept waterproof and all storm or casual water properly drained and conveyed therefrom to the street sewer, storm drain or street or alley gutter.

All portions of the lot about such tenement house, including the yards, courts, and passageways, shall be properly graded and drained when the natural grade of the lot is above the level of the adjoining street or alley; and whenever the department charged with the enforcement of this act deems it necessary for the protection of the health of the occupants of such building, or for the proper sanitation of the premises, it may require that the said lot, yards, courts, and passageways be graveled or properly paved and surfaced with concrete, asphalt or similar materials.

Open areas for basement windows or open areaways for exterior stairways to basement that extend below the level of street or alley gutter may be drained in the following manner:

(a) By putting in not less than a six inch, inside dimension, glazed, hub-jointed cement or terra cotta piping in which the lower section or length of said pipe shall be either perforated, or porous, and open at the end thereof. This piping is to be so placed in a hole that is bored, or dug, for that purpose that it slopes away from the walls or footings of the building to which said areas are attached at an angle not less than thirty degrees nor more than sixty degrees and to extend to sand or gravel strata where possible, but in no case is the net inside cubical contents of the pipe to be less than the cubical contents of a one-inch rainfall covering the net superficial area of said area or areaways.

(b) By putting in automatic hydraulic or electric or so-called "cellar drainage" pumps of sufficient size to remove this drainage water to street or alley gutters, in which case one or more of these areas or areaways may be drained into a water-tight brick or concrete well through pipes as described in paragraph (c) of this section, and the well shall be at least two feet in diameter and extend not less than two feet below the lowest drain pipe entering into it. The pipe through which the accumulated water is to be pumped to the street or alley gutter shall be galvanized iron pipe and not less than one inch inside diameter. Said well to have a regular cast-iron or wrought-iron manhole cover not less than two feet in diameter.

(c) By connecting two or more areas together by means of a two-inch drain iron pipe having floors and water-tight connections and gratings same as herein below provided and the drainage pipes at no point to have a fall of less than one-half inch to the foot. Said drainage piping to extend to an artificial boulder and gravel pit or well, located at some convenient or central point not less than ten feet from rear wall of the building to which the areas are attached and the top of which said pit or wall is at least one foot below the level of the basement floor of said building.

The estimated net "reservoir" capacity of said artificial boulder and gravel pit or well is to be twice the aggregate capacity or cubical contents of a one-inch rainfall covering the net superficial area of said connected areas or areaways.

The bottoms, or floors of all such areas, or areaways are to have cement, asphaltum or other water-tight floors and so pitched, or graded that said floors will drain away from walls of said building, or footings thereof, and the connection between said area floors and the drainage pipe above mentioned is to be made secure as well as water-tight, and fitted with a suitable cast-iron or galvanized iron grating or strainer and of not larger than one-half-inch mesh.

Nothing in this act is to prevent leveling up of bottoms of floors of these areas or areaways with clean gravel of suitable size, nor prevent owners of a building having such areas or areaways from extending their pipe drains, as above described in section (a) thereof, down deeper than above stipulated and to known gravel or sand beds and, in such case, the angle of boring, or placing such pipe can be increased to ninety degrees providing such gravel or sand bed is at least five inches below the basement floor level.

In case the above areas, or areaways are to be covered over with hinged water-tight covers, or door-flaps that are hinged in place, then none of the above provisions and requirements are to apply in such said cases.

Sec. 3. Every city, county, city and county, or group of counties is hereby authorized and empowered to establish and maintain a tuberculosis ward or hospital for the treatment of persons in the active stages of tuberculosis. Every city, county, city and county, or group of counties which establishes and maintains a tuberculosis ward or hospital shall receive from the state the sum of three dollars per week for each person suffering from tuberculosis, cared for therein at public expense who is unable to pay for his support and who has no relative legally liable and financially able to pay for his support and who has been a bona fide resident of the city, county, city and county, or group of counties for one year; provided, that the city, county, city and county, or group of counties shall not become entitled to receive such state aid unless the tuberculosis ward or hospital conforms to the regulations of and is approved by the state bureau of tuberculosis. Said hospitals shall be allowed to receive pay patients. The medical superintendent of each hospital receiving state aid under this act shall render semiannually to the state bureau of tuberculosis a report under oath showing, for the period covered by the report, (1) the number of patients suffering from tuberculosis cared for therein at public expense, unable to pay therefor, and (2) the number of weeks of treatment of each such patient.

Every group of counties desiring to establish and maintain a tuberculosis ward or hospital for the treatment of persons suffering from tuberculosis shall appoint, by its board of supervisors, one of its members as a delegate, who shall attend the general meetings of the delegates of each county in said group; the necessary expense incurred in attending such meetings shall be a county charge.

The body thus formed shall be called the hospital central committee. The said delegates from each county are authorized and empowered to enter into an agreement with the other counties for and on behalf of the county appointing them binding said county to the joint enterprise and apportioning the cost of constructing and establishing said hospital and also apportioning cost of maintaining same.

All sums found due from any county according to its agreement duly entered into shall be a debt against said county and may be collected in the manner provided by law by the said hospital central committee or in its behalf by the board of supervisors of any county in said groups in any county thereof, by action instituted and tried in the county in which said hospital is situated.

The hospital central committee shall have power to appoint a committee to supervise and superintend the construction of the building, approve the bills, and do the usual things required of a building committee.

The hospital central committee shall constitute the governing body of said hospital and shall have the same powers and duties in regard thereto that a board of supervisors has over the county hospital, and shall hold meetings to be governed, as provided by rules duly adopted by said committee for its government, which rules may provide for the addition of other counties to the group, and shall have power to appoint such committees as necessary and prescribe their duties.

Any land required may be acquired or disposed of by the hospital central committee in such manner as it may be determined by a three-fourths vote of the members thereof; provided, that all counties comprising a group shall have had notice of the intention to acquire or dispose of the same. Title to land may be held in the name of the entire group or in any county composing the same as trustee for the use and benefit of all, as may be determined by said hospital central committee.

Each county in said group is authorized, empowered, and directed to pay its proportionate share to the hospital central committee, of such amount as the said committee may designate, to constitute a cash revolving fund to carry on the usual work and expense of the hospital. Each month a statement of the expenses of said hospital shall be sent to the board of supervisors, of each county, together with a claim for its proportionate share of said expenses. Said amounts when collected shall be paid into said cash revolving fund.

Said hospital central committee shall have the power to determine and pass upon the right of admission to said hospital of applicants subject to the limitations of this act.

SEC. 2. Section four of said act is hereby amended to read as follows:

Sec. 4. The sum of two hundred thousand dollars is hereby appropriated out of any money in the state treasury not otherwise appropriated, to be expended by the state board of health in carrying out the provisions of this act; provided, however, that not more than the sum of thirty thousand dollars shall be available for the purposes of said act other than the state aid therein provided. All claims against this appropriation shall be submitted for approval and audit to the state board of control, and shall be paid in accordance with law; provided, that there may be withdrawn from such appropriation with the permission of the state board of control and without, at the time furnishing vouchers and itemized statements a sum not to exceed five hundred dollars. Said sum so drawn shall be used as a revolving fund where cash advances are necessary and at the close of each fiscal year or at any other time upon the demand of the board of control must be accounted for and substantiated by vouchers and itemized statements submitted to and audited by the board of control and the controller.

(2) The term "commissioner" means one of the members of the commission.

(4) The term "injury," as used in this act, shall include any injury or disease arising out of the employment, including injuries to artificial members. (1) Where, at the time of the injury, both the employer and employee are subject to the compensation provisions of this act.

(2) Where, at the time of the injury, the employee is performing service growing out of and incidental to his employment and is acting within the course of his employment.

(3) Where the injury is proximately caused by the employment, either with or without negligence, and is not caused by the intoxication of the injured employee, or is not intentionally self-inflicted.

(4) Where the injury is caused by the serious and wilful misconduct of the injured employee, the compensation otherwise recoverable by him shall be reduced one-half; provided, however, that such misconduct of the employee shall not be a defense to the claim of the dependents of said employee, if the injury results in death, or to the claim of the employee, if the injury results in a permanent partial disability equaling or in excess of seventy per cent of total; and provided, further, that such misconduct of said employee shall not be a defense where his injury is caused by the failure of the employer to comply with any provision of law, or any safety order of the commission, with reference to the safety of places of employment; and provided, further, that in case of an injury suffered by an employee under sixteen years of age, it shall be conclusively presumed that such injury was not caused by serious and wilful misconduct.

(5) The term "course of the employment" shall be taken to include all services rendered by an employee for the employer's benefit or the furtherance of his work, reasonably undertaken, unless such service be excluded from the scope of employment by express prohibition.

(b) Where such conditions of compensation exist, the right to recover such compensation, pursuant to the provisions of this act, shall be the exclusive remedy against the employer for the injury or death; provided, that where the employee is injured by reason of the serious and wilful misconduct of the employer, or his managing representative, or if the employer be a partnership, on the part of one of the partners, or if a corporation, on the part of an executive or managing officer or general superintendent thereof, the amount of compensation otherwise recoverable for injury or death, as hereinafter provided, shall be increased one-half, any of the provisions of this act as to maximum payments or otherwise to the contrary notwithstanding; provided, however, that said increase of award shall in no event exceed twenty-five hundred dollars.

(c) In all other cases where the conditions of compensation do not concur, the liability of the employer shall be the same as if this act except section seventy-one thereof had not been passed.

SEC. 3. Section seven of said workmen's compensation, insurance and safety act of 1917, approved May 23, 1917, is hereby amended to read as follows:

(a) Such medical, surgical and hospital treatment, including nursing, medicines, medical and surgical supplies, crutches and apparatus, including artificial members, as may reasonably be required to cure and relieve from the effects of the injury, the same to be provided by the employer, and in case of his neglect or refusal seasonably to do so, the employer to be liable for the reasonable expense incurred by or on behalf of the employee in providing the same; provided, that if the employee so requests, the employer shall tender him one chance of physicians and shall nominate at least three additional practicing physicians competent to treat the particular case, or as many as may be available if three can not reasonably be named, from whom the employee may choose; the employee shall also be entitled, in any serious case, upon request, to the services of a consulting physician to be provided by the employer; all of said treatment to be at the expense of the employer. If the employee so requests, the employer must procure certification by the commission or a commissioner of the competency for the particular case of the consulting or additional physicians; provided, further, that the foregoing provisions regarding a change of physicians shall not apply to those cases where the employer maintains, for his own employees, a hospital and hospital staff, the adequacy and competency of which have been approved by the commission. Nothing contained in this section shall be construed to limit the right of the employee to provide, in any case, at his own expense, a consulting physician or any attending physicians whom he may desire. Controversies between employer and employee, arising under this section, shall be determined by the commission, upon the request of either party.

(b) If the injury causes temporary disability, a disability payment which shall be payable for one week in advance as wages on the eighth day after the injured employee leaves work as a result of the injury. If the injury causes permanent disability, a disability payment which shall be payable for one week in advance as wages on the eighth day after the injury. Such indemnity shall thereafter be payable on the employer's regular pay day, but not less frequently than twice in each calendar month, unless otherwise ordered by the commission, subject, however, to the following limitations:

(1) If the period of disability does not last longer than seven days from the day the employee leaves work as the result of the injury, no disability payment whatever shall be recoverable.

(2) If the period of disability lasts longer than seven days from the day the employee leaves work as the result of the injury, no disability payment shall be recoverable for the first seven days of disability suffered.

2. The disability payment shall be as follows:

(1) If the injury causes temporary total disability, sixty-five per cent of the average weekly earnings during the period of such disability, consideration being given to the ability of the injured employee to compete in an open labor market;

(2) If the injury causes temporary partial disability, sixty-five per cent of the weekly loss in wages during the period of such disability;

(3) If the temporary disability caused by the injury is at times total and at times partial the weekly disability payment during the period of each such total or partial disability shall be in accordance with paragraphs one and two of this subdivision respectively;

(4) Paragraphs one, two, and three of this subdivision shall be limited as follows: Aggregate disability payments for a single injury causing temporary disability shall not exceed three times the average annual earnings of the employee, nor shall the aggregate disability period for such temporary disability in any event extend beyond two hundred forty weeks from the date of the injury.

(5) If the injury causes permanent disability, the percentage of disability to total disability shall be determined and the disability payment computed and allowed as follows: For a one per cent disability, sixty-five per cent of the average weekly earnings for a period of four weeks; for a ten per cent disability, sixty-five per cent of the average weekly earnings for a period of forty weeks; for a twenty per cent disability, sixty-five per cent of the average weekly earnings for a period of eighty weeks; for a thirty per cent disability, sixty-five per cent of the average weekly earnings for a period of one hundred twenty weeks; for a forty per cent disability, sixty-five per cent of the average weekly earnings for a period of one hundred sixty weeks; for a fifty per cent disability, sixty-five per cent of the average weekly earnings for a period of two hundred weeks; for a sixty per cent disability, sixty-five per cent of the average weekly earnings for a period of two hundred forty weeks; for a seventy per cent disability, sixty-five per cent of the average weekly earnings for a period of two hundred forty weeks, and thereafter ten per cent of such weekly earnings during the remainder of life; for an eighty per cent disability, sixty-five per cent of the average weekly earnings for a period of two hundred forty weeks and thereafter twenty per cent of such weekly earnings during the remainder of life; for a ninety per cent disability, sixty-five per cent of the average weekly earnings for a period of two hundred forty weeks and thereafter thirty per cent of such weekly earnings during the remainder of life; for a hundred per cent disability, sixty-five per cent of the average weekly earnings for a period of two hundred forty weeks and thereafter forty per cent of such weekly earnings during the remainder of life.

(6) The payment for permanent disabilities intermediate to those fixed by the foregoing schedule shall be computed and allowed as follows: If under seventy per cent, sixty-five per cent of the average weekly earnings for four weeks for each one per cent of disability; if seventy per cent or over, sixty-five per cent of the average weekly earnings for two hundred forty weeks and thereafter one per cent of such weekly earnings for each one per cent of disability in excess of sixty per cent to be paid during the remainder of life.

(7) In determining the percentages of permanent disability, account shall be taken of the nature of the physical injury or disfigurement, the occupation of the injured employee, and his age at the time of such injury, consideration being given to the diminished ability of such injured employee to compete in an open labor market.

(8) Where an injury causes both temporary and permanent disability, the injured employee shall not be entitled to both a temporary and permanent disability payment, but only to the greater of the two.

(9) The following permanent disabilities shall be conclusively presumed to be total in character: Loss of both eyes or the sight thereof; loss of both hands or the use thereof; an injury resulting in a practically total paralysis; an injury to the brain resulting in incurable imbecility or insanity. In all other cases, permanent total disability shall be determined in accordance with the fact.

(10) The percentage of permanent disability caused by any injury shall be so computed as to cover the permanent disability caused by that particular injury without reference to any injury previously suffered or any permanent disability caused thereby.

(11) The commission may prepare, adopt, and from time to time amend, a schedule for the determination of the percentages of permanent disabilities, such table to be based upon the proper combinations of the factors indicated in subdivision seven above. Such schedule shall be available for public inspection and without formal introduction in evidence shall be prima facie evidence of the percentage of permanent disability to be attributed to each injury covered by said schedule.

3. The death of an injured employee shall not affect the liability of the employer under subsections (a) and (b) of this section, so far as such liability has accrued and become payable at the date of the death, and any accrued and unpaid compensation shall be paid to the dependents, if any, or, if there are no dependents, to the personal representative of the deceased employee or heirs or other persons entitled thereto, without administration, but such death shall be deemed to be the termination of the disability.

(c) If the injury causes death, either with or without disability, the burial expense of the deceased employee as hereinafter limited and a death benefit which shall be payable in installments equal to sixty-five per cent of the average weekly earnings of the deceased employee, upon the employer's regular pay day, but not less frequently than twice in each calendar month, unless otherwise ordered by the commission, which death benefit shall be as follows:

(1) In case the deceased employee leaves a person or persons wholly dependent upon him for support, such dependents shall be allowed the reasonable expense of his burial, not exceeding one hundred dollars, and a death benefit, which shall be a sum sufficient, when added to the disability indemnity which at the time of death has accrued and become payable, under the provisions of subsection (b) hereof, and the said burial expense, to make the total disability indemnity, cost of burial and death benefit equal to three times his average annual earnings, such average annual earnings to be taken at not less than three hundred thirty-three dollars and thirty-three cents nor more than one thousand six hundred sixty-six dollars and sixty-six cents.

(2) In case the deceased employee leaves no person wholly dependent upon him for support, but one or more persons partially dependent thereon, the said dependents shall be allowed the reasonable expense of his burial, not to exceed one hundred dollars, and, in addition thereto, a death benefit which shall amount to three times the annual amount devoted by the deceased to the support of the person or persons so partially dependent; provided, that the death benefit shall not be greater than a sum sufficient, when added to the disability indemnity which, at the time of the death, has accrued and become payable under the provisions of subsection (b) hereof, together with the cost of the burial of such deceased employee, to make the total disability indemnity, cost of burial and death benefit equal to three times his average annual earnings, such average annual earnings to be taken at not less than three hundred thirty-three dollars and thirty-three cents nor more than one thousand six hundred sixty-six dollars and sixty-six cents.

(3) If the deceased employee leaves no person dependent upon him for support, the death benefit shall consist of the reasonable expense of his burial not exceeding one hundred dollars and such other benefit as may be provided by law.

(d) Payment of compensation in accordance with the order and direction of the commission shall discharge the employer from all claims therefor.

Sec. 5. Section twelve of said workmen's compensation, insurance and safety act of 1917, approved May 23, 1917, is hereby amended to read as follows:

Sec. 12. (a) The average annual earnings referred to in section nine hereof shall be fifty-two times the average weekly earnings referred to in said section; in computing such earnings the average weekly earnings shall be taken at not less than six dollars and forty-one cents nor more than thirty-two dollars and five cents, and three times the average annual earnings shall be taken at not less than one thousand dollars nor more than five thousand dollars, and between said limits said average weekly earnings shall be arrived at as follows:

(1) Where the employment is for six full working days a week, the average weekly earnings shall consist of ninety-five per cent of six times the daily earnings at the time of said injury. Where the employment is for five, five and one-half, six and one-half for seven working days a week, the average weekly earnings shall be ninety-five per cent of five, five and one-half, six and one-half or seven times the daily earnings at the time of the injury, as the case may be.

(2) If the earnings be irregular or specified to be by the week, month or other period, then the average weekly earnings shall be ninety-five per cent of the average earnings during such period of time, not exceeding one year, as may conveniently be taken to determine the average weekly rate of pay.

(3) Where the employment is for less than five days per week or is seasonal or where for any reason the foregoing methods of arriving at the average weekly earnings of the injured employee can not reasonably and fairly be applied, such average weekly earnings shall be taken at ninety-five per cent of such sum as shall reasonably represent the average weekly earning capacity of the injured employee at the time of his injury, due consideration being given to his actual earnings from all sources and employments during the year preceding his injury; provided, that the earnings from other occupations shall not be allowed in excess of the rate of wages paid.

(b) In determining such average weekly earnings, there shall be included overtime and the market value of board, lodging, fuel, and other advantages received by the injured employee, as part of his remuneration, which can be estimated in money, but such average weekly earnings shall not include any sum which the employer may pay to the injured employee to cover any special expenses entailed on him by the nature of his employment.

(c) If the injured employee is under twenty-one years of age, and his incapacity is permanent, his average weekly earnings shall be deemed, within the limits fixed, to be the weekly sum that under ordinary circumstances he would probably be able to earn after attaining the age of twenty-one years, in the occupation in which he was employed at the time of the injury or in any occupation to which he would reasonably have been promoted if he had not been injured, and if such probable earnings after attaining the age of twenty-one years can not reasonably be determined, such average weekly earnings shall be based upon three dollars a day for a six-day week.

Sec. 6. Section fourteen of said workmen's compensation, insurance and safety act of 1917, approved May 23, 1917, is hereby amended to read as follows:

Sec. 14. (a) The following shall be conclusively presumed to be wholly dependent for support upon a deceased employee: provided, that these presumptions shall not apply in favor of aliens who are nonresidents of the United States at the time of the injury.

(1) A wife upon a husband with whom she was living at the time of his injury, or for whose support such husband was legally liable at the time of his injury.

(2) A child or children under the age of eighteen years, or over said age, but physically or mentally incapacitated from earning, upon the parent with whom he or they are living at the time of the injury of such parent or for whose maintenance such parent was legally liable at the time of injury, there being no surviving dependent parent.

(b) In all other cases, questions of entire or partial dependency and questions as to who constitute dependents and the extent of their dependency shall be determined in accordance with the fact, as the fact may be at the time of the injury of the employee.

(c) No person shall be considered a dependent of any deceased employee unless in good faith a member of the family or household of such employee, or unless such person bears to such employee the relation of husband or wife, child, posthumous child, adopted child or stepchild, father or mother, father-in-law or mother-in-law, grandfather or grandmother, brother or sister, uncle or aunt, brother-in-law or sister-in-law, nephew or niece.

(d) 1. If there is one or more persons wholly dependent for support upon a deceased employee, such person or persons shall receive the entire death benefit, and any person or persons partially dependent shall receive no part thereof.

2. If there is more than one such person wholly dependent for support upon a deceased employee, the death benefit shall be divided equally among them.

3. If there is more than one person partially dependent for support upon a deceased employee, and no person wholly dependent for support, the amount allowed as a death benefit shall be divided among the persons so partially dependent in proportion to the relative extent of their dependency.

(e) The commission may, anything in this act contained to the contrary notwithstanding, set apart or reassign the death benefit to any one or more of the dependents in accordance with their respective needs and as may be just and equitable, and may order payment to a dependent subsequent in right, or not otherwise entitled, upon good cause being shown therefor. Such death benefit shall be paid to such one or more of the dependents of the deceased or to a trustee appointed by the commission or a commissioner for the benefit of the person or persons entitled, as may be determined by the commission. The person to whom the death benefit is paid for the use of the several beneficiaries shall apply the same in compliance with the findings and directions of the commission. In the event of the death of a dependent beneficiary of any deceased employee, if there be no surviving dependent, the death of such dependent shall terminate the death benefit, which shall not survive to the estate of such deceased dependent, except that payments of such death benefit accrued and payable at the time of the death of such sole remaining dependent shall be paid upon the order of the commission to the heirs of such dependent or, if none, to the heirs of the deceased employee, without administration.

Sec. 7. Section seventeen of said workmen's compensation, insurance and safety act of 1917, approved May 23, 1917, is hereby amended to read as follows:

Sec. 17. (a) Upon the filing with the commission by any party in interest, his attorney, or other representative authorized in writing, of an application in writing stating the general nature of any dispute or controversy concerning compensation, or concerning any right or liability arising out of, or incidental thereto, jurisdiction over which is vested by this act in the commission, a time and place shall be fixed for the hearing thereof, which hearing, unless otherwise agreed to by all the parties thereto, must be held not less than ten days nor more than thirty days after the filing of such application. The person filing such application shall be known as the applicant and the adverse party shall be known as the defendant. A copy of said application, together with a notice of the time and place of hearing thereof, shall forthwith be served upon all adverse parties and may be served either as a summons in a civil action or in the same manner as any other notice that is authorized or required to be served under the provisions of this act. A notice of the time and place of hearing shall also be served upon the applicant.

(b) The jurisdiction of the commission shall include any controversy relating to or arising out of the provisions of subsection (a) of section nine of this act, unless an express agreement shall have been made between the persons or institutions rendering such treatment and the employer or insurance carrier fixing the amount to be paid for the services.

(c) There shall be but one cause of action for each transaction coming within the provision of this act, and all claims brought for medical expense, disability payments, death benefits, burial expense, liens or any other matter arising out of such transaction may, in the discretion of the commission, be joined in the same proceeding at any time.

(d) The death of an employer subsequent to the sustaining of an injury by an employee shall not impair the right of such employee to proceed before the commission against the estate of such employer, and the failure of such employer or his dependents to cause the claim to be presented to the executor or administrator of the estate shall not in any way bar or suspend such right.

Sec. 8. Section twenty-four of said workmen's compensation, insurance and safety act of 1917, approved May 23, 1917, is hereby amended to read as follows:

Sec. 24. (a) No claim for compensation shall be assignable before payment, but this provision shall not affect the survivor thereof, nor shall any claim for compensation, or compensation awarded, adjudged or paid, be subject to be taken for the debts of the party entitled to such compensation, except as hereinafter provided. No compensation, whether awarded or voluntarily paid, shall be paid to any attorney at law or in fact or other agent, but shall be paid directly to the claimant entitled to the same; unless otherwise ordered by the commission. Any payment made to such attorney at law or in fact or other agent in violation of the provisions of this section shall not be credited to the employee.

(b) The commission may fix and determine and allow as a lien against any amount to be paid as compensation:

(1) A reasonable attorney's fee for legal services pertaining to any claim for compensation or application filed therefor and the reasonable disbursements in connection therewith.

(2) The reasonable expense incurred by or on behalf of the injured employee, as defined in subsection (a) of section nine hereof.

(3) The reasonable value of the living expenses of an injured employee or of his dependents, subsequent to the injury.

(4) The reasonable burial expenses of the deceased employee, not to exceed the sum of one hundred dollars.

(5) The reasonable living expenses of the wife or minor children of the injured employee, or both, subsequent to the date of the injury, where such employee has deserted or is neglecting his family, to be allowed in such proportion as the commission shall deem proper, upon application of the wife or guardian of the minor children.

(c) If notice in writing be given to the employer setting forth the nature and extent of any claim that may be allowed as a lien, the said claim shall be a lien against any amount thereafter to be paid as compensation, subject to the determination of the amount and approval thereof by the commission. The commission may, in its discretion, order the amount of such claim as fixed and allowed by it paid directly to the person entitled, either in a lump sum or in installments. Where it appears in any proceeding pending before the commission that a lien should be allowed if the same had been duly requested by the party entitled thereto, the commission may, in its discretion, and without any request for such lien having been made, order the payment of such claim to be made directly to the person entitled, in the same manner and with the same effect as though such lien had been regularly requested, and the award to such person shall constitute a lien against unpaid compensation due at the time of service of said award.

(d) No claim or agreement for the legal services or disbursements mentioned in paragraph (1) of subsection (b) hereof, or for the expense mentioned in paragraph (2) of said subsection (b), in excess of a reasonable amount, shall be valid or binding in any respect, and it shall be competent for the commission to determine what constitutes such reasonable amount.

(e) A claim for compensation for the injury or death of any employee, or any award of judgment entered thereon, shall have preference over all other unsecured debts of the employer or insurance carrier.

Sec. 9. Section twenty-six of said workmen's compensation, insurance and safety act of 1917, approved May 23, 1917, is hereby amended to read as follows:

Sec. 26. The term "employee," as used in this section, shall include the person injured and any other person in whom a claim may arise by reason of the injury or death of such injured person. The death of the employee, or of any other person, shall not abate any right of action established by this section. The claim of an employee for compensation shall not affect his right of action for damages arising out of injury or death against any person other than the employer; and any employer having paid, or having become obligated to pay, compensation, may likewise bring an action against such other person to recover said damages. If either such employee or such employer shall bring such action against such third person, he shall forthwith notify the other in writing, by personal service or registered mail, of such fact and of the name of the court in which such suit is brought, filing proof thereof in such action, and, if the action be brought by either, the other may, at any time before trial on the facts, join as party plaintiff or must consolidate his action, if brought independently. If the suit be prosecuted by the employer alone evidence of any expenditures which the employer has paid or become obligated to pay by reason of said injury or death shall be admissible, and such expenditures shall be deemed a part of the damages, including a reasonable attorney's fee to be fixed by the court; and if in such suit the employer shall recover more than the amount he has paid or become obligated to pay as compensation he shall pay the excess to the injured employee or other person entitled. If the employee joins in or prosecutes such suit, evidence of the amount of disability indemnity or death benefit paid by the employer shall not be admissible, but proof of all other expenditures on account of said injury or death shall be admissible and shall be deemed part of the damages. The court shall, on application, allow as a first lien against any judgment recovered by the employee the amount of the employer's expenditures for compensation. When any injury or death shall have been suffered by an employee, no release or settlement of any claim for damages by reason of such injury or death and no satisfaction of judgment in such proceedings, shall be valid without the written consent of either both employer and employee, or one of them, together with the consent of the commission or the court in which any such action may be pending.

SEC. 10. Section twenty-nine of said workmen's compensation, insurance and safety act of 1917, approved May 23, 1917, is hereby amended to read as follows:

Sec. 29. (a) Every employer as defined in section seven hereof, except the state and all political subdivisions or institutions thereof, shall secure the payment of compensation in one or more of the following ways:

1. By insuring and keeping insured against liability to pay compensation in one or more insurance carriers duly authorized to write compensation insurance in this state.

2. By securing from the commission a certificate of consent to self-insure, which may be given upon his furnishing proof satisfactory to the commission of ability to carry his own insurance and pay any compensation that may become due to his employees, the commission may, in its discretion, require such employer to deposit with the state treasurer a bond or securities, but not both a bond and securities, approved by the commission, in an amount to be determined by the commission. Such certificate may be revoked at any time for good cause shown. So long as the certificate of consent to self-insure has not been revoked, and the self-insurer has deposited with the state treasurer such bond or securities, the self-insurer shall not be required or obliged to pay into the state compensation insurance fund any sums covering liability for compensation, excepting life pensions; but shall be permitted, and such permission is hereby given the self-insurer, to fully administer any and all such compensation benefits assessed against the said insurer.

(b) If any employer shall fail so to secure the payment of compensation, any injured employee or his dependents may proceed against such employer by filing an application for compensation with the commission, and, in addition thereto, such injured employee or his dependents may bring an action at law against such employer for damages, the same as if this act did not apply, and shall be entitled in such action to the right to attach the property of the employer, at any time upon or after the institution of such action, in an amount to be fixed by the court, to secure the payment of any judgment which may ultimately be obtained. Such judgment shall include a reasonable attorney's fee to be fixed by the court. The provisions of the Code of Civil Procedure, except in so far as they may be inconsistent with this act, shall govern the issuance of and proceedings upon such attachment; provided, that if as a result of such action for damages a judgment is obtained against such employer in excess of the compensation awarded under this act, the compensation awarded by the commission, if paid, or if security approved by the court be given for its payment, shall be credited upon such judgment; provided, further, that in such action it shall be presumed that the injury to the employee was a direct result and grew out of the negligence of the employer, and the burden of proof shall rest upon the employer to rebut the presumption of negligence. In such proceeding it shall not be a defense to the employer that the employee may have been guilty of contributory negligence, or assumed the risk of the hazard complained of, or that the injury was caused by the negligence of a fellow servant. No contract, rule or regulation shall be allowed to restore to the employer any of the foregoing defenses.

SEC. 11. Section thirty-three of said workmen's compensation, insurance and safety act of 1917, approved May 23, 1917, is hereby amended to read as follows:

Sec. 33. The following terms, as used in sections thirty-three to fifty-four, inclusive, of this act, shall, unless a different meaning is plainly required by the context, be construed as follows:

(1) The phrase "place of employment" shall mean and include every place, whether indoors or out or underground, or elsewhere, and the premises appurtenant thereto, where, either temporarily or permanently, any industry, trade, work or business is carried on, or where any process or operation directly or indirectly related to any industry, trade, work or business, is carried on, including all construction work, and where any person is directly or indirectly employed by another, but shall not include any place where persons are employed solely in household domestic service, or any place of employment, concerning the safety of which jurisdiction may have been vested by law heretofore or hereafter in any other commission or public authority.

(2) The term "employment" shall mean and include any trade, work, business, occupation or process of manufacture, or any method of carrying on such trade, work, business, occupation or process of manufacture, including construction work, in which any person may be engaged, except where persons are employed solely in household domestic service.

(3) The term "employer" shall mean and include every person, firm, voluntary association, corporation, officer, agent, manager, representative or other person having control or custody of any employment, place of employment or of any employee.

(4) The term "employee" shall mean and include every person who may be required or directed by any employer, to engage in any employment, or to go to work or be at any time in any place of employment.

(5) The term "order" shall mean and include any decision, rule, regulation, direction, requirement or standard of the commission or any other determination arrived at or decision made by such commission under the safety provisions of this act.

(6) The term "general order" shall mean and include such order, made under the safety provisions of this act, as applies generally throughout the state to all persons, employments or places of employment, or all persons, employments or places of employment of a class under the jurisdiction of the commission. All other orders of the commission shall be considered special orders.

(7) The term "local order" shall mean and include any ordinance, order, rule or determination of any board of supervisors, city council, board of trustees or other governing body of any county, city and county, city, or any school district or other public corporation, or an order or direction of any other public official or board or department upon any matter over which the industrial accident commission has jurisdiction.

(8) The term "safe" and "safety" as applied to an employment or a place of employment shall mean such freedom from danger to the life or safety of employees as the nature of the employment will reasonably permit.

(9) The terms "safety device" and "safeguard" shall be given a broad interpretation so as to include any practicable method of mitigating or preventing a specific danger.

SEC. 12. Section thirty-seven of said workmen's compensation, insurance and safety act of 1917, approved May 23, 1917, is hereby amended to read as follows:

Sec. 37. No employee or other person shall remove, displace, damage, destroy or carry off any safety device, safeguard, notice or warning, furnished and provided for use in any employment or place of employment, or interfere in any way with the use thereof by any other person, or interfere with the use of any method or process adopted for the protection of any employee, including himself, in such employment, or place of employment, or fail or neglect to do every other thing reasonably necessary to protect the life and safety of such employees.

SEC. 13. That a new section be added to be numbered forty-six and one-half to read as follows:

Sec. 46½. If the condition of any employment or place of employment or the operation of any machine, device or apparatus shall constitute a serious menace of the lives or safety of persons about it, the commission, or a commissioner, may apply to the superior court of the county in which such place of employment, machine, device or apparatus is situated, for an injunction restraining the use or operation thereof until such condition shall be corrected. The said application accompanied by affidavit showing that such place of employment, machine, device or apparatus is being operated in violation of a general or special safety order of the commission, and that such use or operation constitutes a menace to the life or safety of any person or persons employed thereabout, accompanied by a copy of the order or orders applicable thereto shall constitute a sufficient prima facie showing to warrant, in the discretion of the court, the immediate granting of a temporary restraining order. No bond shall be required from the commission as a prerequisite to the granting of any restraining order. When in the opinion of the industrial accident commission a machine or any part thereof is in a dangerous condition or is not properly guarded or is dangerously placed, the use thereof shall be prohibited by the commission, and a notice to that effect shall be attached thereto. Such notice shall not be removed except by an authorized representative of the commission, nor until the machinery is made safe and the required safeguards or safety appliances or devices are provided, and in the meantime such unsafe or dangerous machinery shall not be used.

SEC. 14. Section fifty-three of said workmen's compensation, insurance and safety act of 1917, approved May 23, 1917, is hereby amended to read as follows:

Sec. 53. (a) Every employer of labor, without any exceptions, and every insurance carrier, and every physician or surgeon who attends any injured employee, is hereby required to file with the commission, under such rules and regulations as the commission may from time to time make, a full and complete report of every injury to an employee arising out of or in the course of his employment and resulting in loss of life or injury to such persons; provided, that such report shall not be required unless disability resulting from such injury lasts through the day of the injury or requires medical service other than ordinary first aid treatment. Where the injury results in death a report shall be made by the employer to the commission by telephone or telegraph forthwith. Such reports shall be furnished to the commission in such form and such detail as the commission shall from time to time prescribe, and shall make specific answers to all questions required by the commission under its rules and regulations. It shall be unlawful for any person, firm, corporation, agent or officer of a firm or corporation, to fail or refuse to comply with any of the provisions of this section, and any such person, firm, corporation, agent or officer of a firm or corporation, who fails or refuses to comply with the provisions of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor for each and every offense and upon conviction thereof shall be punishable by a fine of not less than ten dollars nor more than one hundred dollars. Any such employer or insurance carrier who shall furnish such report shall be exempt from furnishing any similar report or reports authorized or required under the laws of this state.

(b) Every employer or insurance carrier receiving from the commission any blanks with directions to fill out the same shall cause the same to be properly filled out so as to answer fully and correctly each question propounded therein; in case he is unable to answer any such questions a good and sufficient reason shall be given for such failure.

(c) No information furnished to the commission by an employer or an insurance carrier shall be open to public inspection or made public except on order of the commission, or by a commissioner or referee in the course of a proceeding. Any officer or employee of the commission who, in violation of the provisions of this subsection, divulges any such information shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

Sec. 15. Section fifty-four of said workmen's compensation, insurance and safety act of 1917, approved May 23, 1917, is hereby amended to read as follows:

Sec. 54. (a) The commission shall investigate the cause of all industrial injuries occurring within the state in any employment or place of employment, or directly or indirectly arising from or connected with the maintenance or operation of such employment or place of employment, resulting in disability or death and requiring, in the judgment of the commission, such investigation; and the commission shall have the power to make such orders or recommendations with respect to such injuries as may be just and reasonable; provided, that neither the order nor the recommendation of the commission shall be admitted as evidence in any action for damages or any proceeding to recover compensation, based on or arising out of such injury or death.

(b) For the purpose of making any investigation which the commission is authorized to make under the provisions of this section, or for the purpose of collecting statistics or examining the provision made for the safety of employees, any member of the commission, or other person designated by the commission for that purpose may enter any place of employment; and in the performance of such duties shall have the power to subpoena witnesses, administer oaths and take testimony.

(c) Any employer, insurance carrier, responsible agent or employee of such employer or insurance carrier, or any other person who shall violate or omit to comply with any of the provisions of this section, or who shall in any way obstruct or hamper the commission, any commissioner or other person conducting any investigation authorized to be undertaken or made by the commission, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

Sec. 16. A new section is hereby added to said workmen's compensation, insurance and safety act of 1917, approved May 23, 1917, to be numbered section seventy and one-half and to read as follows:

Sec. 70½. In any action to recover damages for a personal injury or death sustained within this state by an employee not subject to the compensation provisions of the workmen's compensation, insurance and safety act of 1917, in which recovery is sought upon the ground of the negligence of the employer, or of any officer, agent or servant of the employer, the fact that such employee may have been guilty of contributory negligence shall not bar a recovery therein, but the damages may be diminished in proportion to the amount of negligence attributable to such employee, and it shall be conclusively presumed that such employee was not guilty of contributory negligence in any case where the violation of any statute or ordinance enacted or safety order adopted for the safety of employees contributed to such employee's injury; and it shall not be a defense:

(1) That the employee either expressly or impliedly assumed the risk of the hazard complained of.

(2) That the injury or death was caused in whole or in part by the negligence of a fellow servant.
